JAPAN AGREES TO LEAGUE IDEA FOR QUIZ BODY

Asks That Conditions in China Proper Also Be Investigated.

PREPARES TO MAKE DRIVE ON CHINCHOW

Tokyo States She Will Not Recall Troops Until New Treaty Is Negotiated.

London, Friday, Nov. 20 (A.P.).—A Reuters dispatch from Mukden said Japanese airplanes bombed and annihilated 3,000 Chinese troops of Gen. Mah Chan-Shan at Hailun, Manchuria this morning.

(Associated Press.)

Japan approved today a League of Nations proposal to send an investigating committee into embattled Manchuria, providing conditions in China proper also were investigated. It so instructed its delegation at Paris, where the League Council is meeting.

Gen. Mah Chan-Shan tried desperately yesterday to reorganize his shattered Chinese army at Koshan, 80 miles northeast of Tsitsihar, from which he was driven out by the victorious Japanese.

A Tokyo dispatch to the London Daily Mail reported indications of a Japanese plan to attack Chinchow, last strategic point held by Chinese in Manchuria.

Chinese authorities said Gen. Mah planned to withdraw either to Hailun or Suihwa and set up a new Heilungkiang provincial government.

Chinese civilians were fleeing out of the area of the Chinese Eastern Railway. The refugees suffered heavily in the subzero weather.

Tokyo dispatched a friendly warning to Moscow that serious complications will result if Soviet troops are sent into north Manchuria.

China indicated her intention of staying in the fight.

Offered All Troops.

Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the Nanking government, announced he was going immediately to Manchuria. The Chinese ministry of war announced that Chang Hsueh-Liang had offered all his troops to Gen. Mah Chan-Shan, Chinese commander in the field. Included in Chang's forces, he said, were 10,000 artillerymen from the Russian border.

Tokyo (Friday), Nov. 20 (A.P.).—Japan has approved a League of Nations proposal to send a commission to investigate conditions in Manchuria, providing conditions in China proper also are investigated, it was announced today.

The Japanese government instructed its delegation at Paris that the proposal had been approved on that condition.

The commission, it was pointed out, should confine itself to inquiries with a view to making a report and Tokyo emphasized that the investigators should have nothing to do with the question of Japanese evacuation of Manchuria.

Japanese Bomb Chinese.

Japanese airplanes bombed a detachment of Chinese troops at Hailun, about 100 miles north of Harbin, today, said a Mukden dispatch to the Rengo News Agency, "annihilating the enemy forces."

American, British, French and Polish military attaches will start for Manchuria tomorrow to inspect actual condition on invitation of the Japanese army, it was announced here.

The Russian attache also was invited, it was said, and planned to accompany the observers, but the Soviet Embassy said he would not make the trip.

(Copyright, 1931, by the Associated Press.)

Paris, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Japan has informed the League of Nations that she will not evacuate Manchuria until a new treaty has been negotiated between her and China, it was learned tonight.

Moreover, the Tokyo government will stick to its demand that before the Japanese troops are withdrawn

Train Expressman Found Slain in Car

Messenger, 53, Shot Twcie; Suicide Theory Held; Valuables Intact.

Wooster, Ohio, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The body of J. B. Smith, 53, of Alliance, Ohio, express messenger on Pennsylvania train No. 714, was discovered tonight within his sealed express car when the train arrived here from Mansfield. Smith had been shot twice, apparently by himself. Coroner J. B. Patterson withheld a verdict, but expressed the opinion it was a case of suicide.

The passenger train left Mansfield with the express car sealed shut, and upon its arrival here at 7:02 p. m., the seal was still unbroken. When no one came to the door, members of the train crew became alarmed and forced their way inside. Smith lay dead, his revolver beside him.

Railroad officials said the contents of the car had not been disturbed and a hasty investigation disclosed nothing missing. Smith had $35 in his possession.

Borah Sees Japanese Ruling in Manchuria

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The crisis in Manchuria was the subject of a conference on Capitol Hill yesterday, a very unusual conference, involving Senator William E. Borah, Republican, of Idaho, chairman of Senate foreign relations committee, and Yukio Ozaki, one of Japan's elder statesmen, a man who has held many important posts in his country's government and who is now a member of the Japanese Diet.

Senator Borah said afterward that he had held a "frank" talk with his Japanese visitor.

This being so, Borah must have told him what he really thinks about the Sino-Japanese quarrel over the vast Chinese province of Manchuria.

The Idaho statesman, whose foreign relations committee is charged with the task of translating into legislation the Administration's agreements with Japan has laid out a carefully prepared program to take over Manchuria in order to provide space for her overflowing population, just as she took over Korea.

There were two other developments yesterday in connection with the Manchurian crisis.

President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson discussed the matter for a half hour, pondering the problem that faces Charles G. Dawes, Ambassador to Great Britain, who is now an "observer" at the League of Nations Council meeting in Paris that is considering various means of settling the dispute in the Orient.

Earlier in the day, Ambassador Debuchi of Japan called on Secretary of State Stimson and told him that further Japanese moves in Manchuria

JOHNSON SUGGESTS HOOVER WITHDRAW

California Senator Assails Manchuria Invasion and League of Nations.

Chicago, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson said today that President Hoover would have "the undying gratitude of the rank and file of the Republican party" if he followed the lead of Calvin Coolidge and decided not to become a candidate next year.

The California senator, pausing en route to Washington, hesitated to discuss politics in a between-trains interview. Such informal chats under cover of a train shed too often resulted in misquotation, he said.

But he finally was induced to make a brief statement, and, in the interest of accuracy, not only wrote it out in longhand but signed it. Here it is:

"The decision of Mr. Coolidge not to become a candidate next year entitles him to the highest praise of the American people.

"If Mr. Hoover were to make a like decision he would have the undying gratitude of the rank and file of the Republican party."

That, said the fiery Republican Progressive, was the sum total of what he wanted to say at this time about national politics. When asked about his own aspirations for the presidential nomination, he told the reporters they were being "coy."

"Quit kidding me about the presidential nomination," Senator Johnson

Spain's Assembly Outlaws Alfonso

National Body Passes Vote by Acclaim as Count Remains Silent.

Madrid (Friday), Nov. 20 (A.P.).—Former King Alfonso of Spain was outlawed by the Spanish National Assembly early today.

The vote was by acclamation and it was understood the Count of Romanones, lone Monarchist deputy in the assembly, who had defended his king against a charge of treason, did not vote.

The assembly outlawed the former king, who is an exile in France, in accordance with accusations brought against him by its responsibilities commission, after a five-hour debate in which the Count of Romanones vigorously defended the former monarch.

Former President Alcala Zamora, who virtually has been conceded the future presidency of the republic, unexpectedly declared that Alfonso had brought about the former dictatorship of the late Gen. Primo de Rivera.

HURLEY PREDICTS INCREASE IN TAXES

Secretary of War Says That Hoover Will Risk Political Future on Move.

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—An assertion that President Hoover will not be swerved from proposing an increase in taxes by fear for his political future was made tonight by Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of War.

"I have been told that if the President proposes an increase in taxes he will not be reelected," said the Secretary in addressing the New York State Chamber of Commerce.

"My answer to that is that the President is more concerned with the welfare of this Nation and its 123,000,000 inhabitants than he is with his own political future," he added.

Predicts Treasury Raids.

Secretary Hurley said "nearly all" of the present Treasury deficit "was created by measures vetoed by the President and passed over his veto by Congress." He predicted more "attempted raids on the Treasury" involving billions of dollars at the approaching Congress and served notice that Mr. Hoover will oppose them "with clear-minded determination."

"The only way to meet the present deficit," he said, "is to reduce appropriations and expenditures of the Government and to evolve a more equitable and reliable basis of taxation."

The fact that the present tax system is "largely based on profits," Hurley maintained, results in a "serious weakness in the stability of the finances of the Government in periods of stress and depression."

He predicted the President would have the support of both Democratic and Republican leaders in his fiscal policies.

"This is not a partisan question," he added.

Robbery Suspect Admits He Is Quarry in Kidnap

Winfield, Mo., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—One of three men arrested near here today as the robbers who yesterday held up the Winfield Banking Co. and fled with $2,000, admitted today he was Charles Heuer, notorious former convict and alleged leader of the kidnapers of Alexander Berg, wealthy fur dealer in St. Louis November 6, authorities said.

One of his companions was identified as Edward Barcume, Heuer's alleged lieutenant in the kidnaping and also a former convict, and the third man said he was Jack Scanlon, not connected with the Berg abduction.

EVASION OF U.S. TAX CONFESSED BY LA FONTAINE

PROSECUTOR DENIES DEAL WITH ACCUSED

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19.—James A. (Jimmy) LaFontaine, of Washington, today pleaded guilty before Judge W. Calvin Chesnut in the United States District Court to a charge of evading income tax payments amounting to $11,622.62 for the year 1926.

Following his plea, Simon E. Sobeloff, United States district attorney, told Judge Chesnut that the defendant already had settled the Government's civil claims against him by paying a total of $206,651.09.

This sum, the court was told, was made up of income taxes from 1924 to the present time, and included interest and penalties provided by law. Before this amount was paid, however it was said that LaFontaine had made offers to settle the claims, one of $100,000 and another of $180,000 being refused.

One Indictment Eliminated.

LaFontaine was indicted by the United States grand jury today. The indictment alleged evasion of taxes amounting to $1,344.97 in 1925, as well as the sum to which he pleaded guilty.

Upon the plea being entered, Mr. Sobeloff moved to nolle prosse the first count. The motion was granted and Mr. Sobeloff made a long statement to the court detailing the various actions of the Government in connection with the case.

At the conclusion of the prosecutor's statement, Judge Chesnut said he would defer hearing the defendant's attorneys until 10 a. m. tomorrow, and released LaFontaine in $10,000 bail.

In his remarks to the court, Mr. Sobeloff declared that LaFontaine a short white-haired man, was 63, and admitted he had been a gambler all his life.

Gambling Part of Defense.

"In fact, it is part of the defense that LaFontaine was a gambler and believed that he was not under obligation to report his income from illegal sources," Mr. Sobeloff said.

Judge Chesnut then asked what was the difference between that defense and the one raised in the "recent Chicago case?"

"LaFontaine is not that kind of citizen," Mr. Sobeloff replied, and Judge Chesnut said he did not ean that; he wanted to know what was the difference legally in the defense.

He was informed that whereas the Chicago defendant had paid no tax at all, LaFontaine in each year mentioned in the indictment had paid some tax. In 1926 he paid $27.06, and in 1927 he paid $73.50, it was explained.

Bargaining Is Denied.

Judge Chesnut then wanted to know whether or not there had been any bargain made between the Government and the defendant as to penalty if he pleaded guilty.

He was assured that no bargain had been made either by the United States attorney or the Department of Justice and that no recommendation as to sentence would be made by the Government.

Mr. Sobeloff read an agreement reached at the time LaFontaine settled the civil claim in which it was stipulated that he would plead guilty

BANK EXPERTS TO PROBE REICH ABILITY TO PAY

Accord on Reparations Inquiry Is Reached by Germany and France.

U. S. VIEWS ACTION AS RECOVERY STEP

Laval Intimates Committee Will Be Called Soon; Perhaps in Ten Days.

Paris, Nov. 19 (A.P.). — Germany's capacity to pay reparations will be examined by an advisory committee of the World Bank, created under the Young plan, France and Germany today decided.

Germany already has mailed to Basel her application for appointment of the committee to inquire into her financial condition and consider revision of the reparations schedule, said a Berlin dispatch.

Premier Laval intimated the committee would be called together soon, perhaps beginning its sessions at Basel within ten days.

The agreement between Germany and France, the principal reparations creditor, was reached at a three-hour conference between the premier and Dr. Leopold von Hoesch, German ambassador to Paris. It brought to a close preliminary conversations in which the two countries differed as to scope the inquiry should cover.

11 On Probe Body.

It finally was agreed to invoke the Young plan provisions for creation of the advisory committee. The Bank for International Settlements would appoint seven members of the committee and they would name four more to sit with them.

The Young plan provides that a special committee may investigate Germany's financial and economic situation if Germany asks the World Bank for postponement of reparations payments, but the committee would not have authority to consider unconditional payments.

Germany sought to have the committee's powers extended to include consideration of unconditional payments and private short term credits.

Berlin, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Germany applied today to the World Bank at Basel for a committee investigation of her financial condition, with a view to possible revision of her reparations payments.

Application Mailed.

Her application for appointment of a committee by the Bank of International Settlements under the Young plan was mailed to Basel today, soon after word of an agreement between Ambassador von Hoesch and Pierre Laval at Paris on the procedure reached the foreign office here.

Various newspapers assumed Germany had requested that the advisory committee examine the Reich's capacity to pay as a whole, linking reparations and private debts together because thye were so intertwined as to be virtually inseparable.

This would mean that Germany advocated abandonment of the idea of having two parallel commissions examine reparations and private debts separately and concurrently.

The text of the German memorandum to the World Bank, it was understood, reviews the development of the German and world financial crisis.

It was reported as recalling the results of the Wiggin commission's inquiry, which emphasized the necessity of introducing new methods based on confidence in view of the present situation having become untenable.

Stress, however, was laid on the fact that functions of the World Bank's committee would be only ad-

HOW'S BUSINESS FOR DECEMBER

As Forecast by the Scores of Editors of United Business Publishers, Inc., and Associated Publications.

The rift in the clouds, which appeared about a month ago, has been enlarging, and the present prospects are for more favorable business weather ahead. The widespread emphasis being put upon plus signs, in contrast to the magnification of less favorable indications in the recent past indicate decided improvement in general sentiment. If current advances in commodity and security markets are maintained we may be certain that "Our frozen assets and frozen feet will soon thaw out."

Recent political events have burdened the incoming Congress with consideration all its own. In addition, business has been intimating rather clearly that it will not look with favor on any grandiose schemes of economic planning. In the coming month political Washington will be watched with interest and possibly a little apprehension.

The merchandising lines are facing the holiday shopping season, and the prospects are that the bulk of the sales will be made up of serviceable goods and gift merchandise in the lower price ranges.

It is rather late in the year for building to show any appreciable advance, and railroad purchases must apparently wait upon increases in revenue. Consequently, the steel industry reposes its December hopes largely in the optimism of the automotive manufacturers, who look for a step-up in December, and materially better prospects after the first of the year.

Commodity price rises, following wheat and including silver, are of the utmost importance in our export trade. They will solve many international financial, commercial and political problems, and will react most beneficially to this country, particularly in the more advanced section of Latin America which are closely tied to us commercially.

December completes a year which we are inclined to hasten out of with little reluctance. There is hope and promise of better things in 1932, but the consensus of opinion is that our advances, when made, will be in established lines with no great, new industry in immediate prospect to lead its stimulating aid. December becomes a month in which to clear our decks, take true inventories, formulate plans and make a decisive step into the new year.

Four Policemen Accused Of Brutality to Take Stand

47 Witnesses Testify in Behalf of Quartet on Trial for Alleged Beating of Harker, Robbery Suspect.

Defense testimony in the brutality trial of four First Precinct policemen will be completed today when the defendants take the stand in their own defense.

Forty-seven witnesses yesterday testified in behalf of the indicted officers, James Mostyn, W. R. Laflin, W. T. Burroughs and W. C. Grooms.

Nineteen of these witnesses were policemen from the First Precinct who were on duty during the time that the complainant, James Henry Harker, was held there, when he claims to have been assaulted and forced to confess the robbery of a lunchroom in order to escape further beating with a rubber hose.

Several of the policemen denied there had been any evident disturbance at the station at that time and that they had not heard groans and cries from the sergeant's room, where Harker says he was forced to confess.

A number of them admitted that they had seen a piece of rubber hose around the precinct. Two officers testified that Harker's face was not cut or marked when he was brought to

GRANDI QUITS CAPITAL WITH BASIS OF ACCORD ON WORLD PROBLEMS

Text of Joint Statement By President and Grandi

The text of the joint statement issued last night by President Hoover, Foreign Minister Grandi and Secretary Stimson in regard to their conversations here follows:

"Full advantage has been taken of the opportunity afforded by this visit for a frank and cordial exchange of views respecting the many problems of world importance in which the Governments of Italy and the United States are equally interested.

"Realizing that restoration of economic stability and confidence within our respective national boundaries can only find ultimate achievement through the further establishment of international financial stability and through a confidence that can extend itself to include all nations, we have attempted to continue the efforts already initiated toward this end by a candid discussion of the many significant and related international problems, the solution of which have become a recognized necessity.

"The discussions have embraced subjects of such importance as the present financial crisis, intergovernmental debts, the problems surrounding the limitation and the reduction of armaments, the stabilization of international exchanges, and other vital economic questions.

"We believe that the existing understandings between the principal naval powers can and should be completed and that the general acceptance of the proposal, initiated by Signor Grandi for a one year's armaments truce is indicative of the great opportunity for the achievement of concrete and constructive results presented by the forthcoming conference for limitation of armaments.

"It has not been the purpose of this meeting to reach any particular arrangements, but the informal discussions and exchanges of views have served to clarify many points of mutual interest and have established a sympathetic understanding of our problems. We feel confident that the relationships fostered during this visit will prove valuable in laying the foundations for beneficial action by our respective governments."

DEMOCRATS AT ODDS OVER FLOOR LEADER

Members From North and South to Fight for Post; McDuffie Boomed.

A battle between Northern and Southern Democrats for the important position of floor leader in the House was assured yesterday when a formal campaign was started to win the post for Representative John McDuffie, of Alabama.

Meantime, what amounted to sad news for the Democrats was received from Texas.

In the Lone Star State, five Democrats—only three of whom are taken seriously, however—are battling for the House seat made vacant by the death of Representative Harry Wurzbach (Republican), of the fourteenth, or San Antonio district. This veritable flock of Democrats is arrayed against one Republican, and Democrats here are somewhat worried lest the internecine fight among the Democrats result in a Republican victory.

Consequently, telegrams were sent down to Texas the other day in the name of Representative Joseph Byrns, of Tennessee, beseeching the three leading Democrats to forget self, remember party, and agree on one Democrat to oppose the Republican.

The answers came back yesterday. They were from the campaign managers of the three leading Democratic candidates. Each manager said that the scheme suggested—that is, that all but one candidate withdraw—was an excellent one. However, each suggested that the other two candidates do the withdrawing. Each manager was convinced that his particular candidate was the best one and the most likely to win.

The formal announcement that a campaign had been launched to make Representative McDuffie, of Alabama, the floor leader for the Democrats in the event they organize the House had the effect of a douse of cold water on the talk of a compromise between the Northern and Southern Democrats over organization.

Under the seniority rule, the Southern Democrats would get three-fourths of the committee chairmanships and virtually all of the important chairmanships.

In view of this and in view of the fact that a Southerner, Mr. Garner would be the Speaker, it was believed

COMMISSION URGES LONG SHOALS LEASE

Prospect of Definite Action by Congress Enhanced by New Report.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Prospects for conclusive action in Congress this winter on the long-debated Muscle Shoals power and fertilizer project were heightened yesterday by a unanimous report from the Muscle Shoals Commission recommending development of both electrical and chemical plants under long-term leasing arrangements.

"It is the definite conclusion of the commission," the report said, "that the foregoing public benefits can best be obtained by private operation under lease contracts through competitive negotiations."

The commission was established last summer, along the lines suggested by President Hoover in his message vetoing the Government-operation plan passed by both houses in the last days of the dying Congress in March. The membership included three representatives of the Navy Department Orders 93 Planes

(Associated Press.)

The Navy yesterday ordered nearly a hundred more airplanes to fill gaps which recur in its aerial ranks.

The 93 new planes will be observation machines, purchased at a cost of $1,744,311, as a part of the Navy's five-year replacement needs. The contract went to the Chance Vought Airplane Corporation of East Hartford, Conn.

Completion of the Navy's airplane quota of its five-year aircraft program a year ahead of schedule and with savings estimated at $23,000,000 was announced late in June for the end of the last fiscal year. The Navy had on hand then 1,000 modern airplanes or on order to be completed in the current year.

Morgan's Offices Guarded On Report of Bomb Threat

Police Cordon Thrown About Wall Street; Autos and Packages Searched After Explosive Theft and Talk of "War on Capitalists."

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Reports that a bomb threat had been received by J. P. Morgan led tonight to the stationing of a police guard of six patrolmen, six detectives, a riot squad and a motorcycle squad near the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., at Broad and Wall streets, hub of the downtown financial district.

All motor cars passing the building were stopped and the occupants were asked to identify themselves. Pedestrians were questioned regarding their business in the neighborhood.

The bluecoats were placed at the entrances to the Wall street Interborough subway station. Persons entering or leaving the subway with parcels were stopped and asked to reveal what they were carrying.

The order was understood to have come from the office of Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney on request of Acting Capt. William J. Fogarty, in charge of police in the financial area.

MUSSOLINI'S ENVOY PRAISES HOOVER

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

Mussolini's 36-year-old minister of foreign affairs, Dino Grandi, left Washington early this morning on his return to Rome, after having laid the basis of a general understanding between the United States and Italy on the broad phases of disarmament and economic reconstruction, in his conversations with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson.

The beautiful Signora Grandi, who has kept in the background of the activities of her husband, left on the same train. They will remain in New York and Philadelphia before sailing next Friday for Italy.

In his final conversation with the American press last night, Signor Grandi declared in a genuine burst of Latin enthusiasm:

"I go back to Italy, but I leave here with you a good part of my heart."

Then he passed amongst the correspondents, shaking hands with each one of them individually.

Scores Brilliant Triumph.

As an exponent of the new school of "personal diplomacy," the Italian statesman scored a brilliant triumph. His conversations with the Secretary of State, and with the President especially, on his last day in Washington, cleared the way for a more optimistic approach to the problems that will be revealed to the world at Geneva in the forthcoming disarmament conference in 1932.

Signor Grandi spent one whole hour with Secretary Stimson late yesterday afternoon, and immediately after that he went to the White House with Signora Grandi to take his leave of the President and Mrs. Hoover.

Secretary Stimson then brought Signor Grandi to the room where the correspondents had assembled and read the text of the joint communique that had been prepared. The Secretary added facetiously:

"There will be no necessity for background explanations with this communique, as I am sure you will all understand its terms."

He was referring to the text of the note issued after the visit of Premier Laval to the White House, which had to be accompanied by several official explanations before it was comprehensible.

Marked by Sympathy.

The last meeting of the two statesmen seemed to be marked by genuine interest and sympathy, that Signor Grandi's fluent knowledge of English contributed to in no small measure. The Secretary, after reading the text of the joint report, then decided to add something more personal himself. He declared in a graceful reference to Signor Grandi:

"From a personal standpoint this visit has been delightful in its renewal of our friendship begun during the London conference in 1930.

"From an official standpoint it has been both enlightening and helpful. I feel that my visit to Europe this summer and the various meetings of statesmen there, together with the visits of Signor Grandi and M. Laval to this country, have brought about a valuable mutual knowledge and understanding between responsible ministers, which I have long advocated as a necessity for the foundation of constructive effort toward the solution of international problems. The presence of Signor Grandi in this country and the friendly tenor of these conversations should bring home to the American people the mutual desire of both nations to be helpful and constructive.

Extends His Thanks.

"As Signor and Signora Grandi leave our Capital, I extend to them our thanks for the real encouragement which we have had from their presence here, and Mrs. Stimson joins me in wishing them good fortune for the future."

The Italian statesman was dressed in the same formal costume he has worn during his conversations here: black morning coat, gray trousers and

LINCOLN FORECAST ITALY'S UNIFICATION

His Letter, Written in 1853, Predicting Duce's Plans, Revealed in Rome.

Rome, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—A letter purportedly written by Abraham Lincoln and envisaging the day when Rome would become the capital of a United Italy came to light today in connection with press comment on the Italo-American conversations in Washington.

It was dated from Springfield, Ill., in 1853, and addressed to the late Macedonia Melloni, scientist, patriot, and once director of the Vesuvius Conservatory. It has just been published by the Historical Society of Italian Renaissance with the permission of the government.

Referring to ancient appellations of Rome as the capital of the world in making his prediction, the Great Emancipator wrote: "The privileged geographical position itself of the Eternal City justifies in the eyes of every one this augural prophecy."

"That most glorious Rome," he exclaimed, "which gave civilization to all the terrestrial globe, which has discovered us, created, redeemed, educated, and nourished us morally with her indestructible laws."

Urged United Italy.

Lincoln recalled regretfully the number of Italians who had brought fame to other countries: " * * * Napoleon, your great fellow citizen, who enriched France instead of Italy with glory and money as Prince Eugene of Savoy did for Austria, as Christopher Columbus did for Spain, as Cabot did for England."

Writing before Italy became united and before he was elected to the Presidency, Lincoln said the entire Italian peninsula ought to be a united, independent nation. His sentiments are said to embody many of the aspirations of Premier Mussolini for a unified, fascist Italy.

To Italy should be joined the three major islands of the Mediterranean—Sardinia, Corsica and Sicily—he wrote, as well as the provinces of Lombardy and Venice, the Tridentine and Julian Venice then under Austrian domination. He wrote that Italy should include the whole of the ancient Lake of Venice from Fiume to Cattaro and the whole of Dalmatia and Albania.

Northcliffe Offer Refused.

"The only Italian unity that one can admit is this," he continued. "Whoever doesn't grant it strikes at the principles of the sanest of honest policies in order to prepare in the future for the cruelest and deadliest of wars, the most turbulent and insensate of unnameable speculations."

Such are Italy's dreams today as Mussolini compares his kingdom of the twentieth century with the Roman empire in the times of Christ. She believes that Corsica should be hers because the people are predominantly Italian and for four centuries the island belonged to Genoa. Her views on Dalmatia are one of the causes of the difficulties between her and Jugoslavia.

The letter now is owned by Nino D'Aithan, a descendant of Camillo Cavour, statesman of Italy's unification. The society ordered that photostatic copies be distributed to libraries and historians all over the world. In a preface to the missive the society said:

"D'Althan, a relative of Melloni, refused a conspicuous sum of money for sale of the precious letter to Lord Northcliffe, who wished to withdraw from circulation a document which he believed injurious to the cause of Jugoslavia."

Grandi Addresses Italian-Americans

Foreign Minister Attends Reception Given by Capital Group.

Italian Foreign Minister Dino Grandi was the guest of honor with the Italian Ambassador and Attaches of the Embassy at a reception yesterday afternoon in the Chinese room of the Mayflower Hotel by the Lido Civic Club, an organization of Italian-Americans formed for the purpose of fostering American ideas and ideals among Americans of Italian descent.

In an address delivered in Italian, Signor Grandi urged Italians in this country to do everything in their power to uphold the principles of their adopted country. He conveyed the greetings of Mussolini to his countrymen in the United States.

Assistant District Attorney John J. Sirica, president of the club, and Dr. R. N. Manganaro, vice president and chairman of the reception committee, were in charge of the affair, which was attended by about 100 persons.

GOOD-WILL CONFEREES—A CHARACTER STUDY

GRANDI ADDRESSES AMERICA ON RADIO

Italian Foreign Minister Says Talk With Hoover Is to Bring Happy Results.

(Associated Press.)

Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy declared in his first American radio address yesterday that the conversations he has had with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson left him confident that Italian-American cooperation "will develop further happy results."

Speaking from his hotel room, he said:

"I have come to the United States, as you all know, as a messenger of friendship and good will from the Italian to the American people.

"At a moment in which every nation is striving to overcome the difficulties arising from one of the most widespread and severe crises with which the world has ever been confronted, Italy feels, more than ever, that American cooperation is essential to the restoration of confidence and prosperity throughout the world.

"This cooperation has already been spontaneously and generously offered by you. Italy also pledges herself to devote her strength to the common work for the common good.

"During these last few days I have had the privilege of being received by your President and to discuss with him, as well as with the Secretary of State and the chief exponents of your political life, the most important problems of the present international situation.

"Mr. Hoover is a man who inspires confidence and commands it. He looks into things in a very straightforward way, with a clear and practical eye and a very open mind. It is indeed a real pleasure to discuss international matters with one who sees things in such a broad spirit.

"The conversations I have had these days have left me confident that our cooperation will develop further towards happy results.

"All the problems we are faced with—political, financial and economic—are, after all, chiefly a question of mutual confidence. If all countries are ready to tackle them in a spirit of reciprocal comprehension, of fairness and common sense, their solution may be nearer than it may appear today.

"I fully trust that my visit to the United States will have contributed its share in directing them along this road.

"I am leaving Washington tonight with a feeling of deep gratitude for the most cordial reception I was given here in every quarter."

Grandi to Be Guarded On Visit to New York

New York, Nov. 20 (A.P.).—Elaborate precautions have been made to guard Dino Grandi, Italian minister of foreign affairs, when he is officially received by the City of New York tomorrow morning.

For the first time in the history of the city, the 12 captains, 24 lieutenants, 59 sergeants and 1,220 patrolmen who will be on duty between the Battery and Chambers street and Broadway will face the crowd while the automobiles containing Grandi, his wife, Signora Grandi, the other members of the diplomat's official party and the members of the mayor's reception committee for distinguished guests pass.

"Police officers assigned to duty in connection with this reception will be instructed to face the crowd at all times during the passage of the procession. This is imperative and commanding officers will be held personally responsible that it is complied with by members of the force under their supervision.

buttoned shoes. His face was grave when he began, but it lighted up as he got into the spirit of his final message. He said:

"This morning I had the opportunity to be in contact by transatlantic telephone with the chief of my government. The chief of my government, Signor Mussolini, asked me to express the deepest thanks to the President and to the Secretary of State for the welcome and for the cordiality with which I have been received in the Capital of your States."

Then he paused awhile as if meditating his words, and continued slowly:

"I have had the honor of being received once more by President Hoover, and I was very pleased to express again my gratitude and the appreciation and gratitude of my chief.

Came to Learn.

"I came to America to learn. I go back to Italy with something very precious in my spirit. I have learned very much. I have had the pleasure of renewing our old friendship." And he turned toward Secretary Stimson with a boyish smile of acknowledgement.

"My conversations with President Hoover have impressed me. He is a man who impresses everybody, and particularly a European. Broad-minded, he goes forward, straightaway to questions, and it was a very great pleasure for me to talk with him on international matters. 'New diplomacy' is not a mere word. I believe in new diplomacy. Personal contacts between responsible men in new diplomacy. Personal contacts between responsible men mean this: Responsible political men are directly responsible before public opinion. Personal discussions between ministers for foreign relations bring public opinion into the affairs. I have great appreciation for our collaboration in diplomacy, and I feel that interviews and mutual exchanges of views between political men are really useful.

"Gentlemen, as I have the opportunity to see you before my leaving from Washington, the Capital of your States, I ask you to accept my most cordial thanks for your very cordial and friendly cooperation."

Returns to Rest.

Immediately after he returned to the Mayflower Hotel to rest. The strain of the ceremonies of the last three days, the conversations, the reports and the sending of cables to Mussolini in Rome made his stay in Washington extremely busy.

EXPERTS TO PROBE GERMAN CONDITIONS

(Associated Press.)

The accord reached at Paris to lighten Germany's reparations burdens is considered by officials here as an important step toward world economic recovery.

As the accord is understood here, Germany will apply for appointment of a committee of experts of the Bank of International Settlements under the Young plan to study her capacity to pay with a view to adjustment of reparations on that basis.

This step was agreed upon as desirable in the conversations between President Hoover and Premier Laval, of France. Negotiations between the French and German governments began shortly after Laval's return to Paris, and while the United States has taken no part in them it has kept in close touch with all developments.

Will Be Expedited.

State Department officials believe Germany's recovery from its economic plight will be greatly expedited with a resultant beneficial effect upon world trade. The adjustment of reparations is regarded as effecting much the same result on a more permanent scale as that accomplished by President Hoover's one-year moratorium now in effect.

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Members of the American committee on German credits under the so-called stand-still agreement, it developed today, are now in cable communication with Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, in regard to action to be taken in preparation for a new credit arrangement to replace the existing one, which expires February 29.

A cable from Dr. Luther to the American committee, headed by Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the governing committee of the Chase National Bank, expressed the expectation that representatives of the American and German banks might begin negotiations very soon.

Gives German Views.

His message was accompanied by a lengthy cable giving German views of the status of bills drawn under existing credit arrangements, which expire after the agreement itself expires. American bankers are not yet in agreement as to the status of such bills, although the London group has accepted the view that there will be no discrimination between bills payable on and those due after February 29.

In connection with the daily conferences it was stated that it is customary for Mr. Wiggin, Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank; William C. Potter, president of the Guaranty Trust Co., and F. Abbott Goodhue, president of the International Acceptance Bank, to hold frequent conferences to consider cables received and replies to be transmitted and that no special significance is to be attached to them.

Brenau Club to Meet.

The Brenau Club of Washington will hold its regular monthly meeting at the A. A. U. W. Clubhouse, 1634 I street, northwest, on Monday evening. Dinner will be served at 6:30. An interesting program has been arranged. The officers for the ensunig year include Mrs. Robert P. Burruss, president; Mrs. J. J. Dunham, vice president; Miss Fleda Canning, secretary, and Mrs. Bert E. Frost, treasurer.

Canon of Cathedral To Be Hotel Speaker

Canon Arthur B. Rudd, of Washington Cathedral, will deliver a lecture on Washington Cathedral and its beautiful garden in the Willard Room of the New Willard Hotel tonight at 8:30 o'clock. Visitors in the hotel and others are invited to attend.

This is one of a series of lectures being delivered in Washington hotels by the clergy of Washington Cathedral in order to acquaint visitors to the city with the interesting objects of religious devotion, interest and beauty to be seen in the Cathedral Close.

Humans Tasteless, But Let Cornet Player See Lemon

By JOHN J. DALY

DISCOVERY of widespread "taste blindness" among human beings is made by the National Academy of Sciences in session at Yale University. It seems that the average man and woman can not distinguish between the taste of a dill pickle and a chocolate bonbon. Various sour, salty, sweet and bitter phases of taste are all a-jumble. It comes from chemical concoctions supplementing fundamental foodstuffs.

There is no accounting for taste. So the old saw has it. Yet, there is an accounting for taste, according to Dr. Albert F. Blakeslee, of Carnegie Institute. He points out that humans are born with innate differences in respect to all their senses, and that different people live in different worlds so far as their sensory reactions are concerned.

Thus, in the great sensorium of humanity, the differences in taste are so pronounced and so largely hereditary that parentage can be determined by some of them.

So, if you see a man eating a bowl of sauerkraut, with pig's knuckle, you may readily assume that he is of Teutonic parentage—especially if he calls for a seidel of Pilsener. The taste is unmistakable.

* * * *

A PLATE of corn beef and cabbage easily determines the origin of the man who makes it a meal—and what a meal!

These signs, however, are of distinction distinctive. In the general run of humanity, they are lost because modern man has broken away from his early training. With all the intermingling of the races, especially in America, where night clubs furnish the beverages and victuals of all nations, taste after a while becomes so dulled that men are able to drink antifreeze solutions, used in automobile radiators, and believe they are getting real Scotch right off the boat—the bottom of the boat.

Were it not for the sense of sight, very few people would realize what they are eating, whether sweet, acidy, bitter or salty of taste. One of the most human experiments is always provided by the boys who suck lemons while brass bands are playing concerts in the park of summer evenings. When the musicians look at the boys, with the acidy lemon screwing their faces all a-pucker, the band concert is over. That is because the musicians see and imagine the taste of lemon, which prevents triple-tongueing on cornets and takes all the umph-pah-umph-pah out of the bass horn. Were the slide trombonist and the piccolo player blindfolded and given the lemons, they would not be able to tell whether they were enjoying concentrated grape juice or the by-products of the wine brick.

* * * *

THERE are natural tastes and cultivated tastes. As most of the tastes of today are synthetic, or built up tastes, the craving for champagne could easily be satisfied with beer, were beer served in champagne glasses. The opposite effect could be secured by pouring champagne into mugs—a mug never really knowing the difference between any of the tastes.

So, humanity is rapidly losing one of the greatest blessings bestowed by nature—the ability to distinguish flavors and savors. It can be jotted down as another outgrowth of civilization, for savages still can tell the difference in taste between cocoanut and caviar.

The only redeeming feature of the whole experiment is that some of the hereditary traits still remain in the realm of taste and that parentage may be determined by what an offspring likes and dislikes in the domain of culinary art. For instance, a man eating tomato soup in a public restaurant, though he be unknown, may be recognized at once as the son of an old classmate, if the classmate had a penchant for tomato soup. Thus, science does work wonders with us all.

NEIGHBOR INVOLVED IN PLOT OF WIDOW

Physician Is Freed on Bail as Slayer Confesses Poisoning Family.

Pekin, Ill., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The poison plot that took the lives of Alice Mason's husband and child had involved tonight the one friend she refused to implicate, Clinto Armstrong, her neighbor at Delavan.

Confessing she administered the poisons that were fatal to John Mason, a year ago, and to their 12-year-old daughter, Mildred, last August, Mrs. Mason named one or another friends with each variation in her story. But when the prosecutors spoke of Armstrong, she only said: "keep his name out of this."

Armstrong, a married man, was arrested today and questioned at the sheriff's office. No charge was lodged against him.

State's Attorney Louis P. Dunkelberg plans to present the murder charges against the woman at tomorrow's session of the grand jury. He indicated the State would show that collection of the $1,000 insurance on the life of her husband and daughter was Mrs. Mason's motive for the double killing. Her son Harold, 18, is still suffering the effects of an illness that closely followed his sister's death.

The townsfolk of Emden came staunchly to the support of the Emden physician, Dr. B. M. Barringer, who was accused among others by Mrs. Mason of aiding her in the poisonings. After a night in jail, without charge, he was released under $10,000 bond this afternoon, asserting that the woman's statements were "wild" and unfounded.

Dr. Barringer related that he had attended Mason and accompanied him to a clinic at Peoria where Dr. W. W. Cutter prescribed small doses of the drug which, taken in quantity, had caused Mason's death. He had continued the treatments for a tubercular ailment, but these prescriptions, he said, could not have caused death.

200 Guests Honor 16 G.A.R. Veterans

Mrs. Hoover Sends Flowers to Former Soldiers; Grant Speaker.

Nearly 200 guests attended the banquet last night at the Burlington Hotel given to sixteen veterans of the G. A. R. by the Daughters and Sons of the Veterans of the Civil War and auxiliary organizations. Mrs. Hoover sent flowers for the veterans and their relatives.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, grandson of the leader of the Union forces during the war was the principal speaker. He was introduced by Assistant Postmaster General Everett Warner, who acted as toastmaster.

Among the guests were Delegate to Congress from Alaska and Mrs. James Wickersham. Entertainment was given by Mrs. Gertrude Lyons.

Child in Auto Mishap Suffers Broken Jaws

Nenora Bouknithe, colored, 7 years old, of 1412 P street northwest, is in an undetermined condition at Children's Hospital with fractures of both jaws, suffered in an automobile accident of the Rockville Pike.

She was riding in a light delivery truck driven by William Copeland, colored, 47 years old, also of the P street address, when their truck was in collision with another truck. They were on their way back to Washington from Rockville where they had gone to get some shrubbery for the home of Judge Nathan Cayton of the Municipal Court, who lives at 2948 Macomb street.

E. J. M'QUADE DIES IN 34-FLOOR FALL

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Nov. 19.—Edward J. McQuade, president of the Liberty National Bank, Washington, and president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, was instantly killed here today when he plunged from the thirty-fourth floor of the Baltimore Trust Co. Building.

His body struck and penetrated the leather top of an automobile owned by Frank A. Woodhead president of the Washington Gas Light Co. a friend of Mr. McQuade. John M. O'Brien of 2801 Fifth street northwest, Washington, a teller at the Liberty National Bank, positively identified the remains.

Identification Confirmed.

Police learned that he visited the Service Club on the top floor of the trust company building, and then walked out on a roof garden in the rear of the club.

Mr. McQuade, who was reelected a director of the Merganthaler Linotype Co., at the meeting Tuesday, was expected back in Washington Wednesday, Mr. O'Brien said. Besides Mr. O'Brien, two other business acquaintances of the dead man, Thomas G. Nicholson and Walter E. Anderton, of Baltimore, also viewed the body. They confirmed his identification.

The first clues were furnished by an automobile operator's card, a note, a hotel receipt, and a key to room 1403 in the Emerson Hotel found on his person. Mr. McQuade's luggage was found in the hotel's baggage room.

Body Hits Ledge in Fall.

Police were forced to smash the windows of the locked sedan in order to remove the body. Mr. Woodhead, who was in Baltimore on business, unaware of the identity of the victim, had the badly damaged automobile towed to a garage.

Some persons who saw the form hurtling toward the street said it came from a window on the tenth floor, and others said it came from a window on the eighteenth. Police say it was the thirty-fourth.

One of the persons who saw the plunge from the bank building was Traffic Officer Edward J. Albright. Albright mistook the form for some inanimate object that had fallen from the roof until he saw it strike a ledge at about the third floor level. The ledge deflected the body out over the curb, where it went through the top of the parked sedan and landed on the rear seat.

Long Career in Banking.

Edward J. McQuade, associated with the Liberty National Bank since its founding, was a native of Washington and attended the graded schools, Central High School, and was graduated from National University Law School. He was an organizer, vice president and a director of the older Citizens Savings Bank, opened June 1, 1906, remaining with it until its consolidation with District National Bank in 1913. He next became associated with his predecessor, G. O. Walson, in the organization of Liberty Savings Bank, which opened October 8, 1917, and became a national bank in March, 1920.

Mr. McQuade was president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, a past president of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, serving in that office in 1918 and 1919. He was graduated from the institute with high honors and has served on many important committees of both organizations.

He was a member of the bar and of Sigma Nu Pi Legal Fraternity, the University, Racquet, Washington Golf and Country Clubs, Columbia Historical Society and Washington Board of Trade.

Will Issue Statement.

George O. Vass, vice president of the District Bankers Association, declared that the news of the affair came as a distinct shock to him.

Officials of many of the city's leading banking institutions gathered at the Liberty Bank immediately after news of the fall reached Washington. All were deeply shocked over the tragedy and were too overcome to issue any statements.

Mr. McQuade is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ada McQuade; a daughter, Mrs. George Fort; and a brother, Martin McQuade, all of Washington.

financial zone is covered, said he did not know of the bomb threat. He expressed belief the guard had been ordered because of the seizure on Monday of a large quantity of explosives and arrest of five men charged with trying to blow up a barge. Police quoted one of the prisoners as saying that the explosives were intended to "destroy capitalist property," and that the barge incident was to be the "opening gun of the war."

No other police officials would discuss the guard. Officials of the Morgan firm could not be reached.

SHOOTING AT DEPUTY ADMITTED BY MINER

Defendant in Murder Trial Charges Officers Fired First at Harlan.

Mount Sterling, Ky., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—William Burnett, first of the Harlan County coal miners to face the death penalty as a result of the long labor controversy, told the jury trying him today he shot at Deputy Jesse Pace after he had been wounded himself.

The defense backed up Burnett's testimony with that of Mrs. Jessie Barton, a widow, who said the deputies started the shooting which culminated in the death of Pace and the wounding of Burnett. This fight last April 17 was followed a few weeks later by another clash in which four were slain. The Commonwealth prior to closing today had brought nearly a dozen deputies who testified the striking miners started the shooting.

Burnett claimed Jim Daniels, a deputy, shot him in the left hand, when he had started away and told the officers he was going home and that Pace also started shooting and he then began firing. Asked who shot Pace, he replied:

"I can't say whether I did or I didn't; I shot at him."

On cross-examination, Burnett said he had only one pistol, a .45-caliber weapon. The Commonwealth's witnesses had said he had used two. He said he had the pistol with him because he had tried that day to sell it, but he could not remember the name of the man to whom he said he had offered it.

Burnett, as he took the stand today, said he was 36, a native of Knox County, Ky., married and had two children, one 12 and one 14. He had worked at a steel mill in Gary, Ind., but had come to Harlan County in March, 1929. He said his home was within 250 yards of the scene of the shooting and that it was customary for people to gather at a spring near the railroad tracks and talk, as he said a group of miners out of work were doing on April 17 when a dozen deputies came hunting for men charged with banditry and confederating against officers during labor troubles.

The trial brought here on change of venue got under way yesterday and Circuit Judge Henry R. Prewitt permitted no delay in handling witnesses or in attempts of lawyers to argue after he had ruled on a point. Once he told counsel, "I have ruled and that's all there is to it; let's get going with this case."

FIGHT BETWEEN DEMOCRATS OVER FLOOR LEADER ASSURED

that the least the Southerners might do would be to allow a Northerner to take over the office of floor leader.

Yesterday four members of the Alabama delegation in the House—Representatives Bankhead, Huddleston, Steagall and Oliver—sent a round-robin letter to all Democratic members, which read as follows:

"In the event of Democratic control of the House, the delegation from Alabama will present to the Democratic caucus as suggested leader the name of John McDuffie.

"We believe we are justified in presenting the name of Mr. McDuffie for this responsible position, based on his years, his faithful service to party and country, and his demonstration of qualities of leadership."

Three other Southern members are regarded as potential candidates for the job of floor leader, a job held thus far by Mr. Garner. They are Representative Byrns, of Tennessee; Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, and Representative John E. Rankin, of Mississippi.

Four Democrats from above the Mason and Dixon line are being boomed for the post of floor leader. They are Representatives Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, who has been in the House for more than a quarter of a century, and whose tenure was broken only by a defeat in the Harding landslide; Representative John J. O'Connor, of New York; Representative Thomas H. Cullen, of New York, and Representative W. A. Ayres, of Kansas.

If the Democrats here were disheartened somewhat by the refusal of the Democrats to agree on one candidate in Texas, they had their spirits raised by reports from New Jersey and New Hampshire.

There are House vacancies in both these States. An influential Republican newspaper in New York conceded victory to the Democratic candidate in New Jersey, and Senator George H. Moses, a smart politician, admitted that the situation looked bad for the Republicans in New Hampshire.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Representative Heartsill Ragon, of the Fifth Arkansas District, predicted today the Democratic House members would elect Representative Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, as the floor leader.

"On account of the South having a Speaker and so many chairmanships, there is a feeling among members both from the North and South that the selection of a leader should come from among Northern Democrats," Mr. Ragon said.

Crusader to Back Texan Favoring Dry Modification

(Associated Press.)

A Democratic candidate described as sponsoring prohibition modification in the Fourteenth Congressional District of Texas yesterday was promised the support of the Crusaders, repeal advocates.

Rufus Lusk, executive vice commander of the Washington Crusaders, announced he received word that Carl Wright Johnson, in the race for the seat of the late Representative Wurzbach, "came out for modification Wednesday at our plea."

"We will fight to put him over," Lusk said, "just as we did put over Representative-elect Hart in Michigan."

Mrs. Pinchot Files New Resignation

Action, She Says, Is Protest Against Overloading Organization.

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—For the second time in two days, Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor, resigned from the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women as a "protest against overloading the board with organization women." She notified the council of her second resignation late today, after she had been reelected, together with all other nominated officers and directors, by a unanimous vote this morning.

In her second letter of resignation, the governor's wife criticized the nominating committee's action in naming Mrs. Clarence A. Beck, Easton, to fill the unexpired term of Judge Sara M. Soffel, who resigned as a director because of her professional duties.

Robot Flies Plane Of Capital Party

Automatic Pilot, Installed by Eastern Transport, Put in Service.

A robot took over the controls of one of the Eastern Transport Co.'s larger ships yesterday, and flew a party of Washington newspapermen and company officials to Richmond.

With the flight, the automatic pilot, which supplements the work of the human pilot by taking over guidance of the ship whenever the pilot wishes, was officially placed in service over Eastern Transport's air lanes.

The local party boarded the plane at Washington Airport. The ship previously had left Newark on its regular run to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Raleigh, Florence, Charleston, Savannah and Jacksonville.

OPPONENTS OF FESS ARE IN STALEMATE

Antiprohibitionists Appear to Have Upset Plan for Brown to Serve.

(Associated Press.)

Two groups opposed to the reign of Senator Fess, of Ohio, as Republican national chairman appeared last night to have stalemated each other and left the senator in command.

Antiprohibitionists apparently upset plans of some party leaders to bring about the installation of Postmaster General Brown, also of Ohio, as chairman at the forthcoming December meeting of the national committee.

Because of the demands of the antiprohibitionists for Fess' resignation, it was generally agreed in high Republican councils today that it would be bad strategy to force a change just now. Moreover, Senator Fess, holding the post against his wishes, made it clear to friends he would not get out under fire.

Mr. Brown has had something to say about it, too. He didn't take at all to the proposal advanced by Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, and others that he take over the chairmanship.

Nevertheless, there is still a possibility that the chairmanship question may come up for discussion at next month's meeting of the committee.

Senator Fess himself is prepared to continue until the June convention, although he previously informed Mr. Hoover that he would like to be relieved when Congress meets.

It seems definite that Brown is to take command of the next Republican campaign, but it also is definite that he does not want to go into the political chairmanship now.

Senator Watson and those who favored an immediate change were not opposed to Fess as chairman. They held, however, that now was the time to get organized for next year's presidential battle.

The antiprohibitionists Wednesday criticized Fess for his statement that it would be "fatal" to the Republican party to indorse repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Representative Britten, of Illinois, led the attack with a formal statement demanding that Fess either resign as national chairman or as a director in the Antisaloon League.

In a reply to Britten, F. Scott McBride denied yesterday that Chairman Fess, of the Republican national committee, is a director of the Antisaloon League.

"Senator Fess is not now and, as far as I know, never has been a director of the Antisaloon League," McBride, superintendent of the league, said. He added:

"The wets will keep up their hubbub through the coming session, but Congress will continue to vote more than two to one dry in both House and Senate."

Dreiser's Attorney To Be J. W. Davis

Progressive Senators Are Asked to Hear Data Found at Harlan.

New York, Nov. 19 (U.P.).—John W. Davis, former Democratic nominee for President, will represent Theodore Dreiser, novelist, in fighting charges of criminal syndicalism which have been brought against him in Kentucky, it was announced today. Dreiser's only comment on Davis's entering the case was:

"Our attorneys say we'll probably be extradited to Kentucky and sentenced to serve 20 to 40 years."

The national committee for the defense of political prisoners, of which Dreiser and the others indicted with him are members, wired five Progressive senators today asking that they grant the committee members a personal interview to hear testimony collected in the Harlan County coal fields.

The messages were sent to Senators LaFollette, of Wisconsin; Couzens, of Michigan; Norris, of Nebraska; Wheeler, of Montana, and Cutting, of New Mexico.

Curtis Is Cheered By Western Trip

(Associated Press.)

An optimistic report on conditions in the West was made yesterday by Vice President Curtis on his return from California.

"The people are cheerful," he said, "although of course they are feeling the effects of the time. It is evident that conditions are improving and there is a note of optimism in the West."

Curtis left political leaders just as puzzled as before on his intentions for 1932, but he did say he would give out a statement shortly. His enthusiasm over his reception across the country led some friends to believe he would not be opposed to running again for Vice President.

Gen. Pershing Remains Few Days in Hospital

(Associated Press.)

Gen. John J. Pershing has entered Walter Reed Hospital to receive treatment for a slight cold.

The 71-year-old former commander of the American forces in the World War is in no danger, hospital attaches said. It was thought advisable for him to enter the hospital on account of foggy weather now prevailing in Washington. Pershing went to Walter Reed last Tuesday and will remain for a few days longer.

Roosevelt Welcomed On Georgia Vacation

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Georgia, which organized the first clubs advocating his nomination for President, welcomed Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, today for a vacation visit in this State. He arrived here this afternoon en route to Warm Springs, where he goes several times each year for rest.

At the Brookwood railway station on Peachtree road, in the residential section, scores waved him a greeting and a few close friends entered the train to chat with him.

Fixed Date for Easter Is Sought by League

(Associated Press.)

American churches soon will be asked to help settle the question "When does Easter Sunday come?" Varying over a period of 35 days, the uncertain date of this religious feast day has created confusion and worked hardship on business which annually caters to the public's fancy for new spring toggery.

Now a League of Nations committee has proposed to churches of all nations that the Sunday after the second Saturday in April be accepted as a fixed date. A note has been drafted which it is hoped that all governments will submit to church representatives.

DR. FINOT ARRIVES FOR CHACO PARLEY

Negotiations Were Adjourned Since Nov. 11; Delegates to Lunch Monday.

(Associated Press.)

Dr. Enrique Finot arrived last night from La Paz to take part in Chaco nonaggression pact negotiations with representatives of Paraguay.

His arrival completed the quartet of commissioners here from the two countries for the discussions, brought about through the good offices of five neutral countries—the United States, Mexico, Colombia, Cuba and Uruguay.

The negotiations were formally opened at the Pan-American Union November 11, then adjourned pending the arrival of Dr. Finot and Dr. Cesar Vasconsellos, of Paraguay. Eduardo Diez de Medina, former Bolivian Minister, and Dr. Juan Jose Soler, Paraguayan Minister to Mexico, opened the negotiations at a meeting presided over by Assistant Secretary White, of the State Department.

A date for the next meeting, at which questions of procedure will be taken up, has not been set.

Monday the delegates will be guests of Director General Rowe at luncheon at the Pan-American Union.

Dr. Finot said he came with the program of the Bolivian government for the negotiations and he was prepared to suggest definite steps for negotiation of the pact.

He was met at the train by Minister Abelli, of Bolivia; Director General Rowe, of the Pan-American Union; Diez de Medina, Senora Diez de Medina, Senorita Maria de Medina and his secretary; the secretary of the Bolivian commission and Enrique Lozada.

"I am happy to arrive in Washington," Dr. Finot said, "and I have great hopes of reaching a satisfactory agreement in the Chaco negotiations."

said with a flash of a smile. "When I'm a candidate you'll know about it."

There were some things the senator did not mind talking about, however, and one of them was the situation in Manchuria. There, he said, was a perfect illustration of the ineffectiveness of treaties and of the League of Nations.

"It wasn't so long ago that we heard a good deal about treaties being 'scraps of paper' and we denounced in loud terms individuals who designated or treated them as such," Senator Johnson said.

"Today Manchuria is strewn with 'scraps of paper' and Japan says 'what are you going to do about it?' and the rest of the world says 'we'll bite; what?'

"In 1922, we had the famous nine-power pact in which that many nations, including Japan, agreed to respect the sovereignty of China. The treaty has been disregarded. Japan will take what she wants and what Japan takes she keeps."

It was to be expected, Senator Johnson said, that the League of Nations would "concoct something to save its face," but he asserted that body had proved thus far its complete inefficiency.

He criticized the sending of an American representative into the league meetings, saying it was "not necessary just in order to write a note about the Kellogg pact.

"But there have been concerted efforts for the last ten years to get the United States into the league in any fashion," Senator Johnson continued, "and they have come pretty close to it now."

Although he refused to predict a change of administrations, the Californian said he felt that the American people "would express righteous indignation against the administration's doing what the people have refused to sanction and what even Congress itself would not authorize."

When someone asked about "naval holiday," Senator Johnson snapped, "Why shouldn't Europe want a naval holiday? They have better navies than we have and at the end of any holiday would still be superior. I don't blame them, but I do blame the mawkish sentiment that has permitted us to go naked in defense.

"So far as I am concerned, I am for the old Rooseveltian policy of 'Fear God and take your own part.'"

ROADS SEEK CHANGE IN POOL SURCHARGE

(Associated Press.)

The railroads yesterday asked for changes in the Interstate Commerce Commission's plan for bulwarking their credit by pooling revenues from new surcharges.

Neither rejecting nor accepting the proposal, the carriers presented the transportation tribunal with an outline of a "railroad credit corporation," which would be established to administer the pool.

Although a total of five changes was asked, only one was considered of vital importance. This would specify that lines receiving money from the pool accept such advances as loans. The commission plan had generally been interpreted as calling for gifts to needy lines.

Some of the larger and more prosperous roads are opposed to any plan calling for gifts. They challenge the legality and justice of the scheme. There have been indications they might refuse to participate unless the change is made.

Action Doubtful.

Just what the commission would do was doubtful. Some of its officials thought hearings or arguments would be necessary before any change to permit loans can be made. Alterations could easily be granted without hearings it was said.

The commission proposed the pooling plan when it denied the railroads' plea last month for a 15 per cent freight rate increase. Surcharges of $3 and $6 a car on some types of freight and one 2 cents per 100 pounds on others were suggested. Major farm products were excepted.

The commission ordered the railroads to present a plan of operation not later than December 1. It provided also that the surcharges were to end when the emergency had passed and not later than March 31, 1933.

Work Out Objection.

Immediately after the commission plan was announced, the advisory committee of the association of railway executives was instructed to work out ways of meeting objections.

Other revisions requested dealt with changing the $3 and $6 surcharges from a per car basis to "cents per net ton." This was asked because of variation in car sizes. The petition pointing out that the railroad with large cars would have a competitive advantage. There also was objection to the requirement that, if a rate is lowered after the plan becomes effective, the cut must come from the basic rate instead of the sucharge.

The proposed railroad credit corporation would be organized under Delaware laws with $1,200 capital. It would have headquarters in Washington and be operated by 12 directors, five elected from the Eastern district, three from the West, two from the South, one from the short-line railroads and the twelfth at large.

The director at large would be president and executive officer.

Bismarck, N. Dak., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The North Dakota Railroad Commission will oppose modification sought by railroads of the Interstate Commerce Commission's surcharge pooling plan. Larkin said that while the State would oppose rate increase, it also would urge that if increases were permitted they conform to the surcharge pooling plan originally suggested.

THOMAS AND FISH DEBATE ENDS EVEN

About 1,000 Persons Hear Argument Over Socialism and Capital.

About 1,000 persons, including a handful who appeared to embrace the capitalistic faith, congregated in Masonic Temple last night to hear Representative Hamilton Fish, of New York, and Norman Thomas, former Socialist candidate for the Presidency, argue about whether capitalism is worth saving.

It is quite doubtful if many were converted either way. Just about the time Mr. Fish, advocating capitalism, would get his obviously socialistic audience agreeing with him, Mr. Thomas would arise and assume command of the situation—and vice versa.

And after it was all over the assembled Socialists straggled out to the lobby, where they were handed lurid throw-aways urging them to support a "national hunger march" on December 7, after which they proceeded on out to the street and drove home in their capitalistic, privately owned automobiles.

Fish Lauds Unions.

It was a far cry from the good old days when the American Federation of Labor was looked upon askance as a radically socialistic outfit, inimical to the best traditions of the Nation. Last night it was Mr. Fish who lauded the unions, while Mr. Thomas chastised them severely as the fiendish invention of capitalism.

Mr. Thomas brought up the subject of Russia under Soviet rule and said the situation there proves the possibilities of socialism. Whereupon Mr. Fish thanked Mr. Thomas for calling the matter to the attention of the audience and remarked that one of the possibilities of socialism which it proves is that it would be impossible to hold such a debate in Russia today because "the capitalistic speaker would be secretly arrested, secretly tried and secretly executed."

That brought cheers from the audience, but when Mr. Fish admitted that he was on the rostrum for the express purpose of trying to convert his socialistic audience to the cause of capitalism, he drew a copious barrage of what has come to be known in the parlance of the day as razzberries.

It was very much the same when Mr. Fish brought up the subject of Nicaragua. He apparently had neglected to anticipate the reception that topic might receive, because he merely mentioned Nicaragua rather incidentally in a declaration that the situation there proves that the United States not only has no desire to acquire additional territory but would be glad to get rid of some it now has, noticeably the Philippines.

Mentions Nicaragua.

But the mere mention of the name of Nicaragua drew an immediate chorus of rather raucous laughter which obviously surprised Mr. Fish.

Mr. Thomas spoke up in favor of a $1,000,000 governmental loan to provide food and clothing for the destitute, but Mr. Fish countered that by pointing the finger of pity at Great Britain and the situation which the dole has created there.

In some way the question of Japan was brought into the debate, with Mr. Thomas holding forth the comparison that Japan in Manchuria is just a magnified duplication of the United States in Nicaragua and declaring that "if war lasts in Manchuria with America supplying Japan, almost certainly the time will come when we shall be urged to go to war to support brave Japan as the 'upholder of western civilization—that is, capitalism — against the yellow hordes of China and the red hordes of Russia.'" Mr. Fish couldn't agree with that and declared that the United States "never will go to war with either Japan or Russia," for which he was cheered lustily.

Both speakers were in excellent form oratorically and logically, and either one alone undoubtedly could have won over an audience, but as it was the debate apparently ended in a tie.

Lindbergh in Miami For Trip on Clipper

Noted Flier Will Test Big Ship Early Today for Canal Journey.

Miami, Fla., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Completing a journey started last Saturday and held up by inclement weather for several days, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed the Army plane he flew from New York City at the Pan-American Airport here at 6:55 o'clock this evening.

Tomorrow he will fly Pan-American Airways' giant seaplane, the American Clipper, on its first commercial voyage.

Col. Lindbergh flew here today from Richmond, Va., stopping briefly at Savannah to refuel the plane he borrowed at Mitchel Field yesterday when he succeeded in piercing a fog that overlaid northeastern airlanes for several days.

Flying the American Clipper tomorrow, after completing ten required landings and take-offs, he will pilot 32 passengers and several hundred pounds of freight to Kingston, Jamaica, the first leg of a round trip aerial voyage to Cristobal, C. Z. He planned to make the test flights early in the morning and prior to the scheduled 9:30 a. m. departure for Kingston.

Ford Predicts Prosperity "Such as You Can Keep"

Declares World Has Ceased Looking for Santa Claus and Is Making Progress; Doesn't Want Recovery of Old, Discredited System.

(Copyright, 1931, by United Press in all countries. Reproduction in whole or in part prohibited.)

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19 (U.P.).—Henry Ford foresees the coming of "real prosperity"—not "feverish, speculative, false prosperity, but real prosperity such as you can keep."

In his opinion, as expressed to the United Press in an exclusive interview, it will be such as "to make all previous prosperity look small."

He does not look for "recovery," but for something better, and he hopes "we don't recover the old system" with a "bigger and better panic in, say, 1940."

Incidentally, he expressed the view that business men would be better off if there were no tariffs anywhere.

We have quit looking for Santa Claus, he says.

We have quit waiting for miracles.

We are ready to go to work.

"Progress Always Painful."

"If we quit waiting for miracles to happen—and I think we have quit—that is a long step forward," he said. "I am sure we are making progress, and progress is always painful. We are all wiser men and women than we were, and we are going to make better use of the next decade. If you want my opinion, ten years from now there will be much real prosperity—I do not mean feverish, speculative, false prosperity; but real prosperity such as you can keep, such as to make all previous prosperity look small."

This practical philosopher of the machine age, who remade the face of America with his low-priced automobile, is wondering like many others. He forced paved roads into the backwoods of the Nation. He first demonstrated that high wages makes good business. He ran the machine age into high gear and taught the world what mass production could do.

Yet he has seen his world of 1929 come tumbling down in a chaos of overproduction. Thousands of his high paid workmen, the envy of the labor world; have had to go hat in hand to get food and clothing doled out by the City of Detroit. Henry Ford, like the rest of us, is wondering what is wrong that such a calamity shiuld happen while the mechanical genius of mankind is in its greatest flower.

Some Unaware of Slump.

I found him in his experimental laboratory at Dearborn. He and his son, Edsel, were off in a corner examining the latest device of his engineers in connection with the new model to be put on the market. He went into one of the offices. Ford tilted his chair back against a window, a tall, wiry figure in gray, with nobody knows how many millions in cash in banks, his great deer-stocked estate across the road, secure so far as he personally is concerned, a man who has profited beyond the dreams of Midas from the existing system, yet wondering whether something better could not come out of it.

"What is the outlook?" he asked, repeating my question.

"It depends whether you mean tomorrow or next year. Things will go along. Millions of people have steady work. There are parts of the country where they haven't heard of the depression.

"Even when things are slow the business of the United States is pretty big. But I don't look for recovery—I look for something better. I hope we don't recover the old system. I have no desire to see the country go on and create a bigger and better panic in, say, the year 1940. We want to lose the old panic-breeding habits altogether."

"All Speculators Losers."

He asked what wheat was doing on the market. I told him it had gone up on reports of damage to the Argentine crop.

"Think of a system which suddenly becomes happy and hopeful when the wheat crop is reported to have failed," he exclaimed. "The wheat outlook is worse. Therefore, the financial outlook is better. Does anyone want that kind of a system to recover? It isn't common sense."

What, I asked him, should we learn from the depression.

"Everybody has learned something," Ford replied. "No one now believes that we can ever avoid work.

"There is no Santa Claus. The stock market is no substitute for daily labor. No one gets rich speculating in stocks. I know there is a belief that there were some lucky ones—but there weren't.

"Stock speculation broke everybody that had anything to do with it, both buyer and seller; there were no favorites. Everybody was to blame for what happened—you can't exempt anyone there, either. Everybody helped bring it on and everybody will have to help to make it go.

Denounces Hoarding Evil.

"Hoarding—there is another thing we have learned something about. We should have known better than ever attempt it, with the example of Germany and other countries before us. There is a law of nature which says, use or lose. If you don't use your arm, you finally lose the use of it. It is the same with money. The American dollar is as sound as a nut now, but it would not continue to be sound if everybody hid it away. When they hid their money in Germany, a washtub full of money would not buy a bag of flour. Hide away American dollars and the same thing would happen here. You have to use money. It is only a receipt for something real. In itself it is nothing. If the system was right there would be no need of saving money anyway. Saving is only the result of fear, of a feeling of insecurity. The safest place any time for money is in goods, provided you buy wisely of things you need and that are useful or productive, taking those meanings in their broader sense."

Ford feels that the average American has lost his independence.

"We are soft," he said. "We are used to being taken care of. Somebody provides our jobs. Somebody provides our wages. Somebody tells us what to do and how to do it. It is only a step from that to the dole. Our old American self-reliance has become flabby. And I don't mean workingmen only. Business men, too, have fallen into the habit of having things done for them. That's what a tariff does.

Would Abolish All Tariffs.

"Business men would be better off if there wasn't a tariff left anywhere in the world. Business would stand on its own feet. We want the Government to tell us how many hours we can work. We want the Government to get us a job. And a good many people want the Government to feed them with a dole. We need to get back to the old American independence of character."

What about the man who can't find a job? I asked.

"There is work in this country for everybody," Ford answered. "The work is here. The trouble is to connect it with payment. I believe there is a law that if a man does the work that he sees needs doing he will not lack for support. All work is paid for in one way or another.

"But a man must be a self-starter. The trouble is that so many are waiting to be cranked. There is a sense in which wages may become a dole if they weaken a man's initiative.

"The cities attracted many people who are now going back to the land. It is a good sign. On the land you do things yourself. You don't wait for some one to hire you to do them. It is that spirit of individual initiative that we need."

Sees Incentive in Surpluses.

"Why do you advise people to go back to the farm when there is overproduction of wheat and cotton?" I asked.

"I think there is no such thing," replied Ford. "These products of the earth are our real wealth. A surplus is a good thing because it forces the discovery of new uses. There was said to be too much cotton. What happened? New uses were found. It would never have happened if there had not been too much of something. Nothing is of much use until it is both plentiful and cheap. Those who want to keep things both scarce and dear do not help the country.

"These are some of the things we are learning from the depression. We will be a better people for it. We are learning to do things more economically. I'm not pessimistic.

"I refuse to indulge in ballyhoo about boom times around the corner. Things will improve as soon as we improve. People do seem to be feeling more hopeful. I think one reason is that they have quit looking for Santa Claus. They know that everything is all right with the world except our human system of distribution, and the improvement of that is in human hands. Everything else works well."

HURLEY SAYS PRESIDENT WILL RISK FUTURE ON TAXES

talked about European "entanglements."

"We have made no political entanglements in Europe," he asserted. "We will make none.

"We are entangled in the economic welfare of Europe to the extent that the prices of wheat and cotton and the employment of our citizens at home and the stability of our banks depend to some measure on the re-establishment of confidence and the economic stability of Europe.

Seeks Disentanglement.

"We became politically entangled in Europe fifteen years ago and the President has been steadily securing our disentanglement. In fact one of the chief problems of the President today is to disentangle us."

The Hoover moratorium was undertaken partly for the "selfish interest" of the United States, he said, on the ground that collapse of a foreign nation would have repercussions here.

Calling attention to the visits of Premier Laval, of France, and Foreign Minister Grandi, of Italy, Hurley said President Hoover has "reestablished the prestige of the United States abroad" and has made no political commitments to any nation.

(Associated Press.)

Olive branches of peace were extended yesterday by congressional party leaders on the controversial tax-increase legislation now in formulation.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader, made the first step in an offer to Representative Garner, of Texas, House Democratic chieftain, to lay aside politics in the interest of enacting the new revenue legislation as speedily as possible.

Garner later predicted the new tax measure would be formed on a nonpartisan basis with putting the law on the statute books as quickly as possible the first consideration.

Theodore Joslin, a secretary to the President, informed newspapermen that the President will reserve decision on his tax recommendation until he has had time to consider the findings of the Treasury.

Despite the overtures of peace on the tax legislation—and no doubt whatever is held by Republican leaders who have talked with the President that there will be tax legislation—plenty of maneuvering was in progress on the impending move for higher rates.

Representative Hawley, of Oregon, the Republican chairman of the House ways and means committee last session, reiterated his conviction that new taxes are unnecessary and blamed the move on the Democrats.

At the same time, Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, the ranking Democrat of the finance committee, held out against any commitments for tax legislation "until the administration tells us the condition of the Treasury and puts forward its program."

Senator Blaine, of Wisconsin, one of the Republican Independents, came forward with a proposal to restore the war-time excess profits tax. This is the first move seen in that direction but little chance for such a levy was in prospect.

"Nothing is worse on the country," said Senator Watson in his talk with Representative Garner, "than uncertainty over new revenue legislation. I am inclined to believe if the House sends us a reasonable measure the Senate will accept it. Of course I can't speak for the Senate and I can't pledge myself to an unknown bill."

Garner expressed the hope the law would be in effect before the first income tax returns are due March 15, indicating that the new rates are to be made applicable to incomes of this year on which taxes are paid next year.

SWINDLING LOTTERY SENDS 13 TO PRISON

Federal Court Finds Racketeers Victimized Public and Each Other.

Santa Fe, N. Mex., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Thirteen men, dubbed by the Government as "knights of the double-cross," were given sentences ranging up to two years in prison by Federal Judge Colin Neblett late today for conducting the Saratoga Sweepstakes lottery last summer.

Nine of the defendants were convicted by a jury earlier in the day and previously three had pleaded guilty and one nolo contendre.

Double-Crossed Each Other.

The Government presented evidence that more than 1,000,000 of the $1 lottery tickets were distributed throughout the country. No prizes were awarded, although the promoters had promised to divide $400,000 among the holders of the "lucky" tickets on the Saratoga Handicap, run in New York on August 6.

"They double-crossed each other and the people of the United States," Hugh Woodward, Federal district attorney, said. "Every man who collected the money for the tickets stuck it deep in his jeans and swore he didn't get anything."

The heaviest sentence was imposed on Jack Michaelson, of Albuquerque and Los Angeles, styled by Federal attorneys as a "sweepstakes lottery racketeer." He was given two years and fined $5,000.

Varying Sentences Given.

Sentences for the others were:

C. L. Ritt, of Albuquerque, and Pete Chavez, of Albuquerque, one year and a day and fines of $5,000 each.

Jack Cleary, R. G. Dulin and Tommy Harmon, all of Albuquerque, one year and one day each.

Joe Dunne, of El Paso, who pleaded nolo contendere, a fine of $1,000, and probation for two years.

E. N. Howard, Kansas City, who pleaded guilty, was placed on probation for two years.

Charles H. Porter, Chicago; Charles H. Mayer, New York, and Hal Weissbaum, San Francisco, were fined $1,000 each.

The specific charges were transporting the tickets in interstate commerce and sending promotional material through the mails in violation of the Federal antilottery statutes.

Golden Wedding Gift Of Divorce Is Asked

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 19 (A.P.). Today was Mrs. Michael Zillmer's golden wedding anniversary. But there was no family reunion with eager grandchildren crowding around a huge cake. Mrs. Zillmer chose the anniversary to file a divorce action.

Children and friends tried valiantly to bring about a reconciliation. The aged woman shook her head.

"I have had half a century to make up my mind, and I won't change it now," she said. "No sentiment on the twilight trail for me."

VIRGINIA POSTPONES HEARING ON BUS LINE

State Corporation Commission Schedules Date for December 11.

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Nov. 19.—Hearing on the Arlington & Fairfax Railway's application for permission to inaugurate motorbus service into Washington from Arlington and Fairfax Counties was postponed until December 11, at a meeting of the State Corporation Commission here today.

Since title to the railway's Washington terminus has been acquired by the Government, clearing the way for completion of its triangle building program, efforts to obtain another downtown terminal have been unsuccessful, the railway's application stated.

The company's officials asked permission to operate a bus service at or near Lacey, continuing down Garrison road to Clarendon, paralleling the company's tracks to Hatfield. The route would follow the highway from Hatfield to Arlington National Cemetery and into Washington through the Agriculture Department grounds.

The line would compete with existing bus routes of the Washington-Virginia-Maryland Coach Co. Some opposition has developed to the proposed route on the part of residents on Garrison road, who are circulating a petition, holding the thoroughfare too narrow for bus traffic.

The application filed with the State Corporation Commission asked permission to inaugurate a supplementary bus line between its present junction with that of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co. at Arlington Junction, to Washington over the Highway Bridge.

SHOALS COMMISSION URGES LONG LEASES UPON PLANTS

State of Alabama, three from Tennessee and three appointees of the President—one representing farmers' organizations, and two spokesmen for the War Department, which now administers the giganitc Tennessee River plant.

In making public the report at the White House, President Hoover said he would lay the matter before Congress at the appropriate time.

"The commission has made a four months' intensive study of the subject, has had many public hearings at which all interested parties have been encouraged to send representatives," the White House statement said. "It is a representative body and its conclusions speak for themselves. At the appropriate time I shall transmit the report to Congress."

As a step toward hastening definite action on the project the commission recommended that Congress extend blanket authority to the executive branch "to negotiate and to conclude a lease contract."

This recommendation parallels closely the suggestion which President Hoover made in his first general message to Congress in December, 1929, in which he stressed the practical difficulties in the way of leasing negotiations conducted directly by Congress.

Viewing the Muscle Shoals plant as essentially a fertilizer enterprise, the commission emphasized that the terms of the proposed lease should insure quantity production of soil chemicals. Surplus power would be sold at the switchboard under an arrangement granting preference to States, counties, municipalities and chemical operations.

Power rentals should be divided, 25 per cent for chemical research and 75 per cent for a fertilizer revolving fund. Receipts not needed for this purpose would be applied to amortization of Cove Creek Dam, yet to be built.

"Preference as a lessee should be accorded a corporation exclusively owned and controlled by organizations of farmers, operated without profit," the report added.

The commission concluded that if the necessary enabling legislation were enacted by Congress, an acceptable lease "will be readily negotiable."

Survey as Fertilizer Plant.

With the commission's report, the White House made public an exhaustive survey of the Muscle Shoals property as a fertilizer plant by Dr. Henry G. Knight, chief of the Bureau of Soils and Chemistry, Department of Agriculture. The bureau concluded that the plant no longer was valuable as a national defense project.

"The nitrogen situation in the United States has undergone a decided change during the thirteen years since the Government nitrate plants were constructed and, as a result, this country is now able to produce the nitrogen required for any probable defense program," Knight's letter said.

In response to another question from the commission, the bureau report said:

"An attempt to find a use for the Muscle Shoals project in the interest of agriculture discloses the fact that the objectives which it was believed could be accomplished by its operation has already been achieved."

Sustaining this conclusion, Dr. Knight pointed out that ammonium sulphate, the principal nitrogen fertilizer, now is quoted at $23 to $28 a ton, against about $60 a ton before the World War, and $150 a ton during 1920.

Value of Power Dams.

A second supplementary report, from the chief of Army engineers, set forth that "the proposed power dams on the Tennessee River are worth much more in public utility service, operated on peak load in the low-water season, than for any other use."

It is also emphasized that the capital value of the Cove Creek dam is about $17,000,000, or about one-half of the estimated cost. "The construction of this project at the present time can not be justified," the report concluded.

Moreover, the construction of Cove Creek would delay the development of the Tennessee below the Clinch River for power purposes.

The Army's exhaustive economic survey of the power potentialities of the Muscle Shoals plant led to the conclusion that the prospective savings to power users in the vicinity would be $17,917,000 during the next fifteen years. Against this, however, the deficit of Government operation would be $36,674,000.

Eight Bids Rejected.

"It may be expected," this report concluded, "that the deficit from the construction and operation of such a system, which will have to be met by the Federal Treasury and by the general taxpayers, will largely exceed any savings from lower rates which may accrue to the limited local public served."

The Muscle Shoals Commission received eight specific bids for the property, but none was deemed to warrant endorsement.

Organization of a farmers' cooperative association to take over the gigantic industrial plant under a 50-year lease, appear remote, in the view of informed agricultural leaders. Financing such an enterprise offers tremendous difficulties, particularly in view of the fact that great outlays would be required to place the plant in production.

The immediate result of yesterday's report will be to place the whole problem before Congress once more, this time with a specific recommendation for breaking the Gordian knot of politics which has tied up the Muscle Shoals plant for ten years.

Shoals Report Pleases Governor of Alabama

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Gov. B. M. Miller said today the report of the Muscle Shoals Commission, if adopted by Congress, would be of incalculable value to the agricultural interests of America.

"The report evidently is the result of much investigation, discussion and thought," said the governor. "The report is unanimous. This is particularly gratifying and pleasing.

"We trust the report of the commissioners will render valuable assistance to Congress and enable them to enact statutes which will be of incalculable value to the agricultural interests of America.

"This giant should be aroused from its long sleep and awakened to its work for the public good, which, the report forecasts, can be accomplished."

Fear for Her Dog Led Girl to Kill, She Says

Kansas City, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Fear for the life of "Snooks," her Pekingese, led 21-year-old Hazel ("Bubbles") Blacketer to shoot and kill her sweetheart, Milton Smith, 28, today, she told police who arrested her.

Smith had accused Miss Blacketer of having more love for the dog than she did for him, the girl said, and threatened to kill "Snooks." Smith died from a single gunshot wound in the chest, inflicted as he stood in an apartment house entrance, the Peke tucked under his arm. Miss Blacketer retrieved the dog from her sweetheart's grasp.

LIQUOR FORAY AIDED BY FIELD TELEPHONE

19 Persons and 9 Autos Are Seized; Glassford Sees Operatives Work.

A field telephone and a messenger service were revealed yesterday as the means by which Federal dry agents trapped 19 persons and seized nine autos Wednesday afternoon in Prince Georges County near the District line, while Gen. P. D. Glassford, chief of the Washington Police, watched.

A field telephone was hidden behind a clump of bushes near a suspected speakeasy and an agent stationed there. The wires of the phone were laid out in the open field to the other end of the line, out of sight of the house.

When an agent near the place saw a car drive into the yard, he would phone the license number to the other station up the road. Here a messenger would take the information and carry it to another group of agents about a mile from the house. These would stop the car which had been to the house when it came near them. In every case, it was reported, the cars were found to contain liquor.

After being arrested, each of the prisoners was taken to the yard of the Bradbury Heights school, until 19 had been captured. Dry agents then raided the house, which was formerly known as "The Well" but is now called "The Pigpen." Some of the prisoners will be given a hearing before U. S. Commissioner J. Frank Parran on December 5, when the hearing of others is set for December 9.

Gen. Glassford said he was invited by William H. Blandford, in charge of dry work in Washington, to witness the try-out of the new scheme, and accepted as he was anxious to see how the dry agents worked. Two representatives of the Washington liquor squad also were observers, he said.

Norman S. Bowles Begins Jail Term

Disbarred Attorney Is to Serve 63 Days on Contempt Charge.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19.—Norman S. Bowles, disbarred Washington attorney today surrendered to Simon E. Sobeloff, United States district attorney, and commenced serving a 63-day jail sentence imposed on him by Judge William C. Coleman in the United States district court in 1929 for contempt of court.

Bowles appeared before Judge Coleman as attorney for a bootlegger. When the court learned that he had been disbarred; Bowles was arrested and sentenced to 75 days in jail for contempt.

The case was appealed to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, and the decision was reversed, the case coming before Judge Coleman again. The original sentence was imposed again, and Bowles granted the benefit of twelve days he had been in jail pending an appeal.

Two Save Watchman From Potomac Death

Two men saved the life of an elderly watchman yesterday afternoon when he plunged into the Potomac River at the foot of Thirty-fifth street northwest. The watchman, Elisha Eaton, 70 years old, of 4300 Canal road northwest, fell into the water while he was making his rounds at the Potomac City Products Co., where he is employed.

He was rescued by L. L. Giddings, manager of the firm, and Isaac C. McMillen, custodian of the District Property Yard. Eaton was taken to Gallinger Hospital for treatment of shock and exposure.

ACCUSED POLICEMEN TO TAKE STAND TODAY

the precinct, under cross-quizzing by United States Attorney Leo Rover.

Lieut. James H. Lee said that he visited Harker when he was in the cell and that he saw him also upon his release. He described Harker's face as swollen and red. Capt. W. E. Holmes, who had testified for the Government, was called by the defense. He denied making the statement, "If you don't come clean about this, we will have to use force," which Harker credited to him.

The precinct captain said that Harker's eyes and face were red and when he saw him later in the day his eye was puffed in appearance.

Inspector Louis J. Stoll told of visiting the station house on the morning of the day Harker was there. He noted no disturbance then or anything unusual, he said. He saw Harker at Police Headquarters two days afterward, when he was making the police investigation of the case. At that time Harker had a black eye, he said. Inspector Stoll was ordered retired last week.

Francis Fitzgerald, special officer, who aided Burroughs in the arrest of the complainant, related in detail how the arrest was effected. He said that Harker was seen near the rear of the lunchroom robbed, and that they pursued and caught him when he ran.

Fitzgerald said that there was a slight black mark on Harker's eye when he saw the complainant at police court the following Monday, during a long cross-examination by Rover. The prosecutor produced a sworn statement the watchman had signed for Department of Justice agents, in which he said Harker's eye was "badly discolored."

Fitzgerald stated that he had signed the statement without reading it. At the height of the examination, James O'Shea, defense attorney, objected, and Rover replied, "I presumed that you would object." O'Shea protested Rover's remark and moved that one of the jurors be removed because of the "misconduct of the district attorney."

Justice James M. Proctor denied the motion, which would have resulted in a mistrial.

Eleven persons testified to the character of Burroughs as to "peace and good order." Five character witnesses for each Grooms and Lamin were heard. Rover did not cross-examine any of these.

William Enyeart, police fingerprint expert, testified to making prints of Harker the night that he was released. He noticed no marks on the face or head, he said.

William Messer, detective sergeant, against whom a third degree indictment was nolle prossed Wednesday because of insufficient evidence, was reinstated yesterday on order of Chief of Police Pelham D. Glassford.

NANKING INCREASES POWER OF GEN. MAH

Officer Is Made Commander of All Chinese Troops in Northern Manchuria.

Nanking, China, Friday, Nov. 20 (U.P.).—The Nationalist Chinese government at Nanking today extended recognition to Gen. Mah Chan-Shan, who was defeated by the Japanese at Taitishar, as commander of all the Chinese forces now operating in northern Manchuria.

Gen. Mah was officially placed in command of the troops now operating not only through the Province of Heilunkgiang, but in the Kirin and Jehol districts.

The order was viewed as putting the official approval of the Nationalist government upon any efforts to impede the Japanese occupation of the three Manchurian provinces. The decision was also viewed as significant in view of the decision of President Chiang Kai-Shek to visit the northern front and his pleas to the Kuomintang Congress for a union of the Nanking and Canton forces.

The order recognizing Mah Chan-Shan as leader of the Chinese forces granted him official recognition as against the irregular activities of Gen. Chang Hai-Peng, who is popularly believed to have the support of the Japanese.

Tries to Reorganize Troops.

Mukden, Manchuria, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Gen. Mah Chan-Shan, whose army was routed by the Japanese when they captured Tsitsihar yesterday, was desperately trying to reform his scattered forces at Koshan, official dispatches from the front said today.

Koshan is about 80 miles northeast of Tsitsihar and is the terminus of a small railway which connects it with the Hellungkiang capital.

A communique from Japanese headquarters reported airplane observers had spotted the disorganized Chinese troops making for Koshan, across the wind-swept plains.

The Japanese, who formally occupied Tsitsihar at 10 a. m. today after having set up their headquarters in an armored train outside the west gate last night, were not pursuing the defeated followers of Gen. Mah, dispatches said. Instead, they were mopping up the territory within a 30-kilometer radius of Tsitsihar.

Fresh Troops Expected.

At the headquarters of Gen. Honjo it was said a mixed brigade of fresh troops from Japan would arrive in Mukden tomorrow. Six troop trains were expected, spaced at intervals from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m.

The retreat of Gen. Mah's army was the signal for evacuation of much of the territory along the Chinese Eastern Railway by Chinese.

Leaving their belongings behind them, they streamed out of the district. This evacuation was accompanied by subzero weather, and biting winds swept down from the north.

Chinese prisoners captured during yesterday's fighting said they had gone into battle ignorant of the fact that they were facing Japanese troops.

Gen. Mah told them, they said, that the enemy was the army of Gen. Chang Hai-Peng, rival of Gen. Mah for power in Manchuria, and declared by the Chinese to be working with Japan.

The prisoners said that when the Japanese took their first line trenches and they realized they were up against a strong foe, the retreat began.

Japan Accuses Russia.

Tokyo, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—A friendly warning that serious complications will result if Russia sends troops into North Manchuria was dispatched to Moscow today by the Japanese government.

The Japanese Ambassador at Moscow was instructed to convey the warning to Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs.

The ambassador was directed to inform M. Litvinoff that no damage was done the Chinese Eastern Railway yesterday during the triumphal advance of Gen. Honjo's Japanese troops to Tsitsihar. The railway is jointly operated by Russia and China.

The instructions to the ambassador followed a Japanese note to Russia in which the Tokyo government charged that Moscow was "partially responsible" for the Japanese occupation of the Chinese Eastern Railway area, which is within the Russian sphere of influence.

Another Denial Suggested.

The railway, the Japanese note said, had been used for transportation of Chinese troops. A suggestion was included that the Soviet government issue another denial that Russia is furnishing arms and ammunition to the Chinese.

The note denied Japan was "manufacturing" rumors of Russian assistance to China, and expressed the opinion China was spreading these rumors in the belief Russian intervention might thus be accomplished.

Japan's attitude toward various peace suggestions made was said authoritatively to be that too many cooks might spoil the broth.

A proposal that a commission of investigators visit China proper as well as Manchuria was looked on with favor. Such a commission, it was said, probably would support the Japanese contention that the only way to peace is through direct negotiations between Nanking and Tokyo.

Conduit Citizens Back Chest Drive

Workers for Government Should Not Be Forced, Says Resolution.

While indorsing the Community Chest and proposals to solicit funds from employes in the classified civil service departments of the Government, a resolution adopted by the Conduit Road Citizens Association last night said the indorsement was made with the proviso that any employe who felt he was unable to make a contribution should not be importuned for one.

"Any attempt at persuasion by officials or superiors in collecting contributions to the Chest," the resolution read, "must be condemned."

The association voted to favor legislation fixing financial responsibility of taxicab operators prior to issuance of licenses and reaffirmed its stand in favor of legislation in connection with the proposed elective school board for the District. The association also voted to cooperate with the Potomac Heights Community Christmas Tree project. Mrs. John R. Rodruck, Mrs. E. S. Hobbs and Mrs. W. A. Roberts were named as committee to the Public School Association.

Japanese General Predicts Early Peace in Manchuria

Gen. Shigeru Honjo Foresees New Government; Feels Sure Mah Has Received Arms, Ammunition and Some Trained Men From Russia.

(Copyright, 1931, by the United Press.)

Mukden, Nov. 19 (U.P.).—Gen. Shigeru Honjo, energetic commander of the Japanese army in Manchuria, today interrupted the military tasks that have kept him sleepless for 36 hours, to grant an exclusive interview in which he predicted "peace and a new government" in Manchuria.

Despite the fact that this was perhaps the busiest day in his military career, and that the interview was constantly interrupted by receipt of dispatches from the northern front, Honjo replied calmly and courteously to questions regarding Manchuria's future.

The interview took place at the general's headquarters, which face the center of the plaza, overlooking broad paved boulevards and solid buildings which themselves seem to symbolize the permanency of Japan's position. The general hesitated a moment after each question, and chose the words of his replies carefully.

The first question, one which is uppermost in the minds of a majority of the Mukden population, related to the possibility of a new Manchu monarchy.

"Will the Japanese Army under any circumstances, approve the establishment of a Manchurian monarchy under Mr. Henry Pu-Yi?" Honjo was asked.

"Public opinion must determine that," he responded, adding that his own functions were purely military, and he would prefer to avoid political questions.

The general sipped his tea while he considered the next question.

"Does such information as you have prove beyond a doubt that Gen. Mah Chan-Shan has received some foreign help?"

After a thoughtful pause, Honjo made a diplomatic reply.

"As far as I am personally concerned," he said, "I am satisfied that Mah Chan-Shan received arms, ammunition and some trained men from Russia, but the Soviets took no positive action in the recent engagement."

At this point the general was interrupted by receipt of a sheaf of reports from his adjutant. He took them to a desk, skimmed hastily through them, gave some orders in an undertone, and returned to his armchair to hear the next question.

"How large a Chinese Army do you consider necessary to police Manchuria?"

Honjo smiled at the question.

"A very small army, indeed," he answered. "Manchuria needs only an effective police force, for it is highly improbable that she would ever be called upon to fight her neighbors, China or Russia."

"Is the Japanese army willing to assist in the organization of an effective Manchurian police force?" he was asked.

"That depends upon the nature of the new Manchurian government," was his reply. "Japan wants peace and order in Manchuria at the earliest possible moment. Naturally, we are willing to help to that end."

"And what type of government do you consider best?" the interviewer asked.

"That," Gen. Honjo smiled, "is a question no military man like myself could answer."

"Japan wants peace in Manchuria," he reiterated, as he said goodby. "She believes that peace is not far distant, with better prospects than ever for this rich land."

Despite the strain of conducting the campaign in which his forces swept beyond Tsitsihar in an all-day battle—the most severe engagement since the beginning of the "unofficial war" in Manchuria, Honjo showed no indications of fatigue.

LEAGUE MAY SEND GROUP TO MANCHURIA FOR INQUIRY

China must confirm the validity of existing Sino-Japanese treaties.

These points were made clear by unofficial publication of a memorandum to the league council from Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japanese delegate. The memorandum gave precisely the details of his statement at yesterday's secret council meeting.

M. Yoshizawa declared that even if the security of Japanese lives and property in Manchuria appeared assured Japan would maintain her military occupation.

League May Send Probers.

Paris, Nov. 19 (U.P.).—The League of Nations Council today considered sending a commission with wide powers of investigation in Manchuria as an alternative to invoking an economic blockade against Japan to end the hostilities between Japan and China.

Aristide Briand, veteran French foreign minister and acting president of the council, said that intervention by the United States would insure the "rapid and peaceful solution" of the crisis. Intervention might be made independently or with the collaboration of the league, Mr. Briand said.

The correspondent asked Mr. Briand the following question:

"Would direct intervention by the United States, especially through the invocation of the Kellogg peace pact, interfere or assist in the course of the League of Nations in seeking a peaceful solution of the Manchurian situation?"

"As I have maintained since the beginning of the Sino-Japanese question," Mr. Briand replied, "intervention of the United States, independently or in collaboration with the league, would clarify and strengthen the position taken by the nations and insure a rapid and peaceful solution."

Briand apparently did not see the possibility of a conflict of interest of the United States and the league which might mean that American intervention would leave the crisis in Washington's lap. His statement clarified uncertainty in Paris and Washington over the possible effect of independent American action upon the league's course of action.

Members of the council believed they saw a solution of the crisis in sending an investigating commission into Manchuria, despite the fact that Japan, in earlier negotiations at Geneva, opposed such action and demanded direct negotiations with China.

Changed Attitude.

Information received here was that Japan had changed her attitude and would agree to withdraw her troops as soon as the investigating commission began its work. If this information is correct, it remains for the council to persuade China to allow the investigation to begin before the withdrawal of Japanese troops.

Such a development would mean a victory for the council, but it could be accomplished only with a complete reversal of the Chinese and Japanese positions as outlined before the last council meeting at Geneva.

Council members pointed out that sending a commission into Manchuria would be the quickest way to put an end to fighting there. Once this was accomplished, league circles believed that a great advantage toward settlement of the conflict would have been gained.

The Chinese delegation continued to appear impatient with the league and demanded immediate invocation of sanctions provided in the league covenant against an aggressor nation. Dr. Alfred Sze, chief Chinese delegate, can not make a demand for sanctions until a public session of the council is called. The next meeting is scheduled for 4 p. m. tomorrow, but it is indicated that it will be private.

Public Session Favored.

An important section of the council, including Lord Cecil, of Britain, favored a public session and considered the private deliberations bewildering to world opinion. Other council members feared the Soviet reaction to the Japanese occupation of Tsitsihar.

It was reported in various quarters that Ambassador Charles Gates Dawes, ordered by the State Department from London to Paris during the council meeting, was to be officially invited to attend the council sessions. Dawes has not taken part in the council meetings, but has conferred daily with other diplomats at his hotel here.

Dr. Sze addressed an unusually strong letter to the council, saying, "I will be forced to put the blame publicly where it belongs—namely, on the unwillingness of the great powers to lift a finger in defense of the covenant which they are solemnly pledged to defend." Dr. Sze said he would quote at a public council meeting what various leaders of the league had told him privately.

Dr. Sze's letter was based on an accompanying statement from the Kuomintang, Nationalist party of China. "It is impossible for any government of China to accept a settlement involving direct negotiations under pressure of military occupation," Dr. Sze said.

The northward thrust to Tsitsihar placed Japan astride this railway which is controlled jointly by Russia and China.

He also said in response to a question that there is "no secret treaty between Russian and Japan at present."

The main force of Japanese, Debuchi asserted, is based about 2½ miles south of Tsitsihar, although the city is in the hands of a small detachment.

Debuchi was asked whether there was full accord between the Japanese military officers in Manchuria and the Tokyo government.

"That point I can't discuss," he replied. Then with a shrug he added, "Japan is one government."

Shortly after the dapper little Japanese Ambassador walked out of Secretary Stimson's office, that official was in telephonic communication with Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, America's representative at the League of Nations' council gathering in Paris on the problem.

ELDER STATESMAN OF JAPAN AND BORAH DISCUSS CHINA

The developments of the day had the effect of spreading a pall of pessimism over official Washington.

At a press conference following his talk with Mr. Ozaki yesterday, Senator Borah was careful not to quote any of the statements that had been made by the Japanese. As a result of his talk with Mr. Ozaki, however, Senator Borah authorized two statements:

The first was as follows:

"I have no doubt that Japan is going to dominate Manchuria."

Those who know Senator Borah say that he expects that Japan will take over southern Manchuria and turn over northern Manchuria to Russia. They say he does not expect that Japan and Russia will go to war over the territory.

The second statement authorized by Senator Borah was as follows:

"I gather the impression that the Japanese people are practically a unit behind the program."

By that the Idaho senator meant that the Japanese people were a unit behind the program to dominate Manchuria. Claims have been made, and Senator Borah has been one that believed them, that the military element was alone behind the Manchurian conflict.

How Conflict Has Grown.

The Japanese Embassy emphasized yesterday that Mr. Ozaki, while a member of the Japanese Diet and former cabinet officer, was not at this time representing the Japanese government in the United States. Mr. Ozaki, it was said at the embassy, came to this country in mid-August on a tour of the United States.

The present tension existing between China and Japan over their possessions in Manchuria is an outgrowth of the shooting of an obscure Japanese captain who was "observing" in civilian clothes in Manchuria. Japan moved prompt military forces against the Chinese and successively entered the zones of Mukden, Harbin and, finally, Tsitsihar.

With each of these Japanese advances protests have been made to the League of Nations by China, but no action has had any effect on the Japanese advance. The clash between Japanese and Chinese troops at Tsitsihar, which was reported here yesterday, is the latest military objective to fall before the excellently disciplined troops of Japan.

League Wants U. S. to Act.

Meanwhile, the League of Nations continues to examine the situation and has tried to suggest to the United States the necessity of some outstanding American gesture. The United States in its instructions to Gen. Dawes is understood to favor the invocation of the Nine-Power Treaty of the Washington conference rather than the Covenant of the League of Nations and its provision for economic sanctions. This the United States is unwilling to do, as it is confident that the participation by this country in any offensive against any other country, even a purely economic offensive, would fall afoul of senatorial censure.

Ambassador Debuchi, after his call on Secretary Stimson, declared that he was constrained to state that further Japanese moves in Manchuria were entirely dependent on circumstances. The Manchurian situation in its developments yesterday overshadowed the last day of Italian Foreign Minister Dino Grandi. The State Department and the White House were more concerned with the rapidly approaching crisis in Manchuria than they were with the final conversations between Signor Grandi and the President.

The United States has not yet decided to take any further action in regard to Manchuria until the tension caused by the capture of Tsitsihar has somewhat subsided.

Call "Self-Preservation."

The State Dtpartment has been keeping in close contact with Ambassador Dawes, in Paris, as well as with American Ambassador Forbes, in Tokyo, and American Minister Nelson T. Johnson, in Peiping. The instructions cabled to Ambassador Dawes before he left London have not been altered, as the general procedure regarding American participation in the sesions of the league council has been very largely left to the discretion of Gen. Dawes himself.

Secretary Stimson indicated, however, he would carefully scan every angle of the international problems involved before taking any such definite step as French Minister Briand suggested yesterday. The secretary had no communication for the Japanese Ambassador and no further notes or memoranda have been dispatched to the American Ambassador in Tokyo.

Japanese Ambassador Debuchi announced yesterday that the capture of Tsitsihar had been motivated by "self-preservation." The Japanese troops under Gen. Honjo found themselves encircled by the Chinese and attacked them. Debuchi said that Japanese advances would continue until they had completely crushed Gen. Mah and then they would return to their territorial zone, unless an untoward incident occurred.

NEW YORK CHINESE AGITATED BY WAR

Ominous Spirit Hangs Over Colony as It Plans Aid to Homeland.

New York, Nov. 19 (U.P.).—A heavy tension hangs in the air over New York's Chinatown these days, an ominous aura of restlessness and hate, for the Chinese of the Occidental world are heart and soul in the Manchurian war with Japan.

It was misty and cold in Mott and Pell and Doyers streets today, yet the two main bulletin boards, whereon frequent bulletins from the front are posted, continued to attract throngs of patriots.

It is the same atmosphere which prevailed throughout the Nation when we were fighting Germany; Chinese families are skimping in their routine expenses, even economizing on food, in order that money may go back to Nanking.

Enemies Bury Hatchet.

Those traditional enemies, the On Leongs and the Hip Sings, have buried the hatchet and joined hands against the common enemy. Together they plan campaign after campaign for raising funds, for boycotting the Japanese, for training war pilots for the Chinese armies.

They are in the midst, right now, of their drive for funds to school 300 airmen in this country. According to their plan these men would be recruited in various sections of the United States and sent to the nearest aviation training school to learn to pilot bombers or to become mechanics.

The Chinese army has about 300 modern planes, but faces a serious lack of men to fly them. At the present time many of their ships are being flown by White Russians and Germans.

20 Youths In Training.

There already are twenty Chinese youths, sent to America by the Chinese government, training in aviation in this country.

So far there has been no show of violence in New York. The metropolitan area holds some 12,000 Chinese and about 5,000 Japanese. The Japanese have no colony, however, and are widely scattered. Some of them go about fearlessly in the Chinese districts. The Chinese have known them for years and they regard them in a halfway fraternal spirit. It would be different if a strange Japanese ventured into Chinatown.

Most of the stores have placed small bulletin boards in their windows for the posting of news dispatches. The big boards, one in front of the Chinese school and one at the crossing of Mott and Pell streets, are so overloaded with dispatches that smaller boards are necessary.

Fire Aboard Liner Lights Up Belfast

Police Suspect Incendiarism After Second Blaze on the Bermuda.

Belfast, North Ireland, Friday, Nov. 20 (A.P.).—The Furness liner Bermuda, which was damaged by fire at Hamilton, Bermuda, last June, again was swept by fire during the night at the dock where it was being repaired here.

The ship was blazing fiercely over its whole length at midnight, lighting the city and country for miles around. Several explosions hampered the Belfast Fire Department. The entire force was fighting the flames. Several decks were destroyed and heavy damage was indicated.

Business Prospects Held Bright in New England

Boston, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Harry C. Knight, of New Haven, Conn., president of the New England Council, today presented a bright future outlook for business in this section of the country at "New England's Town Meeting," the seventh conference of the council. The picture was presented for the benefit of the six governors who brought their problems to the conference.

Knight told of "visible signs of economic recovery now appearing on the business horizon" as an exceptional opportunity to make "a signal contribution to the national prosperity."

RICH INDIAN PRINCES WED TWO COUSINS

Wealth of Principal Native State and Kin of Caliphate United.

Nice, France, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The wealth of the principal native state in India and the spiritual power of the vanished Caliphate of Islam were merged today in a casual wedding ceremony lasting ten minutes.

The two sons of the Nizam of Hyderabad, whose gold and jewels are reputed to exceed the combined fortunes of the Rockefellers, the Morgans and the Fords, were joined in religious rites to the daughter and niece of the banished Caliph Abdul Medjid Effendi, who is so poor he lives on the largesse of his followers.

Prince Azam Jah, 24, oldest son of Sir Osman Ali Khan and his heir, married Princess Dural Shehvar—18 years old, brunette and admired as a slim, Oriental beauty. Prince Moazzam Jah, several years younger, became the husband of the niece, Princess Nilufar Hanin Sultana, who is 16.

The pomp and pageantry associated with Oriental marriages were missing. The princes came to the Carabacel palace in luxurious motor cars and were accompanied by a bodyguard of six Indian officers. They ascended to the second floor of the palace and came down with their fiancees on their arms. The girls' aged father read two prayers before the couples as they knelt and the ceremony was done.

But some time this winter the weddings will be sealed in proper Moslem fashion. When the couples return to India after a honeymoon on the Riviera, there will be feasts on a sumptuous scale and rich presents from India's 700 Maharajahs and native rulers. They will live in resplendent palaces and dozens of servants will minister to their wants.

The princesses claim descent from Mohammed, but they never have worn the veil. They are thoroughly modern young women, but they shun lipstick and bobbed hair.

When the marriage arrangements were being perfected the Nizam gave Prince Abdul $200,000 in cash and $1,000,000 in jewels. He increased the living allowance he has been paying for seven years from $1,500 to $2,000 monthly. On the Princess Dural, he settled $75,000 and agreed to give her an additional $125,000 if she outlived the prince or the marriage was annulled.

Kiwanians Hold Annual Meeting

Eugene R. Woodson Elected as President to Take Office in January.

At the annual meeting of the Kiwanis Club yesterday, Eugene R. Woodson, secretary-treasurer of the Railway Accounting Officers Association, was elected president, to take office at the first meeting in January. Edwin F. Hill and Dewey Zirkin were elected first and second vice presidents, respectively. James B. Edmonds former president of the club, was elected district trustee.

The board of directors elected were Lewis T. Breuninger, Pinckney Harman, Albert W. Howard, W. Seton Kent, Harold N. Marsh, Edward S. Pardee and Dr. Orville U. Singer.

President-elect Woodson announces the appointment of T. Hardy Seay, secretary, and James H. Baden, treasurer. The meeting was held in the ballroom of the Raleigh Hotel. Because of Thanksgiving, next week's meeting will be held on Wednesday, at the Raleigh Hotel, at 12:30 p. m.

ROADS 'SLUSH FUND' CHARGED BY EDITOR

Hoover Told Pennsylvania Contractors Must Give to Help Pinchot.

Charges that Federal-aid road funds are being used for a political "slush fund" in Pennsylvania were laid yesterday before President Hoover and other Government officials.

Louis McGrew, editor and publisher of the Labor World, a semimonthly publication at Pittsburgh, made the accusation during a call at the White House.

He said contractors on Federal-aid highways as well as State roads are compelled to contribute a percentage of their receipts to a fund to advance "political ambitions" of Gov. Pinchot.

Officials of the legal division of the Bureau of Public Roads, to whom McGrew was referred, told him they would have to determine whether Federal funds were involved before they investigated the charges.

McGrew then left for Philadelphia to persuade members of the State Legislature to call a legislative investigation of the administration of State highway appropriations.

Hoover Much Interested.

A consistent opponent of the Pennsylvania executive's policies, McGrew's paper is supported by "most of the large corporations in Pennsylvania" as well as some others elsewhere, he said. It has no connection with the Pennsylvania or the American Federation of Labor.

An editorial in its last issue says it will support the renomination of President Hoover and Senator Davis, of Pennsylvania, at the spring primaries.

McGrew, who said he was employed in the past by the Republican national committee to do publicity work, said he spent fifteen minutes with the President. Mr. Hoover, he said, was "very much interested" in the charges.

The White House directed him to the Department of Justice, where he was in turn referred to the Public Roads Bureau, which has charge of the disbursement of Federal highway funds to the States.

At each place, McGrew told a story of how more than $7,000,000 which he said was paid to Pennsylvania since the Pinchot administration took office last January, was used together with State funds to build up the alleged "slush fund."

He charged all road contractors were compelled to be bonded by a Harrisburg agent, John C. Orr, whom he named as the recipient of the political contributions.

"Horrible If True," Reed Says.

McGrew said P. Stephen Stahlnecker, secretary to Gov. Pinchot, also was involved in the raising of the fund.

During the day, McGrew called on Senators Reed and Davis to make the same charges. Reed said the allegation was "a horrible thing, if true."

McGrew also said there had been an attempt at Pittsburgh by his political enemies to "put me on the spot," and charged his Pittsburgh office had been entered and ransacked.

He said he called on the senators hoping they would help him in his efforts toward a congressional investigation.

Recalling his past association with the Republican committee, McGrew emphasized he was not now employed by it and said his charges were based on a personal investigation.

STEERING CLEAR.

The council of the League of Nations is doing its best to draw the United States into its deliberations, in order to prevent the collapse of the league as a result of the Chinese-Japanese deadlock.

Facing a war situation, the league machinery is powerless to command peace. This weakness in time of stress was evident when the league was formed. The central purpose of the league is to serve European interests. Its covenant contemplates resort to boycotts, blockades and war as a means of maintaining the status quo, but the obligation is a rope of sand as soon as a powerful member of the league, like Japan, refuses to recognize it. Conflicting interests among other members create dissension which paralyzes action. The league could not stop Italy in the Corfu incident, and it can not now stop Japan in Manchuria.

But the European powers in control of the league are very anxious to maintain the organism and retain control of it. The league is particularly useful in furthering the aims of France and Great Britain. They can accomplish certain purposes through the league which they can not so conveniently accomplish otherwise. The league enables them to maintain a bogus "world court" which can be used sometimes to coerce small nations in matters upon which the great powers agree.

Ambassador Dawes has not sat in the league council on the Manchurian question, although the United States has a common interest with other parties to the nine-power treaty, which is imperiled by the Japanese advance. Mr. Dawes is in consultation with representatives of nations interested in the Manchurian situation, but he is in a position to refuse to commit the United States to any attempt to apply the sanctions of the league covenant to Japan. If the league council, facing collapse of league prestige, should make the blunder of attempting to coerce Japan by diplomatic or other boycotts, there is no reason why the United States should participate in the blunder. There is every reason why it should refuse to lend its influence to support an organization that is manipulated solely in the interest of European powers.

China's importunate demands that the United States shall join the league council in punishing Japan should have no weight with the Washington Government. The United States is not bound to protect any weak nation against a stronger one. If a situation should develop requiring the United States to call Japan to account, it would be because of violation of the nine-power treaty, and not because of any quarrel between China and Japan. The Kellogg pact does not require the United States to interfere in the Manchurian controversy. Now, if President Hoover will leave large discretion to Ambassador Dawes, it may be assumed that he will steer clear of committing the United States to any action under the covenant of the League of Nations. Then, if the worst should come, and the United States should be forced into the Far Eastern quarrel, it would have its quarrel just, basing its case solidly upon a treaty bearing the pledge of Japan.

"BUTLERISM."

In one of those rare moments when he is not engaged in directing the affairs of the League of Nations or settling international issues, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, concentrates upon the salvation of the Republican party. He would not have it understood that domestic politics is one of his more important extra-curricular activities. Nevertheless, he has found time to draw up a platform for the Republican party in 1932 to save it from the fate of the Whigs.

Dr. Butler is an unusually modest man. He doesn't like to push himself forward to leadership of the G. O. P. So he satisfies his sense of obligation to the party by predicting its annihilation and then pointing out the way by which it can be exalted. It seems that the party is marching straight toward Waterloo. But it doesn't need to pursue that course. Let Dr. Butler map out the path to the blessed haven of perpetual power.

Fourteen magic reforms will do the trick, and Dr. Butler will not even charge for his services. First, appease the appetites of those who are bawling for beer by repealing the eighteenth amendment. Second, lower the tariff so that foreigners may more fully share the American market. Third, cooperate with the League of Nations and the World Court. Fourth, join in an international conference to shift the burdens of the war on to the shoulders of American taxpayers. Fifth, study the question of whether the remonetization of silver is not desirable. Sixth, amend the antitrust laws.

To this magnificent array of anti-Republican doctrines he adds a bit of counsel gleaned, no doubt, from freshmen theses. Let there be "immediate disarmament;" let measures be formulated for "the emancipation of agriculture" and for "the simplification of the Federal Government in the interest of efficiency and economy."

There can be no objection, of course, to any individual promulgating a national platform. But why does Dr. Butler wish to let his genius pass under the restricted title of Republicanism? If he were not so busy patching up the affairs of Europe, he would perceive that he has originated a document that transcends all party platforms. Nobody but Dr. Butler could think up such a marvelous charter—and nobody would.

MUSCLE SHOALS AGAIN.

A new approach to the Muscle Shoals problem is provided in the report of the commission appointed by President Hoover and the Governors of Tennessee and Alabama. This group is unanimous in recommending that the plants be leased for private operation in the interests of American agriculture. In view of the fact that the commission of nine members is made up of eight Democrats and includes lawyers, business men, farmers and an Army engineer, its views should command impartial consideration.

The commission found that it is feasible to operate the Muscle Shoals plants for the manufacture of fertilizer and chemicals. Part of the proceeds from the plants and from the sale of power would be used to finance agricultural research. Power would be sold at the switch with preference to municipalities, counties and States.

Investigation convinced the board that a satisfactory contract for lease of the plants and the power dams can be negotiated. That is the most significant part of the report. Heretofore, those members of Congress who believe that the plants should be leased have had no satisfactory offers before them. The advocates of Government operation, on the other hand, presented a definite plan and pushed it through Congress because of the feeling that no other means could be found to dispose of the Muscle Shoals project. On the basis of this new report Congress can authorize President Hoover to lease Muscle Shoals with reasonable assurance that a satisfactory contract can be obtained; the negotiations can be turned over to an appropriate board and all the red tape that is involved in negotiations between Congress and private individuals can be avoided.

Senator Norris and his colleagues have tried for years to put the Government in the power business at Muscle Shoals. At the last session he succeeded in getting his bill through Congress, but President Hoover vetoed it. The insurgents may be expected to make another attempt to push their socialistic measure through Congress. But their efforts will be futile so long as President Hoover is in the White House. Furthermore, they will now be face to face with a constructive program that has the indorsement of the Republican party, the States whose interests are most vitally concerned and the foremost farm organizations. This fact makes the prospects for the enactment of constructive Muscle Shoals legislation brighter than they have been for a long time.

FOREIGN TRADE LOOKS UP.

A sudden upturn in American exports is one of the most encouraging signs of recovery from the depression. Exports reached their lowest point in August. September showed a seasonal increase, and during October sales abroad were augmented by $25,000,000. This appears to be considerably more than a seasonal gain.

Americans have been led to believe by political propagandists that the foreign trade of this country has all but disappeared. On the contrary, figures published by the Department of Commerce indicate that foreign trade has not suffered much during the last year, except from price declines. To apply last year's prices to this year's exports is almost like trying to measure milk with a carpenter's square. The only reasonable basis on which a comparison can be made is the physical quantity of goods exported to other lands.

The calamity howlers say that in spite of the upturn of exports last month they were still 37 per cent below the record of October, 1930. That comparison is based on aggregate price. But during that year the price index for exports declined about 25 per cent. Roughly calculated, this means a decline of only 12 or 13 per cent in the actual volume of American goods shipped to other countries. In view of what has happened in Europe and most other parts of the world to diminish the people's purchasing power it is remarkable that the decline has not been more drastic.

It should be noted that a decline in the price of export goods does not mean a loss of market outlets. When commodity prices begin to rise again the total value of American exports will show rapid gains. The October figures show how quickly the demand for American goods is revived as soon as conditions abroad begin to improve.

Charges that the Smoot-Hawley tariff has cut off imports and thereby brought America's customers face to face with calamity become ridiculous when facts are brought to light. The Department of Commerce makes this report: "On a quantity basis total imports in the third quarter of 1931 were approximately as large as in the third quarter of 1930." This quarter, July to September, was the nadir of the depression. Yet the actual quantity of foreign goods put on the American market during that period showed no decline from the previous year. It may be comforting also for those who complain of the American tariff wall to note that imports during this same quarter amounted to only 9 per cent less than during the corresponding quarter of the prosperous year 1928.

When the American people realize that the tariff, the depression, lower purchasing power, unemployment and everything else have cut down the shipments of foreign goods to this country only 9 per cent they will be inclined to strengthen rather than relinquish the protective policy. Domestic business has shrunk far more than that since 1928. It is apparent that foreign commercial interests, by cutting prices, have strengthened their hold upon the American market in spite of the tariff.

The Democratic party will cut a pretty figure if it attempts to enact a lower tariff when the people realize that domestic industry has been curtailed from 20 to 40 per cent, while foreign imports have suffered a 9 per cent slump.

COLOMBIA SUSTAINS GOLD.

Drastic measures have been taken by Colombia to maintain the gold standard of her currency. President Olaya Herrera was delegated emergency powers which have enabled him to enact stringent regulations, whereby he hopes to correct the unfavorable balance of international payments and to avoid the course followed by a number of neighboring countries that have defaulted or declared a moratorium on their external debts. Free commerce in gold has been forbidden except to the Bank of the Republic and foreign exchange operations must be approved by an official board before each sale of foreign drafts. Banks are required to deposit their gold with the Bank of the Republic and to invest all their capital, reserves and deposits in Colombia.

The mint has been directed to coin 2,000,000 pesos in silver half-pesos, which increases the circulating medium without further use of the gold reserves. The Congress is also studying the question whether it is possible to reduce safely the legal ratio of gold reserves in the national bank. At present the requirement is 50 per cent of its deposits and bills in circulation.

Presidential decrees have been especially strict regarding imports. Luxury articles such as alcoholic beverages, jewelry, toiletries, products of silk and tobacco have been barred from importation. Customs duties have been increased from 25 to 100 per cent on foodstuffs as well as manufactured essentials. The latest decree, which is said to complete the initial program of the president, regulates exports to insure the return to Colombia of gold payments covering the net money value of exports. This makes it impossible to export capital from the country in the form of commodities, especially coffee.

The result of President Olaya's constructive program has been to maintain the Colombian peso very nearly at par. The alarmingly rapid downward trend of gold reserves during the first weeks of September has been halted and a slight increase was registered recently.

HELPING HOME BUILDERS

From the Christian Science Monitor.

President Hoover's plan for establishing a system of home loan discount banks, similar in the home-building field to the Federal Reserve Banks in the field of general commerce, is a project which comes closer home—both figuratively and literally—to the ordinary family than anything else that has yet been done to turn the economic tide.

It is the President's second effort to restore confidence in the American financial system. His first, the launching of the National Credit Corporation to help small commercial banks keep afloat, has already checked the medieval practice of hoarding. This, although the corporation itself is only getting under way. The stress on country banks has been relieved by the knowledge that support is coming. Similarly the announcement of the mortgage bank plan will encourage confidence in the realm of home building and home financing even before the necessary congressional enactments can put it into operation.

The ways in which it will help when once established are numerous, but a few examples will illustrate their effect. Here, for instance, is a factory worker whom we may call Henry Blair. He has been laid off most of the time for months, and interest on the mortgage on the Blair bungalow has gone unpaid. John Kelsey, of the Home Savings Bank, which holds the mortgage, does not want to foreclose it, but has told Mr. Blair he may have to do so. Now the mortgage discount bank is organized, and while he probably can not take Mr. Blair's mortgage there and get it discounted, Mr. Kelsey has some other mortgages upon which the discount bank will lend him enough money to meet his bank's present needs without having to foreclose on the Blair home and sell it.

At the same time, Mr. Blair hears from his Cousin Will that the latter has succeeded in getting the mortgage on his farm renewed after he had almost despaired of it. Behind the scenes the reason is that Banker Brown knows now he can take Cousin Will's mortgage to the discount bank and get money on it if he should need to do so to meet an emergency.

And down the street, Ernest Williams, who has a steady job in the postoffice and has been putting his savings into the building and loan association for years, has decided this is the time to build a house. But the building and loan association, with a lot of its money tied up in property, has been putting him off for several months about the loan. Now it can let him have it. And Mr. Blair, who has more than one string to his bow, will get a few days' work as a plasterer's helper.

Not having been successful in ordering and threatening Japan, the league council will now try wheedling China.

In striking contrast with the present American campaign, Japan is gathering up frozen assets in Manchuria and is in no hurry to liquidate them.

Gov. Pinchot's plan to borrow relief money to be paid back if a hostile legislature proves submissive, and an unsympathetic public adopts a constitutional amendment, is not going so well.

United States exports increased $25,000,000 in October, with the favorable trade balance three times as great as in September. Has any one been lowering tariffs?

Unfeeling New York brokers, who apparently have little consideration for the tender feelings of white metal advocates, now attribute silver's spectacular rise and slump to "unintelligent and purely speculative buying."

In this country the 20 per cent tax applies only to incomes of $100,000 or more. The British tax of 25 per cent hits incomes down to less than $1,000. We are going to have more taxes; a few comparisons may make them a bit easier to bear.

Former Senator Wadsworth complains that Chairman Fess does not understand the difference between prohibition repeal and a referendum, and three representatives yesterday explained to him what resignation means.

The Bank of France is now losing gold. The gold stock of the United States and the excess gold reserves of the Federal Reserve banks are both greater than they were at the beginning of the outward gold movement in October. Nuff sed.

The verisimilitude of the reports of the meeting between Al Smith and Gov. Roosevelt is impugned by quoting the former governor as saying: "It was such a good lunch I can't get my waistcoat buttoned." Al never in his life wore anything but a vest.

The nine-power treaty guaranteeing the integrity of China was signed in Washington in 1922. Bankers would have required some collateral on that guarantee.

The Johns Rockefeller have given $1,750,000 to the relief fund. Whatever it was, you may now feel comfortable about your contribution.

Dr. Butler says it is the duty of Republicans to declare for prohibition repeal. Dr. Fess claims it would be a blunder. When doctors disagree it is advisable to call a consultation and not trust individual opinion.

You Can't Profit by Injuring Another Oarsman if All Are in the Same Boat.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

As the days pass it becomes increasingly evident that the world will not recover its normal prosperity and security until it adjusts its political standards and methods to match new physical conditions.

Business men and laboring men must suffer together until they persuade statesmen to adopt new ideas.

We are living in a new world, where the political customs of other years are as out-of-date as the ox carts of our grandfathers.

The ancient rule of nations was dog eat dog. The strong conquered and pillaged the weak. The victor stripped the vanquished to pay the costs of the struggle. Armies were relatively small and inexpensive and loot paid their upkeep. And a conquered province was a kind of farm that provided an annual harvest of taxes. Its people were enslaved and exploited without mercy.

Each nation needed an army to protect itself from looting neighbors and to discourage the frequent rebellions of its subject colonies.

Then, as now, custom was made by the assurance of a profit.

But the old ways no longer are profitable.

The strong, while posing as defenders of liberty, still hold unwilling subjects by force of arms; but enslaved peoples have learned to boycott the goods of their masters and a subject race no longer is a profitable monopoly. The cost of holding it in subjection is greater than the revenue it provides.

If great nations make war, both sides lose. Each land has great investments in the other. New methods of communication have brought nations as close together as the States of our Union. Every nation's prosperity depends upon commerce with its neighbors. To cripple another nation is to impoverish a good customer. The commerce and the interests of all nations are so inextricably interwoven that an injury to one injures all.

The day of dog eat dog is gone. Nations must cooperate in peace or sacrifice themselves. Alien races are no longer enemies to be robbed, but patrons and partners whose welfare is essential to our prosperity. A rich neighbor is not a menace but a market. Invading salesmen get more profit than invading troops.

Science has tied all nations together. They must sink or swim together. And there is no hope for any of them or for any of us until statesmen see the truth and consider mankind as a unit.

The Ritchie Candidacy.

Springfield Republican.

And lo! Jackson Day, January 8, is to see the "formal" entrance of Gov. Ritchie as a Presidential candidate under the auspices of a political club dining that evening in Baltimore.

The impression has deepened of late that the Maryland Governor has gained a new accession of strength, and it is easily traceable to New York City. That the Smith-Raskob influence was at work for him has further confirmation in Bernard Baruch's complimentary effusion, in his Armistice Day speech. One "to whom the finger of fate seems to point as being perhaps destined to move to the White House"—such was Gov. Ritchie in Mr. Baruch's garland of post-prandial speech.

Gov. Ritchie is now simply the best prospect among the "favorite sons," and this group as a whole have only to prevent Roosevelt from gaining two-thirds of the convention to satisfy all the demands of the anti-Roosevelt strategists.

Whistle Blows for the Second Half.

Minneapolis Journal.

Democratic leaders, in prospective control of the new House, promise not to go out of their way to harass the administration, or to obstruct whatever of its program they deem to be for the common good. But they refuse to look upon the President's wishes as sacrosanct, and reserve the right to oppose such policies as are not to their liking.

Fair enough, if Representative Garner and his associates mean what they say, and if they can keep their followers in line. Each "if" is linked with a heavy doubt. For temptation to "make medicine" for the 1932 presidential campaign will be hard to resist.

Eligible Ohioans.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The last week has seen a Ritchie boom in the Democratic sweepstake, centering in New York and Pennsylvania. The able Governor of Maryland is really the first of the eligible men to throw his hat into the ring, although Franklin D. Roosevelt unofficially has been a chief contender for a long time. Gov. Ritchie sets out a difficult task for himself, for as pacemaker he may find himself tiring long before the stretch turn.

Ohio's favorite sons are using a wholly different strategy, keeping safely out of the public view and waiting until the strength of their opponents and the temper of the voters are more clearly defined. Newton D. Baker and James M. Cox, busy, respectively, at law practice and newspaper publishing, are content to pursue their ways, undisturbed by the rich prize that seems now to be any one's for the taking.

Philippine Freedom.

Houston Post-Dispatch.

Probability of a fight in Congress this session over the question of Philippine independence has been lessened by the acceptance on the part of numerous influential Philippine leaders of the position that immediate freedom for the islands likely would not be safe for them because of their economic weakness. Manuel Quezon is the latest Filipino to adopt this view, and since he is the most influential man in his country, and is the head of the independence mission to the United States, there is good reason to believe that the demand for immediate severing of relations between the United States and the islands will not be pressed now by Filipinos themselves.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Commends The Post for the Editorial, "Parking in Washington"—Automobile Owners Confused by Many Rules and Regulations.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I read with much satisfaction your timely editorial on the subject of parking in Washington, and note your comments on the attitude of Fine Arts Commission toward parking of automobiles in the Capital of the Nation.

The vast number of inconsistent and arbitrary rules and regulations is constantly adding to the confusion. We find "no parking" before 9:30 a. m. or after 4 p. m. in the downtown sections, with no like restrictions in equally congested areas. Numerous "no parking" signs are established in front of some establishments, but not in front of others. Visitors and customers of merchants from nearby Virginia and Maryland are gradually being driven to deal with merchants in their own communities, due to the hazard of parking in the down-town area. Of course, this is good for the out-of-town merchants.

Six or seven years ago, the committee on streets and avenues of the Washington Board of Trade recommended through the Board of Trade that underground parking be provided for the use of the increasing number of automobile owners, or that some other provision be made for the thousands of automobiles which would be parked in the section of the Mall, where new Federal buildings are being erected. It is only recently that the authorities have awakened to the fact that no provision whatever was made to accommodate these thousands of automobiles which will fill this area every day.

Government Worker Approves Plan for Contributing Three Days' Pay to Unemployment Fund.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There is some adverse comment on the President's plan to give three days' salary from the Government pay roll. There shouldn't be. It is by far the best plan yet proposed, and every kindly, thoughtful person should welcome it and thank the persons responsible for it. Individual alms do not go far, but the concerted effort will yield large amounts. Our President is a great humanitarian, thinking of the needs of the people, and every one should cooperate.

Earn all you can, spend all you can, and give all you can. Help those in authority who are struggling to help others, knowing they will be criticized, even abused, in their generous thought to raise funds. We are not giving, we are sharing, even as we would wish to have others share with us in our need. It is our duty to give and should be our pleasure.

A GOVERNMENT WORKER.

Correspondent Says the Thing Needed Is for the Fine Arts Commission to Find More Parking Space in Downtown Section.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Instead of eliminating parking, the Fine Arts Commission should get busy and find more parking space for the thousands of workers in the downtown section. One way to do it is to clear a city square and then inclose it with a high hedge, making two or three entrances on each side, so that the cars could drive in and park in orderly rows. To the passing tourist it would look like just another little park, while to the worker who comes down to his office building in his little automobile it would be a blessing.

In 90 per cent of the cases, we have to drive to work. A car is not a luxury but a necessity. We motorists pay city taxes and gasoline tax and license tax, &c., and therefore are entitled to the use of the streets we pay for. WORKING MOTORIST.

Motorist Says That Streets Are Constructed for the Purpose of Accommodating Automobile Owners.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial "Parking in Washington" hit the nail squarely on the head. The money of the District taxpayers is spent to keep the streets in repair and to widen certain streets. Many of these taxpayers are motorists, therefore they should be given the privilege to park their automobiles on the streets of Washington. What are streets for but to accommodate motorists? MOTORIST.

THE SMALL BOY'S COMPLAINT.

"I had an ice cream soda yesterday
And a large sugar bun.
And I remember that I romped in play
And had a lot of fun."
"Yes," said the mother, "but today you're ill
And must lie very still."

"And I had pie at dinner time," replied
The fretful little lad.
"Yes," said the mother. "Come, be satisfied!
A happy time you had.
But you are very feverish today
And can't get up to play."

"I don't see why I have to stay in bed.
I want to play some more,
And I want lots of sugar on my bread,
Just like the day before."
"Come," said the mother. "Do not whimper so Because your good times go."

How like our little boys are we who whine
When trouble finds our door,
Thinking that every day the sun should shine
And wanting more and more.
Needing the mother still to say: "Be glad
For all the joy you've had."

GLASS SEEKS DATA ON CANNON BROKER

Bribery in Parole of Convict Now Is Admitted, Virginia Senator Declares.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, said today that bribery of New York Federal "court officials is now admitted" in the case of Harry L. Goldhurst, convicted broker.

He made this statement in repeating his demand for a Justice Department inquiry into the Goldhurst case. He also emphasized that he had no reference to Miss Ellamarye Fallor, who was an assistant to former District Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, of New York. Miss Fallor has joined in asking the inquiry.

Goldhurst was the broker for Bishop James Cannon., jr., in the Southern Methodist churchman's stock market dealings. Goldhurst was convicted of using the mail to defraud and has been recommended for parole. Glass wrote to Attorney General Mitchell inquiring into the terms of the Goldhurst parole.

"The real point of my letter to the Department of Justice," Senator Glass said today, "was not as to who or how many in District Attorney Tuttle's office were bribed in the Goldhurst case, but as to the covert meaning of this transaction, attended by the obvious attempt to shield from exposure a culprit of somewhat more importance than a bucketshop keeper.

"That there was bribery of court officials is now admitted. That there was concealment of incriminating letters is now revealed. That the reported terms of an alleged promise of parole have been carried out is of record. That the United States district attorney, after publicly proclaiming his opposition to parole of this bucket-shop convict, subsequently recommended for parole, and was joined by the Federal judge of the district, is also in positive proof.

"I am told by his assistant that the district attorney was familiar with every detail of this sordid crime, involving the payment of $5,000 in money, with gifts of diamonds and other expensive things. The Federal judge should have been acquainted with the facts, since the record was right under his nose. Instead of indicting the criminal, these officials advocated his liberation.

"I trust Miss Fallor will persist in her avowed purpose to tell the Department of Justice the whole startling story as she related it to me on Friday of last week."

Student Slaying Trial Is Blocked

Jury Panel Is Exhausted in Oklahoma Death of Mexican Youth.

Ardmore, Okla., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Lack of jurors and a secret conference between District Judge Asa E. Walden and attorneys blocked progress today in the trial of William E. Guess and Cecil Crosby, former deputy sheriffs, charged with the murder of a Mexican college boy last June.

The former peace officers are on trial for the killing of Manuel Garcia Gomez, slain with Emilio Cortez Rubio, kinsman of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico. The Mexican youths were motoring to Mexico after attending St. Benedicts' College, Atchison, Kans., and were shot to death after they had stopped their automobile on an outlying street late at night. The officers pleaded self-defense. Guess was acquitted last summer in the death of Emilio Cortez Rubio.

Early in the day the jury panel was exhausted and the court ordered 100 special veniremen summoned. Only six additional veniremen had reported, however, when court recessed overnight.

Soldiers Seek Missing Rider Near Honolulu

Honolulu, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Soldiers afoot, on horseback and in airplanes searched the Waianae Mountains near here today for Lieut. Harry D. Clapper, believing he might be lying injured after a horseback ride yesterday.

Clapper's horse, saddled but unbridled, returned to Schofield Barracks badly scratched. Army officers thought Clapper may be found in a mountain canyon. His father is N. J. Clapper, of Mount Gilead, Ohio.

London-Shanghai Fliers, Man, Wife, Back in U.S.

San Francisco, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—After combating monsoons, fever, motor trouble and poor airport facilities on a flight from London to Shanghai, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Day arrived today on the liner Chichibu Maru, not only anxious to complete their trip with a flight home to Ridgewood, N. J., but planning a long air voyage.

"I want to go to South America next," declared the young and vivacious Mrs. Day, who hasn't soloed an airplane yet, but thinks she is ready to do so any time now. "I'd like to fly down the East Coast and up the West, or perhaps the other way around."

LABOR ON RAILROADS URGE SIX-HOUR DAY

New York, Nov. 19 (U.P.).—A six-hour working day, a $1,000,000,000 Government bond issue for grade-crossing elimination, and a guarantee of a year's steady employment were railroad labor's answer to wage-cut proposals at a joint meeting of labor chiefs and rail executives today.

The labor representatives insisted on a program of joint action to improve railroad working conditions and relieve unemployment.

In a statement issued by D. B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the six-hour day was termed "a necessity that must be instituted to absorb the existing number of experienced employes without reduction of compensation." Labor advocates creation of a joint commission to put the plan into effect.

The $1,000,000,000 bond issue, suggested by the labor chiefs, would be borne in equal parts by the railroads and the Government, the former to repay through a sinking fund and the Government to list the expenditure as "improvement of interstate highways."

In addition the labor heads suggested regulation of motor transportation and freight forwarding companies, protection of all interests in the event of railroad consolidation, Federal legislation to provide retirement insurance and compensation, establishment of an emergency employment bureau and coordination of train crews and train lengths on a basis of economical and safe operation.

As a means of stabilizing railroad employment, the labor heads suggested that railroads guarantee one year of work to "necessary employes in every class." This, it was explained, would increase purchasing power more than $2,000,000,000 by dispelling fear.

Three problems must be solved immediately, the brotherhood believe. They are insecure employment, diminishing employment and inadequate wages.

SOCIETY

Mrs. Hoover Luncheon Guest of Mrs. Lamont in Sail Down River on the Sequoia; Grandi Given Farewell Dinner.

MRS. HOOVER was the guest of Mrs. Robert Patterson Lamont, wife of the Secretary of Commerce, yesterday on the Commerce Department's dispatch boat, the Sequoia, for luncheon and a sail down the river.

The Italian Ambassador and Donna Antonietta de Martino entertained at dinner last evening for the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Italy and Signora Grandi. The list of distinguished guests included the Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson the French Ambassador and Mme. Claudel, the German Ambassador, Herr Friedrich von Prittwitz und Gaffron; the Japanese Ambassador and Mme. Debuchi, the British Ambassador and Lady Lindsay, the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon; the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, Senator and Mrs. William E. Borah, Senator and Mrs. David Aiken Reed, the American Ambassador to Italy and Mrs. John W. Garrett, Representative and Mrs. John Q. Tilson, Representative and Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, Representative and Mrs. James M. Beck, the Undersecretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., the Chief of Protocol of the State Department and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Finley, Mrs. Franklin Mott Gunther, Mme. Coelho de Almeida, wife of the First Secretary of the Brazilian Embassy; Miss Mabel Boardman, Miss Patten, Commander Augusto Rosso, the Counselor of the Embassy, Count Alberto Marchetti di Muriaglio; Signor Leonardo Vitetti, Signor Guido Rocco, the Naval Attache of the Embassy, Capt. Luigo Notarbartolo dei Duchi di Villarosa; the Military Attache, Col. Marco Pennaroli; the Marchese Piero Misciatelli and Cav. Alberto Monis.

A large and brilliant reception followed the dinner, when several hundred guests from the Diplomatic Corps, high officials, Army and Navy, and smart resident circles were asked to meet Minister and Signora Grandi, on their last appearance in Washington after their four very strenuous days. The embassy, which is beautiful in itself without floral decorations, was an effective setting for such a function. Gorgeous chrysanthemums were placed in effective spots, bronze and golden ones where gilt decorations predominated, pink ones where there were pink hangings and palms and tall ferns in the ballroom, with its strictly Italian decorations and ornaments, and rich red hangings and upholstery. The hosts, with their guests of honor, stood just within the ballroom door to receive the company, going later to the reception room at the left of the entrance to greet the late comers. Scores of young people, especially, arrived late after dinner parties and small dances elsewhere, for the dancing which followed the reception, and kept up until a late hour.

Donna Antonietta de Martino, who was first in line, was a charming figure in silver lame, which glittered with every move. Her ornaments were diamonds, in a beautifully-wrought necklace, tiara and long earrings.

The other Donna Antonietta, for Signora Grandi is also Antonietta, was in a charmingly simple gown of heavy blue satin with pearl necklace and diamond earrings. Her lovely dark hair was devoid of other ornament. The minister stood beside her and she presented her guests to him, and the ambassador was last in the very distinguished little line.

A string orchestra played during the reception, and when the several saxophones arrived and joined the musicians, it was the signal for guests to make way for dancers. A long table was laid in the small dining room adjoining the ballroom, just in front of the rare old Italian mantel and fireplace, where huge punch bowls with cooling beverages were so much in demand that they had constantly to be refilled.

Among the guests who filled the ballroom for more than an hour after the reception opened were the Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson, the latter in silvery satin and pearls; the Chief Justice and Mrs. Hughes, the latter wearing a modish costume of ivory satin with tiny ruffles about the hips and around the bottom of the long skirt edged with black velvet, a black velvet girdle and perky bow, and black velvet about the low neck; the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Mellon; the Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell, who was in blue satin with touches of black; the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Adams, the latter in black lace and white satin; the Postmaster General and Mrs. Brown, the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Lamont, the latter in gold lame; the French Ambassador and Mlle. Claudel, the Japanese Ambassador and Mme. Debuchi, the Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara, the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay; the German Ambassador Herr Frederich von Prittwitz und Gaffron; the Belgian Ambassador and Mrs. May and the Misses May, the Hungarian Minister and Countess Szechenyi and their daughter Cornelia, the countess wearing black velvet and pearls, and their daughter in white satin; the Austrian Minister and Mme. Prochnik, the Bulgarian Minister and Mme. Radeff, the Czechoslovakian Minister and Mme. Veverka, the Canadian Minister and Mrs. Herridge, Senator and Mrs. Borah, the latter in an exquisite evening ensemble of pink velvet with white fox.

Also Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, wife of the senator from Virginia; Mme. Skalicky, wife of the Counselor of the Czechoslovak Legation; Mme. Sokolowska, wife of the Charge d'Affaires of Poland; Representative and Mrs. Fred A. Britten, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. George Bowie Chipman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, Mrs. Lawrence Townsend, in ruby velvet and pearls, the latter in silver cloth; Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, the latter in brocaded silk in peacock blue, rose color and white, with belt and bow of peacock blue velvet; Miss Helen Robbins, Miss Laura Tuckerman, Miss Eliza Mitchell, Miss Margaretta Wright, Mrs. Grace W. Pulver, Miss Maria Sacasa, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Coffin, Miss Elsie Ekengren, Capt. Hayne Ellis and Miss Martha Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bennett, Miss Janet Richards, wearing a newly presented Fascist pin which attracted much attention; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Meyer, the latter in ruby velvet; the Misses Randolph, Miss Laura Harlan, and the American Ambassador to Italy and Mrs. John W. Garrett who have spent the week in Washington because of the visit of Minister and Signora Grandi and who will have them as their guests in their Baltimore home over the week-end.

The dancing continued until a late hour and a late supper was served, but the guests of honor left on a late train for New York, long before the party was over.

The Undersecretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of Signor and Signora Grandi. The other guests were the Italian Ambassador and Donna Antoinetta de Martino, Senator and Mrs. George H. Moses, Senator and Mrs. Tasker Oddie, Senator Simeon Fess, Representative and Mrs. Robert Low Bacon, Signor Augusto Rosso, Signor Leonardo Vitetti, Mrs. David S. Ingalls, wife of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aviation; Mrs. Guy Norman, and Mrs. McCook Knox.

All States Society Ready for Grand Ball.

Final preparations have been completed for the fifth annual ball of the All States Society, which marks the formal grand opening of the Shoreham ballroom, this evening.

This event will be among the most brilliant of the season, and bids fair to surpass any of the dances heretofore given under the auspices of this society. In the preparation and arrangement of all the details, Mr. Edward J. Lang, president of the Connecticut State Society, and chairman of the ball, has had the cooperation of the various officers and members of committees.

Mr. W. E. Hoffheins, president of the society, extends a cordial invitation to all officers and past officers of the different State societies and their guests to attend.

The Faculty Women of George Washington University will entertain at a reception tonight at the Hay-Adams House, in honor of women members of the faculty new to the university this year, and wives of professors and instructors newly connected with the institution. Heading the receiving line will be Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, honorary chairman, and Mrs. John Donaldson, chairman. Husbands of members are invited.

There will be music by the George Washington University Glee Club.

Mrs. Jeter C. Pritchard, of Asheville and Washington, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Shoreham in honor of Miss Dorothy Gould Fowler, one of the season's debutantes. Her other guests were Miss Anne Wyant, Miss Jean Woodson, Miss Atlee Wayne Wirgman, Miss Pansy Bloomer, Miss Rose Page, Miss Betty Peelle, Miss Helen Peeples and Mrs. John E. Fowler.

Friends of the Kenmore Association have been invited to attend a series of Saturday afternoon teas to be inaugurated tomorrow before the open fireplace in the historic kitchen at Kenmore in Fredericksburg, Va. Gingerbread made from the recipe used by Mary, mother of Gen. George Washington, when she entertained Gen. Lafayette on his surprise visit to her in her garden, will be the feature of the occasion, which will be from 3 to 6 o'clock.

Various members of the organization, assisted by a group of Fredericksburg's prettiest girls, will assist Mrs. Vivian M. Fleming, the president, in receiving. It is expected that guests from Baltimore and Washington will motor down, especially to note the progress of the shrubs and other green things planted in the grounds at Kenmore recently by the Garden Club of Virginia.

Miss L. I. Ritchie, of Bridgeport, Conn., is passing a few days at the Dodge, accompanied by Miss Stratton, also of Bridgeport.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

MRS. BYRNE CHOSEN AS HEAD OF U. D. C.

Charleston, W. Va., Woman New President General; Others Elected.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Mrs. Amanda Austin Byrne, of Charleston, W. Va., an outstanding figure in the work of perpetuating the ideals and traditions of the old South, today was elevated to the highest position in the United Daughters of the Confederacy—the presidency general.

Daughter of Capt. Samuel Hunter Austin, who served as a surgeon with the soldiers in gray during the war between the States, Mrs. Byrne is a distinguished parliamentarian and has a brilliant record in church, historical and women's club work.

Striking in personality, Mrs. Byrne was awarded the signal honor—one of the greatest within the gift of Southern women—after long years of devotion and service to the organization.

Native of Old Virginia.

Born in Lewisburg, W. Va., then old Virginia, Mrs. Byrne was graduated from what now is Greenbriar College for Women. She lived at her birthplace until 1889, when she married William Eston Randolph Byrne, a member of the West Virginia bar. The newly married couple moved to Charleston.

Her father, who was born in Augusta County, Va., in 1840, began his military career as a cadet at Virginia Military Institute in 1856. He attended a medical college in Winchester, Va., and entered the Confederate service in June, 1861, with the rank of lieutenant in Company B, Twenty-second Virginia Infantry, at Ripley, W. Va. He was made a captain at the Battle of Lewisburg, and served as an assistant surgeon.

Mrs. Byrne is a member of the Charleston Chapter, U. D. C., and upon her election today received the honor with a modest bow and thanks to the organization. She was president of the West Virginia division for five years and in recognition of her achievement was made honorary president.

Other Officers Elected.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Amos H. Norris, Tampa, first vice president general; Mrs. Charles B. Farris, reelected second vice president general; Mrs. R. B. Broyles, Birmingham, Ala., third vice president general; Mrs. W. E. Massey, Hot Springs, Ark., reelected recording secretary; Mrs. L. U. Babin, Baton Rouge, La., corresponding secretary; Mrs. George Dismukes, Chickasaw, Okla., reelected treasurer general; Mrs. Lucy London Anderson, Raleigh, N. C., historian general; Mrs. Albert S. Porter, Lakewood, Ohio, reelected registrar general, and Mrs. John W. Goodwin, Philadelphia, Pa., reelected custodian of crosses of honor and service.

Mrs. J. L. Medlin, Jacksonville, was elected custodian of flags and pennants.

The convention honored the grandmother of Gen. Robert E. Lee when they named Mrs. Mary Custis Lee Debutts, of Upperville, Va., as an honorary president. Mrs. Debutts is the daughter of Robert E. Lee 2d. Mrs. James Henry Parker, New York City, also was chosen as an honorary president.

Schooner Westward Reported as Missing

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The schooner yacht Westward was nine days overdue at Lisbon, Portugal, today, causing deep concern to relatives of the socially prominent Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McAlpin Pyle, of New York, who are aboard. Others on the craft are Michael Cumberlidge, son of a retired British admiral, and Erasmus Jacobson, a sailor.

The yacht sailed from Gloucester, Mass., July 13. It left Saint-Malo, France, for Lisbon October 30. The Navy Department has asked all craft in the North Atlantic to be on the lookout for the yacht.

Cleric Suspension Cause Not Based on Politics

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Bishop John M. Moore, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, disclosed for the first time today that the suspension of the Rev. Rembert G. Smith, of Sparta, Ga., was not based on charges involving "politics."

The suspension was ordered for one year by the North Georgia Conference of the church, which met in Atlanta last week. The nature of the charges was held in secrecy. Aside from saying politics was not involved, Bishop Moore refused to throw more light on the suspension.

Maj. Sawders Will Give Talk on Mexico Tonight

"The Wonderland of Mexico" is the title of an illustrated lecture to be given by Maj. James C. Sawders as the second in a series of winter lectures of the National Geographic Society at the Washington Auditorium tonight.

Maj. Sawders spent his first holiday after the World War on a tramping tour in the countries of the Caribbean, and became so interested in Mexico that he has visited the country several times since. His newest lecture, supplemented with colored slides and motion pictures, shows vividly the land and its people. Maj. Sawders will also sketch the history of the Mayas, the Toltecs and the Aztecs as the background of his picture of Mexico today.

BOOTLEG LOANS END AS SPECULATION AID

Wall Street Bankers Refuse "Other Funds" as Factor in Stock Deals.

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—"Finis" was written to the story of the so-called "bootleg loans," as an important factor in the stock market, in today's weekly brokerage loan statement, issued by the Federal Reserve.

This item had shrunk to only $12,000,000, from a total of $162,000,000 a week previously, and nearly $4,000,000,000 two years ago. The latest drop reflected the action of the New York clearing house banks in refusing to handle this type of loan, as of last Monday.

These loans, reported as "other" loans in the statement, are loans made in the stock market for corporations and individuals. The total of $12,000,000 remaining was explained as representing unmatured time loans and loans placed by banks not members of the clearing house.

"Other loans" were sore spots on the whole brokerage loan controversy during the bull market orgy of 1929, when high call loan rates attracted a huge flow of funds from all over the country and abroad to finance marginal speculation. Banks held down their own loans to brokers, but the other loan item kept swelling until in October it reached a total close to $4,000,000,000, while the banks' own loans were about $2,800,000,000.

The drop of $150,000,000 in "other loans" during the past week was partly taken up by an increase of $70,000,000 in the loans made by New York banks, and a jump of $24,000,000 in loans made by out-of-town banks. The net drop in the loan total therefore was $56,000,000, reducing it to $775,000,000, the lowest in many years, and but a minor fraction of the record total of $6,801,000,000 reached in October of 1929.

With the other loan item virtually eliminated, it is expected that the banks now may have almost complete control over the call money, and be in a position to check speculative excesses in the future.

Since the New York Clearing House banks place the bulk of funds in the money market, bankers doubt that corporations and individuals will seek to place any volume of loans through the smaller nonclearing house institutions.

Fortunes Expected From 'Gold-Finder'

Maryland Man Is Almost Ready to Excavate for Hidden Riches.

St. Michaels, Md., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Frank Netteo expects to get rich any time now. All he needs is a new divining needle for his gold-hunting machine, and that is on the way from Texas.

Netteo declared there are six fortunes buried in Talbot County. The first he will seek is a chest of Spanish bullion buried before the Revolution on Rolles Range, a farm near here.

A Spanish nobleman, he insisted, courted Rolles' daughter, then sailed for Spain to arrange matters, leaving the chest buried on the farm. The nobleman and the key to the treasure were lost at sea. W. T. Tunis, present owner of the farm, has promised to split 50-50 with Netteo.

The fortune hunter, a shoemaker, worked four years to perfect his gold-hunting machine. Already he has found minor articles of value buried here, but he won't tell what they are.

Salvation Army on Devil's Island.

Manchester, England, Nov. 19 (A.P.). The Salvation Army is going to send men to Devil's Island, the French penal colony off the coast of Guiana, to work among prisoners sentenced to life exile, Gen. Edward J. Higgins, head of the army, said today.

MOONEY'S MOTHER THANKS WALKER

84-Year-Old Woman Trusts Bomber Will Be Freed From Prison.

San Francisco, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Mrs. Mary Mooney, 84-year-old mother of Tom Mooney, smiled with joy upon learning today that Mayor James Walker of New York is coming to California to plead for a pardon for her son who is serving a life sentence in San Quentin Prison.

"It is kind of him to come out and help a poor old woman save her son," she said.

Gov. James Rolph, jr., announced today that he would give Mayor Walker and Attorneys Frank P. Walsh and Aaron Sapiro, of New York a hearing in San Francisco December 1, at which he also would have present legal advisers.

Mooney was convicted of bombing a preparedness parade here in 1916 which resulted in 10 deaths and injury to 40 persons. Warren K. Billings also was convicted and is serving a life term in Folsom Prison.

The governor said he understood that Mayor Walker would call on him November 25 and be in the vicinity of San Francisco until December 1. The details of the hearing would be discussed at preliminary conferences at which it would be decided whether it would be a public or private affair, Rolph explained.

Mooney, in his prison cell, was elated at the turn of events. He has been informed that Mayor Walker and his party will call at the prison next week before going before the governor.

Mooney said: "I am highly appreciative of what my friends have done in prevailing on Mayor Walker to come out to see me and plead for me. It is a magnanimous act on Walker's part and I am very grateful to him."

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Mayor Walker turned time into reverse today as he prepared to assume the part of an attorney in a trahscontinental trip in behalf of Tom Mooney, who seeks a pardon from the Governor of California.

When he leaves tomorrow night for the Pacific Coast the mayor will drop his title and again become "counsel for the defense." He said he wanted it clearly understood that he is going only as a private citizen and associate of Frank P. Walsh, attorney for Mooney. He will serve without fee.

F. W. Stearns Named Member of Pope's Staff

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Foster Waterman Stearns, of Hancock, N. H., has been named privy chamberlain of the Cape and Sword and a member of the official staff of Pope Pius XI, it became known through church sources today.

Stearns is a former Episcopalian clergyman, a former member of the United States Diplomatic Corps and is the son of Frank W. Stearns, of Boston, counselor of former President Calvin Coolidge. He went to Rome a year ago to reorganize the Vatican library and now will have charge of arranging all audiences with Pope Pius.

Duker, Sr., Released Under $5,000 Bail

Baltimore Insurance Broker to Face Charges of Aiding Son to Escape.

Baltimore, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Herman S. Duker, Baltimore insurance broker and father of Herman W. Duker, condemned holdup slayer, furnished $5,000 bail today on charges he aided his son to escape after the crime last April.

Frederick V. Borden, vice president of the Seaboard Midland Petroleum Co., already has furnished like bail on a similar charge. James H. Foster, president of the petroleum company, has been summoned to show cause why he should not be included in the case.

It was charged Duker sent his son to New York, where he boarded an oil tanker for Los Angeles, after he had shot John W. Anderson to death in an attempted holdup. He then transferred money to the youth through the petroleum company business organization, it was charged. Young Duker, 21, has been sentenced to death for the crime and his companion, Dale Lambers, 19 sentenced to life imprisonment.

Jugoslavia Minister Resigns.

Navy Personnel Asked To Give Fund 3-Day Pay

Newport, R. I., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—A telegram, sent by Secretary of Navy Charles Francis Adams, to all naval vessels and stations, received here today suggested that all officers, enlisted men and civilian employes contribute three days' pay to local community chests for unemployment relief.

The waiver suspended a Navy regulation whereby solicitation of funds was prohbiited. The Secretary advises the various local commanders that the plan worked out by the Navy in the District of Columbia was being forwarded for their guidance.

Gavel From Constitution Presented to President

(Associated Press.)

A party of 33 motorists from four Southern States yesterday presented to President Hoover a gavel made from part of the timber of the rebuilt frigate Constitution.

On a tour to advocate what was called "a short route to Florida," the party ended its trip at the White House.

In the group were representatives from Brunswick, Ga.; Waterbury, Charleston, Kingstree and Florence, S. C.; Halifax, Smithfield, Weldon, Wilson and Rocky Mount, N. C., and Emporia, Va. The motor route would go through these points

Have you what is commonly called that Tired Feeling?

"I just can't go on"
. . . how often you hear this

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living * * * pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count * * * the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning * * * so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

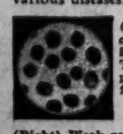
Helps you build New Red-Blood-Cells

"Mother, I do wish you were well and strong"

It is important to know that the red-blood-cells are the "ships" that sail in the blood stream and carry nourishment and oxygen to all parts of the body. Whenever the number is materially reduced, lowered vitality ensues and the system becomes more susceptible to the ravages of various diseases.



(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

(Right) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.

Don't let them count you out!

What Today Means to You

"SCORPIO."

IF November 20th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:50 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 11:30 to 1 p. m. and from 5:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

A favorable current of Fortune will be behind those who are starting out on life, this November 20th and if supplemented with earnest effort, they will be able to reach a higher peak than anticipated on the road to real success. An estrangement in the family is indicated, if a difference is not settled amicably.

The children born on this November 20th will have impulsive, restless natures, and will be seekers of the lighter side of life. They will be optimistic and hopeful, and Fate will assist them in their efforts. They will learn quickly, but will not be studious.

You are not a "do it now" person; you are a born procrastinator. You somehow are never in the mood for doing things until necessity forces you to action. You do your best work when sparring with time, and then you bring all your reserve forces to the front, and work with a demon-like zest which accomplishes things with double-quick speed. you never postpone your play or the things which you like to do. Temperament, not laziness, has made you what you are.

You have very strong likes and dislikes, and you humor your feelings.

You are too solicitious and mindful of "Number One," not to be selfish. You are only generous when your generosity does not cause you personal discomfort. You are very liberal with money, and you like to be thought a "jolly good fellow." There is sufficient vanity in your nature to make you a steady victim of clever flatterers.

You were not born under an unlucky star, and a majority of your efforts will be capped with success. As you are not a plodder, most things must come to you easily or not at all. There is a decided streak of adventure in your makeup, and life would bore you if it were too full of certainties. There is a degree of fickleness in your love nature, which will only be in evidence during the early part of your life. Middle age will find you a contented and much settled being.

Successful People Born November 20th:

2—Charles Chatterton—Boy poet.
4—Kenesaw M. Landis—Baseball commissioner.
5—Henry B. Dike—Lawyer.
6—Josiah Royce—Educator—Professor at Harvard.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

THE EYES AND MOVING PICTURES.

"WITHIN these reservations there is no more harm to the eyes in viewing the moving pictures with modern improved methods than there is any other normal use of the eyes." This is an opinion which comes from the League of Nations, and it is based upon an inquiry made of leading eye specialists all over the civilized world.

But what are the reservations? One is that the illumination must be good. That needs no special arguing. Good vision of any kind requires good illumination—enough light, but no glare. The next two reservations relate to the projection apparatus. Projection must not be faulty, and the machine must be properly operated. The next relates to the films. Old films that are specked, hazy, or badly worn are hard on the eyes and can cause eyestrain.

Another reservation relates to the position of the seat from which the picture is viewed. Hughes, a British medical health officer, will not permit children to sit in the front seats, since, from a close position, the picture is blurred and dazzling. Dr. Parke Lewis says children should not be allowed to sit in any but the best seats, and those are near the center of the hall and directly in front of the picture. If the seat is to one side the angle of vision is too sharp and the eyes are strained.

The last reservation is that the person concerned must have good vision. People who see poorly are likely to suffer eyestrain from looking at a moving picture, just as they do when they read, look out of a railroad train, visit an art gallery, or look at a landscape.

The general conclusion is that the movies present no insurmountable problem from the standpoint of eyestrain and fatigue. We are living in the midst of moving things. The constant adjustment of vision required when we see things moving around us is something of a strain on the eyes and nerves. Yet we do not consider it necessary to move into a still world as a matter of eye protection. We strain the eyes when we read for several hours daily, yet no one proposes that we stop reading to spare ourselves strain.

The movie is to be accepted as an institution—one that is somewhat on a plane with books and motion of people and things. As an institution it contributes somewhat to the wear and tear of life, but within reservations, not disproportionately.

TREATMENT OF OZENA.

A. M. writes: I seem to have that stubborn and humiliating disease of the nose called ozena. Can you offer any encouragement for a permanent cure? It has made me self-conscious and disinterested in things that I would let no barrier interfere with if I could have it cured.

REPLY.

Treatment of ozena is most unsatisfactory. I doubt if any nose specialist would promise much for any one of the several treatments. Deodorants are of considerable service.

IT IS POSSIBLE.

L. A. writes: Could a dye used in small quantity in coloring the hair cause a loss of vision in one eye? The condition is supposed to have come from the tonsils.

REPLY.

Jane Interprets the MODE

New York, Nov. 19.

NO less an authority than the famous house of Worth in Paris wrote me recently, and the letter is so interesting an exposition of the reasons for the decided differences of this season that I'm just going to quote.

Part of my letter says: "It is unfortunate that many of the fashion-hunting sleuths who come to Paris do not recognize new things when they see them, nor recognize the subtle differences which make a model either this or that. They look for the obvious and exaggerated. Hence all the varied reports: There is nothing new; everything is new, etc., etc. I firmly believe that they thought Paris would put us all in hoop skirts and shawls for the street, with dresses mopping up the dust. When they found that this was not so; that skirts were two inches longer only, straight for morning or sports clothes and flaring for late afternoon; that sleeves had moderate puffs at the elbow or cuffs there instead of at the wrist, and not the leg-o-mutton of our mothers they said 'Nothing new!'

"Paris clothes are practical wearable and new in detail, and some of them are new in silhouette, but you will see no exaggerated theatrical mode here. For the evening, that is different! One may wear what one likes, and there is no necessity for following one line only—for variety lends enchantment to the evening mode."

There, isn't that interesting, not only to get first hand information about the conflicting reports we've had, but to get it from such an authoritative source?

Quaint as a minuet of yesteryear are some of the evening gowns of today, and one of the quaintest is the frock illustrated today, from Martial et Armand. It's made of mauve lace, appliqued with little violet velvet figures, and with a tiny metal thread over its surface. The jacket of violet velvet has ruffles of the mauve lame' lace on the sleeves, and the shirred velvet muff has its own perky little bow. A little circular section does its part as a dainty bustle, and the girdle, tied in back, is of violet velvet.

The frock is very lovely, as you can see, but it's one of those things that you have to be exactly the type to wear! Otherwise, the frock and you will be faintly ridiculous.

How would you like to make a sofa cushion ensemble? And new drapes? And the best looking and acting table runners you EVER saw? Well, just send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Post for the illustrated leaflet that tells you how to make these things, and set to! Remember—Christmas has a way of sneaking up on one, so better start now making a few presents for others—AND yourself.

Au revoir!

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

A Father But!

DEAR Frances MacDonald: I have a problem which I wish you would try to solve for me.

I fell for a man—love at first sight, I guess. That was about a year ago. I had a feeling for him that I never had for any other man. Then I found that he was married, had a son about 5 years old, but hadn't lived with his wife for three years. I thought that would make me forget him, but I couldn't seem to. About last September I met him one noon when I was going down town with a large bundle. He turned around and picked me up. (I had never "picked up" like that with a fellow before, nor since). He was very nice. The same week the same thing happened again, and he said he wished he could take me farther. I didn't make any answer—I didn't trust myself. Then I didn't see him for quite awhile—his working hours were odd.

One noon I was going home to dinner and he picked me up and took me home, asking me for a date. I refused, saying he was a married man, but he made no answer. Several times he asked me like that, even coming up to see if he could meet me at noon to take me back to work. Then I didn't see him for quite a while but couldn't seem to forget him.

I saw him a while ago and went out with him. He was very nice to me. The last time I saw him—about a week ago—the second time I was out with him—he said he had "learned to love me a lot since he first met me," &c. I really love him.

Now he says as soon as he can raise the money his wife is going to get a divorce and then he can't marry for two years, but "he has to know a girl two years to know whether he really loves her, or not."

He has just left on a two weeks' vacation and just before he left he came and said good-by. Later he came in with a ring and asked me to wear it for him. I refused, asking if he couldn't understand, and he did, but asked me to wait for him.

I'm 19 and he's about 25 or 30, I think.

What would you advise doing?

He has gone away to forget what has happened he said, because he made a mistake—with another woman—and wants to start clean when he comes back.

Please advise me at once either in a personal note on your page (as I imagine this is too long to be printed) because he'll be home soon.

My dear, you seem to be on the wrong side of the road and going against the signals. Here is a man whose obligations weigh pretty lightly upon him. He has not even the price of a divorce, a son he should be supporting, an affair with some other woman, and a pleasing flirtation with you all running concurrently and quite airly through his days. And he still finds time for a bit of curb cruising; does he sound really "regular" to you? To us he sounds very awfully cheap and worthless. What about this child of his? If he can not pay for a divorce, how can he support a second wife and the children she would surely have? And who would support this first child? Its mother? Quite likely. And your children would be supported by their mother. And this third woman in the life of your enterprising pick-up. Where does she come in? He made a "mistake"—whatever that may mean. Does it mean another child somewhere? And what about you when you have become in his eyes just another "mistake?"

Sylvia, few people on earth are any more broad-minded or sophisticated than the writer of these few words of advice, so you may take them as the unprejudiced opinion of experience with a capital E. And our advice is to forget this lightweight and discontinue the practice of stepping into the cars of strange men.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

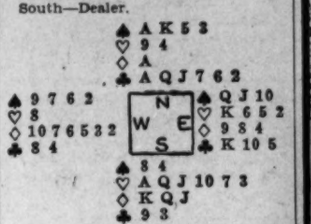
CAPTURING A KING.

UNFAVORABLE distribution defeats many apparently safe contracts at Bridge. Often, however, unfavorable distribution can be defeated and the player triumphantly fulfills his contract if in the early stages of play he will devote the thought and consideration to the play that too often is delayed until the post mortem is held over a dead and disappointing hand.

If fate has been unkind in the distribution, it may be just her way of showing favor. Frequently it is a means of getting added pleasure out of the play because the player who meets and copes successfully with unusual situations reaps a reward in satisfaction that can never come to the mere player of Aces and Kings.

North-South vulnerable.
South—Dealer.



The Bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♡	Pass	3♣	Pass
3♡	Pass	3♠	Pass
4♡	Pass	6♡	Pass
Pass	Pass

The bidding requires no particular comment. The combined hands of North and South account for the vast majority of the outstanding honor-tricks, and the distribution is such as to reinforce the probabilities of a Slam.

West, from his hopeless holding, opened a diamond and South saw that to make his contract he must apparently get a 50-50 average on his finesses. He therefore led the 9 of hearts, upon which East played the 2, South played the 7 and West the 8. So far so good. The finesse had won, but there was an element in the play that did not fill the Declarer with elation. If West had not false-carded (that is, played a higher card when holding a lower one of the suit), then East still held the King thrice guarded, and there remained but one trump in the Dummy to lead through the King. This would seem to leave East with a certain trump trick and many players, when they tried the club finesse and it also lost, would have conceded defeat, but not so South.

South led the second round of hearts and his fears as to the trump situation were confirmed. West failed to follow and South now led a club, taking the essential finesse in that suit. If this won, all that was necessary would be to concede East the King of hearts and South's contract was made. However, East won the trick with the King and returned a diamond South won and led another club, taking in the Dummy with the Ace. Now the Queen of clubs was led and South proceeded to show the way to catch a well-guarded King.

He trumped the trick, although North's card was high. The Dummy was reentered with a spade honor, and another good club was led and trumped. South now led his last spade, and when East followed his troubles were over. Another club was led from Dummy, but nothing could now save East's King. To trump would be to permit South to overtrump and then pick up the King with the Ace. East saw he was in a vise from which there was no escape, due to South's accurate play.

The double Grand Coup had again been successfully achieved.

TODAY'S POINTER.

Question—Why is it advisable to open with a suit bid, if possible?

Answer—It gives partner a more definite picture of the bidder's hand and he can more readily determine the strength of the combined hands.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a 2-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

The Martha Washington Geranium.

A CLOSE relative of the common or zonal geranium is the pelargonium (Pelargonium domesticum) of which the Martha Washington geranium is the most familiar example.

This variety does not produce as many flowers as does the common geranium, but the trusses are larger and more gorgeous. As a rule, these plants are grown so they will bloom in May or June, but they may be had in bloom for Easter if they are started into growth earlier.

When the plants have finished flowering, you must remove the old flower stalks and set the plants outdoors in the sun. While outdoors, give them little water, which will enable them to ripen their wood and have a much-needed rest.

In September they should be pruned, removingg all soft or weak shoots. Then repot them into a smaller-sized pot. Be sure, when repotting, that you shake all the soil from the roots. After they have been transplanted, they must be thoroughly watered and placed in some semishady place until late in the fall. About the end of October they may be brought into the house. In early January they should again be transplanted.

From the time you bring them indoors until you repot them in January, give them only a small amount of water. As they begin to grow, pinch the ends out of the shoots in order to have the plants become shapely. It is well during this time to remove any weak shoots that may develop. In February cease pinching them back.

From their final transplanting until after they have flowered, they will require liquid manure about once in three weeks. While developing buds, the plants must be given all the sun possible. Keep them in a southern window and water them every day.

A soil composed of good garden loam, sand and manure in equal parts suits them best.

Martha Washington geraniums are almost sure, while they are in the house, to be attacked by red spiders or aphids. A weak solution of nicotine will soon rout these enemies.

PIGS IN BLANKET.

Pigs in Blanket — Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Beets
Bread — Plum Jelly
Cabbage Salad in Gelatin
Date Cookies — Apple Sauce
Coffee

Pigs in Blanket.

18 large oysters
9 slices of bacon
6 pieces toast
6 sprigs parsley

Cut bacon slices in halves. Fasten bacon around oysters, holding in place with toothpicks. Place on pan and broil until bacon is crisp. Baste frequently. Arrange on toast and garnish with the parsley.

Cabbage Salad in Gelatin

1 package lemon flavored gelatin mixture
1¾ cups boiling water
¼ cup vinegar
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 cups chopped cabbage
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped pimentos

Pour water over the gelatin mixture. Stir until dissolved. Add vinegar and sugar and mix well. Cool and allow to thicken a little. Add rest of ingredients. Pour into mold and chill. Unmold on lettuce and top with salad dressing or mayonnaise.

Date Cookies.

1 cup fat
2 cups light brown sugar
3 eggs
1-3 cup milk
1 cup chopped dates
1 cup chopped nuts
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda

Cream the fat and sugar. Add eggs and milk. Beat 3 minutes. Add rest of ingredients. Chill dough. Drop tablespoonful of dough onto greased pans and bake 12 minutes in moderate oven.

Apple Sauce.

4 cups sliced apples
2 cups water
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Boil apples and water 10 minutes in open kettle. Add sugar. Boil 4 minutes. Stir frequently. Pour into glass bowl. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Serve warm or cold.

Forestry Notebooks Are on Exhibit Here

An exhibition of nearly 2,000 forestry notebooks prepared by the children of the fifth and sixth grades in the schools of Washington, is on display at the National Museum in competition for forestry medals awarded annually by the American Forestry Association.

The contest is sponsored by the nature study teachers of the District of Columbia schools and the Parent-Teacher Association, with Miss Esther Scott directing.

Waterbury, Conn., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The Connecticut League of Women Voters today voted, 67 to 49, to delete the subject of birth control from its study program for the coming year.

SHRINE PLANS DRIVE FOR U. S. AIR SPEED

$16,000,000 Foundation Is Formed to Bring Back World's Record.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—A bid to regain for the United States the air speed supremacy of the world was begun here tonight with formation of a $16,000,000 aviation speed foundation by the Shriners of North America.

Announcement of formation of the foundation was made by Robert A. Bishop, Morris E. Miller and Ralph K. Rex, Shriners, who incorporated it under the laws of Ohio after several months of preparation.

The plans received the unqualified approval of Thomas J. Houston, imperial potentate. Houston will fly to Cleveland Saturday from Wheeling, W. Va., to discuss organization plans and to name an acting chairman, board of directors and advisory committee. Houston will take the post of honorary chairman.

The total fund of $16,000,000 is to be raised over a five-year period on the basis of $2 individual contributions from each member.

The foundation has the difficult task of overcoming a gap of 142 miles an hour that now exists between the American air speed record of 266.6 miles an hour set by Lieut. Alford J. Williams in 1923 and the world's speed mark of 408.8 established in England by Flight Lieut. G. H. Stainforth, of the Royal Flying Corps.

Indorsement of the plan, foundation incorporators said, had been given by United States Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, president of the National Aeronautic Association; Lieut. Williams and Maj. James H. Doolittle, holder of the transcontinental speed record.

Cleveland, headquarters of the national air races, will also become national headquarters of the foundation, which states its aims as "supremacy in speed" and "national security."

Summerall Backed In Congress Race

Florida Neighbors Urge the Former Chief of Staff to Run.

Eustis, Fla., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Friends and neighbors of Gen. Charles P. Summerall, who recently retired as chief of staff of the Army, met here last night and decided to ask him to enter the race as representative-at-large from Florida.

The post of representative-at-large will give Florida five representatives instead of the present four. The Legislature failed to redistrict the State following the last census and thus the fifth member will be named at large.

Speakers at the meeting said they believed Gen. Summerall would accede to the wishes of the people and become a candidate. He now is serving as president of the Citadel, Charleston, S. C., Military School. After his retirement from the Army he expressed the desire to live out his life in the lake country of Florida.

Will Rogers Sends Cure To Hiccoughs Victim

Mansfield, Ohio, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Will Rogers added his favorite cure today to the hundreds of remedies suggested to help Ira A. King recover from the hiccoughs that have left him helpless for the past twelve days. Telegraphing from his Beverly Hills, Calif., home, the humorist suggested oil of cloves.

Meanwhile, physicians said they noted signs of improvement in King's condition, enough to permit him to take nourishment for the second time since his attack began. A dozen bushel baskets at King's home are filled with letters and telegrams telling of "sure" remedies. Many of them have been tried without avail.

Stolen Capital Auto Costs 5 Years.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Francis H. Cox, 32, of Charleston, S. C., pleaded guilty in Federal court here today of transporting an automobile, stolen in Washington, to South Carolina and then to West Virginia. He was sentenced to five years in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta.

Young Reynolds Sued for Divorce

North Carolina Heiress Enters Suit Against Tobacco Magnate Scion.

Reno, Nev., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Ann Cannon Reynolds, young North Carolina heiress, filed suit here today for a divorce from Smith Reynolds, son of the late tobacco magnate. She charged extreme cruelty.

Two of North Carolina's wealthiest families were united by the marriage of Miss Cannon and Reynolds at York, S. C., on November 16, 1929, when both were still in their 'teens. Differences caused them to separate a short time thereafter, however, and last August Reynolds is said to have settled about $1,000,000 on his wife and their daughter, Ann Cannon Reynolds 2d. This property settlement was referred to in the complaint filed today, but its terms, which the court will be asked to approve, were kept secret.

Mrs. Reynolds is expected to testify that Reynolds was cold and neglectful and that his conduct injured her health and destroyed their happiness.

Two Mexicans Held On Counterfeit Charge

Laredo, Tex., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Two suspected counterfeiters were arrested at Monterey, Mexico, today by Mexican authorities on charges of coining spurious American dollars. The officers said they seized equipment for turning Mexican silver pesos and bullion into bogus American coins.

The men gave their names as Jose Acosta Gonzalez and Trujillo Jiminez. Another man was being sought as the distribution agent. He was reported to have exchanged 65 counterfeit dollars recently at Nuevo Laredo.

Man, Shot Through Head By Two Robbers, Lives

Chicago, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Philip Hoffberg, 35, wealthy retired professional bondsman, was shot through the head today by two robbers, who then took $100 from his pockets and escaped.

At a hospital authorities expressed surprise that Hoffberg was able to walk and talk, although the bullet had entered his forehead, pierced the skull and emerged at the back of the head.

Grape Products Co. Abandons Appeal

New York Firm Pays Fine and Will Abandon Its New Formula.

Kansas City, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The Ukiah Grape Products Co., Inc., of New York, dropped its appeal today from conviction on a charge of violating the national prohibitory law in the sale of grape concentrate and paid a fine of $700.

Leslie I. Lyons, attorney for the corporation, also paid a fine of $250 assessed against Albert E. Brunett, manager of the Ukiah Kansas City office at the time prohibition agents seized some of the company's product.

Lyons said the company accepted as final the decision of Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis that the sale of grape concentrate for wine making is unlawful. The formula under which the grape concentrate involved in the charges was manufactured would be abandoned, he added.

Never parched, never toasted—

"You needn't tell me —I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

CAMELS are FRESH with natural freshness!

IN THE last eight months the smokers of the world have tasted for the first time the flavorful delights of a fresh cigarette.

You can thank the Camel Humidor Pack for that, but even more you can thank the fine Turkish and mild sun-ripened Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended.

Tobaccos of this choice and costly kind are naturally smooth, cool, palatable—violent processing could only rob them of their delicate fragrance and aroma.

So we never parch or toast these fine tobaccos, but vigilantly safeguard their every goodness—hence they retain natural moisture and flavors that otherwise would be lost.

The Camel Humidor Pack means much to Camel smokers because it insures that this fine and fresh cigarette is kept always fine and fresh, and comes to you in prime smoking condition.

To see how greatly natural freshness adds to smoking pleasure, switch to Camels for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

PRISON FOOTBALL NEWS.

SING SING'S prison football team has achieved its ambition. It has secured a game with a police department eleven. Both sides have asked that there be no penalties for any roughness that fails to draw blood.

* * * *

The most dejected men in the prison are the boys who failed to get on the varsity. Several convicts who were freed before the football schedule was announced are now determined to get back and make the team.

* * * *

Warden Lawes' idea in allowing football at Sing Sing was to make prison life more attractive. The game with the police will make it practically irresistible.

* * * *

Three fugitives have already offered to come in and give themselves up if the warden will only let them play as tackles for one period.

LATEST SING SING BULLETINS.

FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION, Sing Sing—With few exceptions the Sing Sing varsity team is in good shape for the coming battle. "Spike" McGorty, full back, may not be able to play, however, as he is on the injured list. "Spike" was shot four times by a guard during a threatened uprising yesterday. He insists he will be able to play in part of the game, however.

"Red" McGillikan, left end, was not at practice today. He was slugged by a keeper last night, but expects to be around again within a day or two, unless slugged again.

Protests have been received against two back-field men on the ground they starred at Joliet before coming here. Both men denied the charge of professionalism. "We never played at Joliet," they said. "It was at Leavenworth and Wethersfield."

"Six-Gun" Monahan will not be used as a ball carrier in the coming game, the coaches announced, because of his poor showing last week. Monahan had a clear field and was away for a touchdown, when a tire exploded outside the grounds. He immediately dropped the ball and threw up his hands.

"Monk" Halloway, one of the institution's best guards, has also been taken from the squad. "Monk" was knocked out in a recent game, and the surgeon who came on the field to treat him reported later that his instrument case had been stolen.

COACHES are still investigating the disappearance of the timekeeper's watch in the last contest, just after he had exhibited it in determining how many minutes remained to be played.

MONTGOMERY AIDS MEMORIAL FUND

Appropriation of $1,250 Is Passed by Commission for Washington Memorial.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9160 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday adopted a resolution authorizing the appropriation of $1,250 to the organization fund of the George Washington Memorial Parkway Commission. The appropriation was authorized after the commissioners received a request from the two Montgomery County members of the commission, Maj. E. Brooke Lee and Oliver Owen Kuhn. A similar appropriation is to be asked from the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

The object of the association is to raise funds to provide an appropriate parkway in the main valley of the Potomac River from Mount Vernon to the Great Falls of the Potomac in honor of the memory of George Washington. Funds for the development are to be raised in a campaign throughout the country for voluntary contributions.

Millions Are Needed.

The Montgomery County resolution points out that the county, because of its expenditure for the development of Rock Creek Park, Cabin John Run Park, Sligo Valley Park and the Montgomery County Park in the valley of the Northwest Branch of the Anacostia will be unable to materially aid in the raising of the millions of dollars necessary for the project, although the county commissioners realize the great benefits which will accrue to the county in the realization of the project.

Nearby Virginia will be asked to contribute to the organization fund also.

The annual report of J. Forest Walker, county treasurer, for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1930, and ending June 30, 1931, was received and ordered filed in the records of the clerk of the circuit court as provided by law. The report showed expenditures of $3,232,055.76 and a balance on hand of $226,217.57 on July 1, 1931. The total receipts of the year, including a balance on hand of July 1, 1930, of $674,580.06, were $3,458,273.33, the report shows.

County Changes Made.

The commissioners directed that Maj. Harry D. Williar, chief engineer of the Maryland State Roads Commission, be requested to direct the contractor in charge of construction of the Frederick road through Gaithersburg to use quick drying cement at driveways and in the aprons of street intersections so that the public will be inconvenienced as little as possible. The commissioners also requested the State roads commission to change the contract from back to back to 36 feet wide face to face on the road at the cost of $275 more as agreed between Commissioner John B. Diamond and the contractor, the extra cost to be paid by the county.

The commissioners approved the recommendation of County Engineer Harry B. Shaw that fourteen ornamental lighting standards be purchased from the Frederick Iron & Steel Co. at a cost of $34.50 per standard, or a total of $483. The standards are to be used in lighting the courthouse square at Rockville.

The board conferred with the members of the board of assessors for Montgomery County, A. Hempstone Griffith, chairman; R. E. Hamilton and Maj. Phil D. Poston, and with M. J. Lindsay, who represented the State tax commission of Maryland, regarding the methods of procedure in beginning the assessment of the Seventh Election District or Bethesda District, which is the first to be assessed under the new five-year plan.

Movies in Hyattsville Net $1,500 for Charity

The charity movies in Hyattsville Wednesday netted about $1,500, it was announced yesterday. The money will be turned over to the unemployment committee of the town council, which will allot it to various charitable organizations for distribution.

Four shows were held in the Arcade Theater, which was donated by Sydney Lust, who also furnished the film without charge. Employes donated their services.

Hitting Policeman Costs $50; Motorcycle, $130

E. L. Broadway, of Mount Graham, S. C., whose automobile struck and injured Policeman James Bayliss while the latter was responding to a call on July 27 last, was fined $50 by Acting Police Justice Harry F. Kennedy in the Alexandria Police Court yesterday for failure to give the right of way to a police car.

In the civil court, later, Broadway was assessed $130 for damages to the officer's motorcycle. An appeal was noted in the civil case.

LUTHER S. NALLS DIES.

Alexandria Resident Was Struck by Auto Two Weeks Ago.

Luther S. Nalls, 74 years old, died yesterday at the Alexandria Hospital, death being due to pneumonia. About two weeks ago Mr. Nalls was struck by an automobile, but was apparently recovering from his injuries when pneumonia developed. He was a native of Loudoun County, and for several years past had been employed by the city. He is survived by three sons and five daughters.

The body was taken yesterday to the home of his son, Ralph Nalls, 217 South Lee street, in Alexandria, where funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery, Alexandria.

HOSTESSES FOR COUNTY DANCE

These three girls will be hostesses at a dance given by the Seat Pleasant Fire Department tonight at the Beaverdam Country Club. Left to right, they are Miss Helen Fisher, daughter of Councilman Edwin Fisher; Mrs. Gladys M. Crown and Miss Gladys Gregory. Receipts will be used to buy a fire engine.

CHURCHMEN TO LAY CORNER STONE TODAY

Hoover and Pollard Invited to Attend Rites at Pohick Church.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST. P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va. Phone Fairfax 166.

The corner stone of the vestry house of the old historic Pohick Church on Washington-Richmond highway, about 15 miles south of Alexandria, Va., will be laid this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The ceremonies will be under direction of the Washington Masonic Lodge, No. 22, of Washington, with Dr. Macon Ware, of Falls Church, district deputy grand master, present.

Invitations have been extended to President Hoover and Gov. John Garland Pollard, to take part in the ceremonies. The religious services will be in charge of Bishop Henry St. George Tucker and Bishop Coadjutor F. B. Goodwin, of the Episcopal Church of Virginia, assisted by a vested choir from the Episcopal Theological Seminary at Alexandria.

A short talk by Bishop Tucker will open the exercises at the church followed by a review of the history of Pohick Church by Charles H. Callahan, of Alexandria.

After the services in the church the processional to the site of the corner stone laying will be led by the vested choir and the present members of Truro Parish, followed by distinguished guests, with Louis Hertle, of Gunston Hall, acting as official escort. Workmen engaged in the erection of the vestry house will precede the representatives of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Virginia, with Dr. Macon Ware in charge, and the Washington Masonic Lodge, with E. J. Skidmore, grand master, in charge. The Rev. C. A. Langston, rector of the church, and the visiting rectors and Bishops Tucker and Goodwin will close the procession.

School children of Mount Vernon and Lee districts will be permitted to attend the corner stone ceremonies, a holiday being granted them by Superintendent Wilber T. Woodson.

If Gov. Pollard attends the ceremony, he will be assisting in carrying out plans abandoned in 1774 by the vestry of Truro Parish, which included in its membership Thomas Pollard, an ancestor of the present governor.

Relief Funds' Split Will Be Discussed

Maryland and Virginia Towns Ask Share in Federal Collection.

Nearby Maryland and Virginia communities will be represented at a meeting this morning at the State, War and Navy Building by the executive committee of President Hoover's departmental relief committee. The nearby communities are interested in determining the part of the funds donated by Federal employes to be received by the communities in which the donors live.

The meeting follows adoption of a resolution Monday night by the interfederation conference, representing the civic federations of Greater Washington, asking that money donated by Federal workers be distributed in the communities in which they live.

Senator Millard E. Tydings and Representative David Lewis will represent Maryland. Lacy Shaw, president of the board of Montgomery County commissioners; Dr. J. W. Bird, president of the Montgomery County Social Service League, and Frederic P. Lee, president of the Montgomery County Civic Federation, will represent Montgomery County.

ARLINGTON LEAGUE HOLDS CELEBRATION

F. G. Campbell Addresses Organization Held at Windsor Arms.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST. Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Having been successful at the recent county election in the election of four of the five candidates which had the indorsement of the Arlington County Better Government League for membership on the county Board, the league gave a dinner last night at Windsor Arms, Glebe road, in honor of the occasion with the five successful candidates as their guests.

The exercises opened with the invocation given by Walter K. Handy, with the president, Robert N. Anderson, acting as toastmaster.

Frank G. Campbell, in a few brief remarks, gave the story of the organization which was perfected early in June.

The members of the board attending were Mrs. Elizabeth Barron Magruder, from Ballston; Lyman M. Kelley, from Clarendon; Fred A. Gosnell, from Country Club Hills; Harry A. Fellows, from Falls Church, and John C. Gall, from Aurora Hills.

The members of the board, all of whom had the indorsement of the league save Mr. Kelley, when called upon by the president expressed the sincere thanks for the support of the league and assured all present that it would be their sole aim to treat the county as a unit and to aid in its future development to the best of their ability.

Having accomplished its purpose, the league at the conclusion of the meeting dissolved.

Mrs. Florence E. Cannon, of Arlington, Arlington County, left yesterday for Danville, Pa., to attend the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Agnes Vanderbilt Trumlover, widow of Henry M. Trumlover, captain of Infantry, 117th Pennsylvania Volunteers, and a member of the G. A. R.

According to the records in the county clerk's office of Arlington County, the charter granted by the State Corporation Commission, May 27, 1931, to the Copee Duplicate Corporation has been dissolved.

FREUDBERG OBSEQUIES.

Long Time Resident of Washington Will Be Buried Today.

Funeral services for Shuler Freudberg, who died after an extended illness at Georgetown University Hospital yesterday afternoon, will be held this afternoon at 1:30 at the Adas Israel Hebrew Congregation, Sixth and I streets northwest. Interment will be in Adas Israel Cemetery.

Mr. Freudberg was born in Germany 80 years ago and was a resident of this city for the past 25 years. He was a member of the Adas Israel Congregation and the B'nai B'rith, and lived at 3515 Rittenhouse street northwest.

He is survived by four sons, Leopold V. Freudberg, of this city; Herman Freudberg, of Philadelphia, Pa.; Aaron Freudberg, of Miami, Fla., and Bernard Freudberg, of Los Angeles, Calif., and three daughters, Mrs. Celia Schulz, Miss Dora Freudberg and Miss Annette Freudberg, of this city.

C. L. REESE RITES SET.

Capital Resident Will Be Buried Tomorrow in Fort Lincoln.

Funeral services for Clarence L. Reese, who died after a short illness at Sibley Hospital yesterday, will be held from his late residence, 615 Ninth street northeast, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Mr. Reese was born in Madison County, N. C., 32 years ago and was a a resident of this city since 1903. He was a clerk in the Veterans' Administration for the past thirteen years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Virginia Reese; his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Reese; five brothers, Lloyd P., Omer R., Hershell S., Lester H., and Hobart M. Reese, and two sisters, Mrs. Mildred E. Knox and Mrs. Vera I. Kirchman, all of this city.

Rites Held For Mrs. Purvis.

Funeral services for Mrs. Eloise B. Ashby Purvis, widow of the late Dr. William R. Purvis, will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Robert M. Reese, 517 Cameron street, in Alexandria, by the Rev. William Jackson Morton, rector of Christ Episcopal Church. Interment will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery, Alexandria.

ALEXANDRIA NEEDS $10,000 FOR SCHOOLS

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU, 907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va. Phone Alexandria 523.

At the meeting of the city council yesterday the financial report of the city for October was submitted. It showed a cash balance October 1 of $17,254.07, budget receipts of $46,017.44 and other receipts of $2,233.70, or total receipts of $65,505.21. The disbursements were: Budget, $34,518.89; other disbursements of $5,549.74, or total disbursements of $40,068.63, leaving a cash balance on hand November 1 of $25,436.58.

A resolution appropriating $1,354.53 for the purpose of paying for labor and materials for the installation of fire hydrants on Washington street, introduced at the last meeting, was adopted.

A communication from the Rev. C. Morgan Compher, explaining a previous request for a permit to sell Bicentennial pins and buttons was received, in which he stated his purpose was to have these sold by members of the Sunday school class, except that during the actual Bicentennial celebration they would be sold to visitors on request. Permission was granted for such sale, with the condition that they were not to be sold on the street.

Gilbert J. Cox, jr., submitted a request for an emergency appropriation of $10,000 for the Alexandria public schools, to replace a like amount eliminated from the current budget. He explained that $5,226 had been expended by the school board for painting the various school buildings and for remodeling the old Community Center Building in Potomac for school purposes, and that the additional amount of $4,774 is required to make good a deficit. The communication was ordered received and held over under the rules.

The city manager submitted an estimate of cost of a number of sewers, amounting to $25,830, which was held for consideration with the 1932 budget. The annual budget was introduced and held over under the rules for further consideration, this being in the form of an ordinance. An application of Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., for the purchase of a new automobile was also held for consideration with the new budget.

Officers of No. 2 Engine Company, of Potomac, appeared before the council and urged the immediate purchase of a larger siren for No. 2 engine and also that a traffic light be placed at Mount Vernon and Windsor avenues, which was described as a dangerous intersection. The purchase of the siren was authorized, and the city manager instructed to look into the matter of the traffic light.

Kiwanis Trial Nets Charities Fund $100

Donation Is Taken From Two Members as Fine in Alexandria.

Conviction of the defendants at a mock trial which featured the ladies' night of the Kiwanis Club of Alexandria last night resulted in a $100 fine being assessed by Harry F. Kennedy, acting as judge, which financial penalty was turned over to the Alexandria United Charities as a donation of the club.

The mimic defendants were Preston Merchant and Thomas M. Jones and stood accused of fighting in the George Mason Hotel, in which the affair was held. Police Capt. John Arnold of the city acted in his official capacity; Elliott F. Hoffman took the part of counsel for the defendant; Irwin Diener, prosecuting attorney, Doll Zirkle, manager of the hotel, was complaining witness.

When the verdict was announced, the guilty men appealed to Roger Sullivan, president of the club, to come to their aid and he did so. The money was presented by the court to Thomas Chauncey, treasurer of the charities group, in the name of the Kiwanis Club, Kiwanis District Governor John F. Hutchison, of Manassas, and Mrs. Hutchison were honor guests of the evening.

Wife-Beating Case Too Big, Lawyers Assure Prisoner

Ordinarily, the decorum of the Montgomery County Circuit Court, at Rockville, Md., is unassailable. George Kemp, of Barnesville, yesterday drew for himself the distinction of disturbing the gravity of the court, in one of the few instances in the history of that tribunal.

Appearing before Judges Robert B. Peter and Arthur D. Willard in an appeal from a police court conviction, he was asked by Judge Peter if he had secured the services of a lawyer. "No, sir; your honor," he replied, with all seriousness, "I took it up with four of them, but the case was too big for them."

The court and the spectators and attaches all suffered from uncontrolable laughter.

The judge advised him that he had better obtain a lawyer before appearing to defend himself on wife-beating charges.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

SOMETHING of the severity with which the prevalent period of depression has affected the actor may be gathered from the announcement by Equity that for the first time in twelve years the Equity Annual Ball will not be held this year.

The first Equity Ball was the product of war time. It was held while the great actors' strike of 1919 was at its height, both as a matter of propaganda for Equity and to help fill the organization's treasury. It was continued for several years on the same basis, but in 1928 the actuating motive back of the enterprise underwent an almost complete metamorphosis. For the next three years the Equity Ball was made an annual party, exclusively restricted to Equity members and their friends with no tickets purchasable by nonmembers.

Naturally, the continuance of the ball on this basis was contingent upon the actor's ability to support it and make it pay its own way. Existing conditions in the American theater have placed such a severe strain upon the resources of a majority of the country's actors that the annual party is looked upon as an unwarranted extravagance to which Equity members should not at this time be subjected.

And the tough part of it all is that the Council of the Association gives no assurance whatever that the ball ever will be revived as a yearly fixture on Broadway.

It is just barely possible that there may be more than meets the eye in Variety's announcement that vaudeville will be resumed around the first of the year at the RKO-Keith Theater in this city, formerly B. F. Keith's.

Negotiations looking to that end have been quietly going forward for several months, RKO officials, to my personal knowledge, having on more than one occasion held lengthy powwows with representatives of the stage hands union, the musicians union and others vitally concerned in the reestablishment of a policy that somehow seems part and parcel of the Fifteenth street property, where it prevailed with signal success for so many years.

How far these dickerings may have progressed I have no way of knowing, but where there is so much smoke it is safe at least to suspect that there may be a little fire. Personally, I wouldn't mind if it burst right out into flame!

It is pleasant to record that the Drama Guild of Washington, probably the Capital's nearest approach to a resident professional acting group, finds itself confronted with the prospect of two capacity houses when it presents "The Trial of Mary Dugan" in the Wardman Park Theater tonight and tomorrow night.

I am informed that tonight is already virtually a sell-out and that seats are three-fourths gone for tomorrow evening's performance—and neither house has been "papered."

This is particularly gratifying to this column, since our office mate, Mr. Thomas Matthew Cahill, formerly of the George C. Tyler, George M. Cohan and Arthur Hopkins forces, and a member of our reviewing staff, Miss Dorothea Lewis, both are importantly cast in "Mary Dugan."—(Adv.)

Presumably you have it straight about what's going on at the RKO-Keith house. In case not, Phillips Lord, as Seth Parker, in "Way Back Home," does not vacate the screen today, as ordinarily would occur, but will continue through next Tuesday.

On Wednesday of next week, "Suicide Fleet" will come into RKO-Keith's as the Thanksgiving attraction and will continue until a week from the following Friday, when, as I understand it, the regular Friday changes of bill will be resumed.

By that time you will be wondering, "Are These Our Children?"

This putting on a show after the conclusion of his regular performance—as he has been doing this week at the Belasco—is an old trick of Al Jolson's.

An occasion many years ago when he was playing the same theater in a musical vehicle, the name of which has entirely escaped me, comes vividly back to mind. Jolson's part in the production was blackface, but he washed up in an incredibly short time and reappeared during the finale clad in dinner jacket and impeccably groomed to sing a long list of ballads widely at variance with the sort of numbers he was featuring professionally at the time, following the theoretical fall of the final curtain.

Perhaps you can estimate how long ago it was from the fact that all of the accompaniments were played by the late Melville Ellis, a pianologue artist of note, who also was a member of the cast.

What year was it, Al?

And while you are at it, what year was it that you brought Gaby Delys to Washington for the first time and Harry Pilcer didn't have such a happy week? That was at the Belasco, too.

In case you have not been keeping up in your birthdays, Pathe News is celebrating the attainment of its majority this week—yessir, 21 years old, which, as Mr. Jimmy Cunningham remarks, is pretty old for a rooster!

Of all the younger actresses who have essayed old age, Mae Marsh in "Over the Hill," at the Fox, will probably be hailed as best. There are still times, however, when her youthfulness shows through the exceptionally effective make-up she dons in the later movements of the story.

Just as in the cases of Colleen Moore and Helen Hayes, recently celebrated between these column rules, Miss Marsh's contours are still those of comparative youth, and, from certain angles, grease paint and powder are not sufficiently disguising to conceal them.

When Dino Grandi took the air last evening at 6:30—and I hope you will pardon the intrusion, Mr. Heinl—he was the most thoroughly introduced speaker that ever faced a "mike." William Hard began, turned the job over to Correspondent Brown, took it back, and then really got going.

The idea of the fifteen-minute period, ostensibly, was to permit the listeners to hear the Italian foreign minister speak. Some of them, however, later described it differently.

They said it was Hard on Grandi!

Palace Laundry Gives 1 Per Cent of Earnings

The Palace Laundry yesterday announced it will give 1 per cent of its entire earnings over the period of a month to the District employment committee, as an unemployment relief measure.

At the same time the laundry issued an appeal to other organizations and individuals to "set aside some definite period, a month, a week, a day, to give some definite percentage of your income to those less fortunate than you."

MONEY MOVEMENT REDUCES HOARDING

Decrease in Circulation Is $46,000 Less Than in Previous Week.

(Associated Press.)

The movement of money—both gold and currency—again wrote favorable omens on the business chart this week.

Money in circulation decreased $46,000,000. The week before it decreased $26,000,000.

Experts saw in the figures indications that the hoarding, which has caused demand for funds to replace the more than $1,000,000,000 apparently cached away, was ceasing and the cash was being carried back to the banks.

The weekly report of the Federal Reserve Board also showed that gold stocks increased $24,000,000 during the week.

This followed an increase of $35,000,000 the week before. It substantiated statements in official circles that the unprecedented loss of gold following abandonment by Britain of the gold standard has ended and the flow again was back to this country.

The gold increase gave the United States a total of $4,370,000,000 for the week ending November 18 as compared with $5,015,000,000 it held on September 16.

For the week ended November 18, there was $5,471,000,000 in circulation, the decrease of the past week and the week before having lowered the aggregate $72,000,000.

The total circulation, however, was $989,000,000 greater than a year ago.

Washington Man Begins Term on Check Charge

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Vernon R. Chumbley, 40, of Washington, D. C., today began serving five years in the workhouse on bad check charges.

He is under indictment in Federal court for impersonating a Federal officer, and is said to have obtained law books from a judge by representing himself as a Federal attorney. Investigators said he served time at Atlanta and Leavenworth Penitentiaries.

Baptists Bound to Fight Wets.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The social service commission of the Georgia Baptist convention today presented a report which would bind members "never at any time, in any election, to cast a vote that would give any encouragement to the foes of prohibition."

Playlet for Scout Use Announced by Capital

"Searchers for the Symbol" is the name of a short playlet available for the use of Boy Scout troops for parent night meetings, father and son banquets and at other gatherings where scouts desire to demonstrate their respect and affection for George Washington.

The playlet shows the scouts endeavoring to find an emblem that is symbolic of Washington.

WOODCOCK SCORES ALABAMA RESULTS

Finds on Tour That Fewer Prosecutions Are Being Made on Gulf.

(Associated Press.)

Prohibition Director Woodcock came back from an inspection trip yesterday frowning over enforcement conditions in the gulf coast area of southern Alabama.

"We are not making many cases down there," he complained. "Maybe there are not many to be made, but I'm not well satisfied."

These are the figures that concern him: In Mobile, 19 cases were made during October—the same number made in October last year, when the district had fewer officers; for July, 14 this year against 22 in 1930; for August, 16 against 36; September, 17 against 46.

"There must be some reason for it," he said. "It is up to us to find it out."

Director Woodcock said he was content with enforcement efforts in Omaha and thought his men in Chicago were getting along well.

"We have very substantially increased our own activities," he said when asked about Federal drives against Chicago gangsters.

In response to a question as to the effect, he commented:

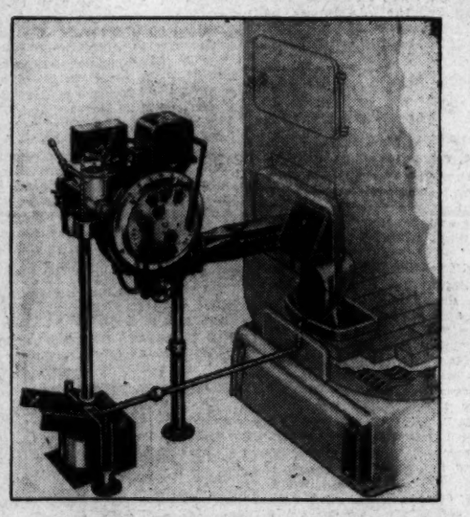
BALANCED HEAT

The McILVAINE Method of OIL HEATING

FREE TRIAL



To acquaint the Washington public with the McIlvaine Method of Oil Heating the factory has authorized us to install a limited number of burners in the homes of users of Gas, Coal or Oil for 60 days' trial to show you the economical cost and money you can save by using the Balanced Heat method by McIlvaine.

The savings run as high as 50%, and in some cases more, compared to most Oil or Gas burners—and a substantial saving to the users of hard coal.

Let us prove to your OWN satisfaction by a trial installation in your home.

Remember, this offer is only for a limited number of burners and will be considered in the order in which they are received. Call or write promptly.

THE McILVAINE OIL BURNER

LOW FLAME acts as a pilot light | SMALL FLAME for cool weather | MEDIUM FLAME for cold days | LARGE FLAME for severe cold

Avoid "Jumpy" Heat of Other Methods

The indoor temperature fluctuates up and down, up and down, all winter long, with the "jumpy" heat supplied under other methods, because the heat supply when on is always the maximum, but the heat loss varies with the weather outdoors.

McIlvaine Method Always Maintains a Balance

The continuous graduated flame of the McIlvaine Oil Burner, under control of the perfected heat regulator, automatically follows the weather without any of the abrupt fluctuations that attend ordinary heating methods, and keeps your home continuously in the comfort zone. The result is an indoor temperature that is always just right—comfortable and healthful—no matter how the outdoor temperature may fluctuate. You enjoy balanced heat under the McIlvaine method.

The McIlvaine Oil Burner is not an untried experiment. The McIlvaine Oil Burners have been successfully heating homes for nine years, and all of the original burners are still in use and giving perfect service.

Do not confuse the McIlvaine Oil Burner with other oil burners, for the reason that the principle of operation is entirely different and without troublesome complications.

No Gas Pilot—No Electric Ignition—No Fire or Explosion Possible—Clean, Odorless, Smokeless—Graduated Flames Automatically Governed

Ask About Our Budget Plan which makes it easy for any one to enjoy the comfort, cleanliness, convenience and economy of the McIlvaine Oil Burner. Ask for Free Book, "Balanced Heat," which tells why the McIlvaine saves work, time, health and money.

LET US SHOW YOU THE BURNER IN OPERATION

If you are using any other type of burner—GAS, COAL or OIL—consult us as to the savings made possible by the McILVANE OIL BURNER

G. W. EXPECTING BATTLE FROM BUTLER TONIGHT

Fifth Victory Is Sought by Colonials

Pixlee to Start Fast Backs; Booz Star of Visitors.

Butler		George Washington
6 Franklin	7	53 Shenandoah	0
0 Ohio U.	40	43 Elon	0
34 Ball State	0	14 Boston U.	0
61 Louisville	6	7 Tulsa	24
2 Dayton	27	0 Iowa	7
13 Wabash	0	45 Salem	0
0 Marquette	21
116	101	162	31

THOUGH comparative scores distinctly favor the local team, George Washington is expecting a real battle from Butler University when they clash tonight under the are lights in Griffith Stadium in an intersectional game and the final nocturnal attraction of the Capital's 1931 football program. Play is scheduled to commence at 8 o'clock.

Notwithstanding the fact that Butler lost, 40-0, to Ohio University, a team which bowed to Indiana, and that Indiana was held scoreless by Iowa, which barely defeated George Washington, Head Coach Jim Pixlee of the Colonials is much impressed with the capabilities of the invading eleven and has prepared his charges accordingly. Pixlee, together with Len Walsh, his first assistant, were on hand last Saturday when Butler played Marquette. So well did the Bulldogs perform despite losing the game, 21 to 0, that the G. W. mentors immediately were convinced that the local team would encounter strenuous opposition.

Butler Has Star In Booz.

As far as physical attributes are concerned, the Bulldogs compare well with the Colonials, who are certainly not a puny lot. There evidently is both power and stamina stored up in tonight's rivals and each possesses high-class back field players who operate behind well-drilled, fast-charging lines.

Butler will introduce a player of outstanding ability in Kenneth Booz (pronounced Boze), who serves as captain and left half back. There are few thing Booz can not do with a football, according to reports. Weighing 175 pounds, he is fast and clever in an open field, but when called on to crash the line he is equally proficient.

However, the Indianapolis boys are not counting solely on Booz to make their invasion of the Capital a success. Jim Stewart, 182-pound quarter back, and Carson Conrad, 177-pound right half back, are regarded as threats in the Bulldog back field.

G. W. Has Faith In Ends.

For George Washington, Coach Pixlee is depending equally on the four speed demons he has chosen to play in his back field. He figures any one of these lads—Lee Carlin, Joe Carter, Johnny Fenlon and Finis Parrish—might possibly break loose for a decisive gain or touchdown. Unless injuries crop up, all four will play the whole game, according to present plans.

George Washington also places much dependence on its two ends, Fred Mulvey and Wayne Chambers.

The game offers George Washington the opportunity of chalking up its fifth victory of the campaign as against two defeats.

Back Field Hopes in Fiftieth Yale-Harvard Battle

Capt. Albie Booth, of Yale, and Capt. Barry Wood, of Harvard, will be opposed for the third year on Saturday when the Crimson and the Blue renew their tradition football feud at Cambridge. Harvard has been victorious for the past three years. Booth and Wood will direct their teams from quarter back posts. Tommy Taylor and Eddie Mays will shoulder much of the burden of the teams' running attacks.

NOTRE DAME BRUSHES UP ON TRICKS

Irish Have Surprises for S. California Tomorrow.

By PAUL R. MICKELSON.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Notre Dame's spirit of football conquest reached its crest of the season tonight as Coach "Hunk" Anderson finally jerked the rip cord from his bulging trick bag. The tricks, many of them heirlooms from the Knute Rockne era, were eagerly and efficiently absorbed by the varsity squads, which practiced until after darkness in preparation for the invasion of Southern California's Trojans Saturday.

Tonight's drill was a secret session that lasted almost four hours and finally wound up in the gymnasium. Only a few spectators were permitted on the practice field, and all of them were unanimous that they had never seen the present squad look better than it did tonight. Three plays, aimed to shatter the Trojan defense, worked beautifully against the freshmen in a dummy scrimmage, and Coach Anderson forgot his gloom and a smile wreathed his face.

Passing Attack Stressed.

Because of pledges of secrecy, nothing can be revealed as to the new touchdown-making formations used tonight, except that the forward pass attack was stressed with results.

Coach Anderson shifted his line slightly by placing Hugh Devore at right end in place of Dick Mahony and Al Culver at left tackle instead of Ed Krause. Steve Banas, working at full back in place of the injured George Melinkovich, looked better than at any time this year and erased somewhat the fears of a weakened running and passing attack. Chuck Jaskwhich again was at qaurter back with Emmett Murphy relegated to the second team.

As the line-up stacked up tonight, and as it probably will be when the whistle blows for the opening of hostilities Saturday, Devore and Kocky, a pair of capable pass receivers, will work at the ends; Kurth and Culver will be at tackles, with Hoffman and Harriss as guards, and Capt. Tommy Yarr at center. The back field line-up is Jaskwhich at quarter, Schwartz and Sheeketski at the halves, and Banas at full back.

Possibilities of Melinkovich's return to action were exceedingly slight tonight. He watched the drill from the sidelines, and favored his injured

Golf Chiefs Locked In New Ball Parley

Decision Expected Today Foreseen as Doom of Present "Balloon" Pellet.

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—At a late hour today the executive committee of the United States Golf Association still was locked in, a bailiff at the door, laboring away with its manifold problems.

Information that filtered from the inner sanctum indicated it would be almost noon tomorrow before the fairway fathers would have any news to impart.

No matter how long they ponder, however, the consensus is they will give the golfers of this country a nice Christmas present in the form of a new and heavier ball and relegate the maligned "ballooner" to the scrap heap. The new sphere, which has passed exhaustive tests in recent months, weighs 1.62 ounces, compared to the 1.55 now in use. It has, however, the same diameter as the present one.

Battalino Knocks Out Bushy Graham in First

Chicago Stadium, Chicago, Ill., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Bat Battalino, world's featherweight champion, knocked out Bushy Graham, Utica, N. Y., after a minute and 44 seconds of their scheduled ten-rounder tonight. Battalino finished Graham with a right cross to the chin following it with two terrific body punches. Battalino weighed 129½ pounds and Graham 128.

Paulie Walker, Trenton, N. J., welterweight, won a decision victory over Tommy Rios, Tuscon, Ariz., in an eight-round bout. The decision was not popular, although Walker finished fast. Each weighed 149½ pounds.

YALE PLANS TO START BOOTH

Little Albie, who was out of practice last week with strained leg muscles, is in good shape again and is expected to be in the thick of battle most of the contest. Previously he has been held in reserve until later in the game.

Holcombe, who weighs about 180 pounds, was believed to have been chosen for center because he is heavier than Betnor, who also has been working out for the position.

Rain and a wet field held the last home practice before the crucial game to a half hour's signal drill, with a little work on punting. Three teams were in action.

Booth and Wood Clash.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The fourth and last act of a football drama that could be titled "The Hero and the Goat" will probably be one of the sideshows attending Saturday's Harvard-Yale classic in the stadium.

Capt. Barry Wood, who has led a powerful Harvard eleven through an undefeated preliminary season, is prepared to continue in his hero part, and his teammates, aided by the Crimson coaching and scouting staffs, are confident they can prevent little Albie Booth, leader of the Yale forces, from usurping their favorite's place in the gridiron spotlight and confine him to a lowly role.

Booth and Wood began a rivalry unique in intercollegiate sport four years ago in the Yale Bowl, when they were freshman quarter backs.

2-Hour Draw Marks Mat Feature

5,000 See Dusek and Steele Wrestle to No Decision.

Rough From Start; Police Prevent Fist Slinging.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

IN the longest mat match held in Washington since Great-Grandfather Joseph P. Turner wrestled Pinkie Gardner to a three-hour draw before 200 people after a burlesque show at the Gayety in 1914, Rough Ray Steele and Relentless Rudy Dusek rassled, biffed and cuffed their way to a two-hour draw last night before 5,000 cash customers at the Auditorium.

Even to the most calloused eye in the place, Steele and Dusek both took a beating of the inquisition sort last night. Steele had a slight edge, over the entire affair. His headlocks for more than an hour were unsolved by Dusek and hurled the Nebraskan to the mat with ring-buckling crashes. Rudy's poorly conceived cradle rocks and erring elbow butts put him a little behind, on points, if there are such things in rassling.

It was Dusek, however, who for five minutes held the most excruciating-looking hold since the third inning of the Latter Day Martyrs. It was a standing leg split, full in the center of the ring, and Steele lay there, his face contorted with agony a little different than the customary rassle "agony"—lay there for five minutes, his left leg bent back beyond his bull neck and on his lips a quite audible fury of deep-throated oaths.

Steele Turns About In Unfair Play.

Just when it seemed that Mr. Steele would surely split cleanly up the center he broke the hold and subjected Dusek to tortures of his own invention.

The two-hour total did not include the uncountable number of times when the boys went out of the ring. Mr. Steele, at the very start of things, objected to having our Mr. Dusek in the same ring with him. Having tossed him out three times, on the sidelines, Steele all but completed the job when, after hurling Dusek's 215 pounds over the top rope, he aided our Mr. Dusek with a well-placed kick, which sent tough Rudy sprawling six feet down into the orchestra pit.

Steele, evidently wishing to toss him then and there, went down after him. Dusek retreated to about the fifth row of the orchestra, and as Steele swung twice at him the lights went on and a police lieutenant, Promoter Turner and Umpire Burns appeared and bundled the boys back into the ring.

Steele Stronger At Finish.

Steele had the better of the slugging, and was the stronger at the end of two solid hours of exertion. The audience filed out without much to say, doubtless aware of the fact that the course of human events will bring Steele and Dusek to them soon again.

The preliminaries, for a change, upheld their end of the evening. In the first Benny Ginsberg defended his title of the worst wrestler in the United States and possessions by losing handily to Al Gelcewicz; Steve Znoski, the reformed New York Giants footballer, showed great improvement in holding Johnnie Katan to a draw; Herbie Freeman tossed Wankah Zalesniak in ten minuites with a crotch hold and Chief White Feather, his fine old Sioux corpuscles beclouding the issue, went down to Kirilenko in 30 minutes by way of a damaging airplane spin.

Eighty Seeking Berth As Pittsburgh Pilot

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Here is one of the reasons why it is taking Owner Barney Dreyfus a long time to select a new manager for his Pittsburgh Pirates:

Eighty men are after the job.

Dreyfuss said all have applied in writing for the place made vacant with the release of Manager Jewel Ens and he is considering the letters carefully, one by one.

The Pirate boss said he doubted whether he would be able to make his selection before the league meetings next month, as he wants to talk personally with at least half a dozen of the applicants.

PRIMO WINS BRAWLING BATTLE

Chicago Stadium, Chicago, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—In a battle that might have been for the world's rough and tumble championship, Primo Carnera, Italian giant, won the decision over King Levinsky, wild swinging, reformed fish peddler of Chicago, after ten rounds of swinging and mauling in the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Levinsky, full of courage and fight, was unable to overcome the tremendous weight handicap and the 6-inch disadvantage in height. Carnera scaled 272½ to 194 pounds for Levinsky.

The decision of the two judges and referee Ed Purdy was unanimous, but the point totals were close. The towering Carnera got the official verdict, but Levinsky got the cheers.

The bout knocked the depression right out of the prizefight industry with an attendance of around 20,000 and gate receipts of $62,000 gross.

Carnera handled Levinsky, in mauling him in the clinches, like a full-size man wrestling a boy. There were no knockdowns, but that wasn't Levinsky's fault. The serious, sober-looking Chicagoan kept swinging his heavy right from his hips, but he might as well have been banging away at the hull of a battleship.

Levinsky, although exhausted at the finish because of Carnera's mauling and wrestling in the clinches, never was in any danger.

Kid Chocolate Bids Tonight For Title

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Just about all the absolute class in the lightweight division will crowd into the Madison Square Garden ring tomorrow night when Tony Canzoneri, brilliant champion of the 135-pounders, offers his crown for the winning to Kid Chocolate, greatest Negro warrior of the class since Joe Gans.

There will be speed, punching ability, boxing perfection and the added touches that go to make champions. Both have great gobs of ring personality, the most important business asset of an important fighter. Over the championship route of 15 rounds, either man has the ability to win decisively.

If there are any odds, they favor Canzoneri, a rugged, grining Italian, who came up from the newsboy ranks in New Orleans to win the featherweight championship and came back after loss of that title to punch his way to the lightweight throne.

Developed Knockout Wallop.

Tony suddenly found he could knock his men out when he bowled over Al Singer, the 135-pound titleholder, with one left hook to the jaw in less than a minute of battling. He knocked out Jackie Kid Berg, first time the perpetual motion Briton had ever been flattened, in his first title defense in Chicago.

The popularity and fighting skill of the willing Italian are equally matched by Chocolate, another grinning newsboy, but this one from the streets of Havana, Cuba.

The ebony stick slipped into New York over three years ago and got himself a fight for $40 on a preliminary card in a soldier club at Mitchel Field. He was a bantamweight then, a skinny Negro kid, but with amazing drive in his right hand, the defensive elusiveness of a phantom, and a willing, good nature.

Since then the "Keed," tossing bombs with his right hand, has fought the best of the bantams, featherweights and lightweights, missing the 126-pound crown by a scant margin after a wild fifteen-round struggle with Bat Battalino, the champion.

Chocolate knocked out Benny Bass in Philadelphia to win the synthetic junior lightweight title at 130 pounds and if Canzoneri makes the poundage tomorrow night this title, along with the 140-pound junior welterweight insignia Tony took from Kid Berg, also will be at stake.

As an added spur the Lord Lonsdale belt Freddie Welsh won as the lightweight champion has been purchased by the Garden for award to the winner.

Chocolate and Canzoneri are expected to weigh at or close to 130 pounds.

Ban Is Lifted On Alabama Regulars

Conference Rule on Post-Season Games Is Waived.

Action Permits 1931 Stars to Oppose D. C. Varsities.

ASSURANCE that the entire personnel of the Alabama Rose Bowl Team of 1930 would be free to participate in the unemployment game here on December 12 with George Washington, Catholic, and Georgetown Universities was received yesterday in the form of a telegram to the game committee from C. L. Hare, president of the Southern Conference, who stated that undergraduates of the present Alabama varsity who performed a year ago would be exempt from a Conference rule against postseason games.

President Hare's message cleared up any doubt that existed as to the appearance of eight players still performing for Alabama who took part in the Rose Bowl game of last New Year's Day in which the Crimson Tide routed Washington State, Pacific Coast champions, 24 to 0, and thereby received the acclaim of many football critics as the national champions.

Hare's telegram was in reply to a direct question asking if the Southern Conference rule against postseason games would prohibit the eight players from playing for a charitable cause and also if their eligibility for participation in other sports during the rest of the academic year would be affected in any way. It is a rule in Southern Conference schools that any athlete who plays with a non-representative team shall be ineligible to represent his school, regardless of the sport to which he is attracted.

President Hare's Reply.

The reply of President Hare follows: "The executive committee (of the Southern Conference) feels that under the unusual conditions existing, undergraduates should be allowed to participate in postseason football games arranged for benefit of unemployed. The entire Rose Bowl team of 1930 should therefore be available for the Washington game. C. L. HARE, President, Southern Conference."

Present plans call for the appearance of 22 players and Coaches Frank S. Thomas and Hank Crisp from Alabama, who will organize two weeks before the game to rehearse their plays and acquire the best physical condition possible. The Alabamans will play the three local teams, each for 20 minutes, with George Washington providing the opening opposition, to be followed by Catholic and then Georgetown. In view of the fact that eight of the group have been playing all season with the 1931 Alabama varsity and many of the others keeping in physical condition through coaching work since their graduation, there has been no fear expressed by the game committee that the visiting squad will fail to offer strong competition. But inasmuch as they will have to face fresh opposition on three occasions during the afternoon, the Alabamans have been favored with a stipulation that they be allowed to make substitutions at will.

Local Teams to Show Hands.

From a local angle the event takes on the aspect of a thrilling encounter, with all three of the Capital elevens throwing their full strength into action. Because it will mark the conclusion of the season, each local team may uncover its complete repertoire of plays without fear of being "scouted."

Nonpartisan interest in the event is spreading by leaps and bounds as the date draws near. Ticket sales continue at a brisk pace and offers of aid are being received from business organizations. The Capital Traction Co. yesterday offered to provide free bus transportation for the Alabama squad throughout the duration of its visit.

B. F. Saul, local realtor, yesterday purchased 10 box seats for himself and 50 reserved seats for his employes, and insisted upon paying the established prices. He spurned the saving of 50 cents on each ticket which is offered for the period remaining before December 1. Prices are as follows: General admission, $1.50; reserved seats, $2, and box seats, $2.50.

A special booth will be set aside at Griffith Stadium for the sale of the unemployment tickets tonight, when George Washington plays Butler University.

This Morning with Shirley L. Povich

THEY'RE whooping it up for the All-Americans. Every end who ever threw a half back for a 2-yard loss or dropped himself on a defenseless fumble is being boomed for a place on the team.

College publicity bureaus are well along in their campaigns for recognition of favorite sons. The sanctums of the sports departments are inundated with the voluminous, nicely-typed releases from press headquarters. Nothing less than rank injustice would permit the omission of certain players from All-American teams if tales of their prowess are to be believed literally.

This department is the recipient of the following classic from the publicity director of a North Carolina college: "Dokes, the Polecats' 195-pound right guard, played on the 1929 team that was second high in national scoring in 1929. He has reigned in stardom ever since. He is as unpassable on defense as he is vicious in tackling, and hard-hitting on leading interference. Besides being big and powerful he is also fast, having been full back in his freshman days. Early this season Dokes charged through the Vanderbilt line so fast that some of the spectators were confused as to whether he was a Polecat lineman or a Vanderbilt back."

One vote for Dokes for the all-time All-American.

Accompanying the ballyhoo blast for Dokes is the following note to sports editors captioned "Strong Contender for Right Guard Position on Mythical Selections:"

"Assuming that you are open-minded on the subject, this is to suggest that you give Joseph Dokes consideration before voting for a right guard for All-American team. Below is a story outlining some of the reasons we feel that you would be justified in voting for Dokes. This story is primarily for your personal consumption, but we would also be glad to have you print it."

Assuming that we were open-minded on the subject, we would still be open-minded following receipt of the above.

South Bend will be the scene of the clash of football Titans Saturday, admitting that the Harvard-Yale embroglio at Cambridge commands a deal of consideration. When Notre Dame meets the Trojans of Southern California at Rockne Stadium, the grand old game will be hitting a high spot.

The unbeaten Ramblers will be encountering the team calculated to offer the most stubborn opposition of any of its opponents. The Trojans, beaten in an early game, have since come a long rapidly and have bowled over both California and Stanford impressively, holding both scoreless.

It will be another clash of the Rockne and the Warner systems, accepted as the most effective of the various methods of play. It will be a clash of the balanced and the unbalanced line, the latter used by the Trojans. Southern California will pit its wing-back system that develops its off-tackle and guard power plays against the shift and tricky handling of the ball in the Notre Dame back field.

In the event that Harvard disposes of Yale Saturday and concludes its season with a record unmarred by tie or defeat, the Haughton system, which once stood for the quintessence of football style, will have a new claim to high rank.

Eddie Casey in his first year as head coach at Harvard is a Haughton disciple, hewing more to that style of play than did Arnold Horween, who also played under the old master at Harvard. There is none so bold to say that Harvard could dispute Notre Dame's claim to highest national ranking in the event that the Ramblers hurdle Southern California, owing to the disparity in strength of their respective opposition, but Harvard, if victor of Yale, could point to its first unbeaten season since 1913 and Casey surely will have posted his name high in the ranks of successful coaches.

Schaaf Gains Decision Over Dorval at Boston

Boston, Nov. 19 (U.P.).—Ernie Schaaf, protege of Jack Sharkey, retained his New England heavyweight title tonight by defeating Napoleon Jack Dorval in a 10-round bout at Bosten Garden. Schaaf weighed 206, Dorval 214.

The two judges disagreed, but the referee cast his vote for Schaaf. It was a slow fight for the first eight rounds, chiefly because Dorval adopted defensive tactics and insisted on tying up Schaaf in the infighting. Schaaf pounded Dorval's kidney region throughout the bout and at the end Dorval was bleeding.

Griffith, Nat Owner, 62 Years Old Today

Clark Griffith, owner of the Nationals, will celebrate his sixty-second birthday today. As usual, "Uncle Billy" Smith has arranged quite a spread to be served in the Washington Club's offices at noon, to which in addition to the office staff, several of Griffith's old cronies will be invited.

The luncheon will be informal, but several speeches have been scheduled as part of the gift presentations.

Athletes in All Colleges Subsidized, Says Dean

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The charge that practically every college in the United States has subsidized athletes and a denunciation of that type of alumnus who believes a good runing half back worth three Phi Beta Kappa scholars, is made by Dean Christian Gauss, of Princeton, in the December issue of Scribner's Magazine.

"Though the colleges and conferences may make rules in all good faith," Dean Gauss writes, "no method has been found or can reasonably be expected to be found" for curbing alumni interested in seeing that good football players go to their alma maters.

Dean Gauss cites three instances—two of them actual happenings, one theoretical—where athletes were subsidized without the knowledge of the college at which they matriculated and in one case without the knowledge of the athlete himself.

He tells of an alumnus who increased the salary of one of his employes whose son was a good full back and another of a half back who was manager of a student store and got his revenue from kind alumni friends who proffered a $10 bill for a 10 cent cigar and told him to keep the change; of a third star who was receiving a monthly retainer from a gentleman concerned with holding the young man's services so that he might run a farm four years hence.

If cases of this sort are frequently hidden from faculty committees, the undergraduates themselves often sense that something is wrong, writes Dean Gauss. In a recent investigation of 40 colleges, conducted by Acting Dean Smith, of the University of Illinois, it was found that on practically every campus undergraduates believed that the athlete received graft.

Violation of the amateur code with the connivance of officials is becoming less each year, Dean Gauss believes, "for it can be corrected from above and occurs usually only in institutions of which the general standing is low and which are using this method to attract attention in the press," but he sees little hope for curbing overambitious alumni.

Explanations Don't Explain Superiority of Babe Ruth, Red Grange or Albie Booth

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—One of the champion futilities of this age is the attempt to explain how a Red Grange or an Albie Booth runs through a football team for a touchdown, how a Babe Ruth hits a home run or a Bobby Jones insults par on the hardest golf courses in the world. Of course, there are explanations, but they don't explain, and I think by now that the boys themselves will admit to themselves that knack is the only answer.

I was out with Mr. Grange on his first tour as a professional, when the local reporters were popping into the Pullman along the line at 7 a. m. to ask him what he ate, whether he slept face down or on his side and how he accounted for his success. The young man, suddenly yanked from the company of his fellow students at the University of Illinois and sent on tour like a new heavyweight champion, was not a very satisfactory subject. He had no repartee, and when he explained that he usually followed his interference until he found himself clear, that answer seemed too simple. For that matter, it was. Other players also followed their interference, but they did not get away for long gains as he had been doing.

Then it was suggested something in his hip action was responsible, and he was glad to concur and borrow the idea himself. Undoubtedly his hip action had something to do with his elusiveness, but his hip action was as natural as his breathing, and he could not explain that. Of course, Red learned to say, "Well, I throw my weight onto one hip and shift my balance and change direction all in the same movement," but he might as well have tried to tell an exciting story of how a man yawns.

To yawn, a man opens his mouth and shuts it. To break pace and shift his course just enough to elude a tackler, as Grange was doing, a fellow did something with certain hip and leg muscles. But other athletes tried the same thing and ran smack into tacklers, who threw them on the ground with great vigor.

The Babe has been examined by somber experts for the secret of his swing. Bigger players, as loose in the shoulders and as strong, have swung as hard at the baseball without comparable results. Slow-moving pic-

Tulane, Notre Dame Sought For Game in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 19 (U.P.).—A game for "the football championship of the world," between Tulane University and the other outstanding team of the Nation, possibly Notre Dame, is under discussion here. The movement, designed to settle the national football championship to the satisfaction of everybody concerned, and to inaugurate an annual sports classic for New Orleans in competition with the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena, Calif., is under way, backed by the directorate of the Association of Commerce here.

A city-wide meeting has been called for next Tuesday, by Mayor T. S. Walmsley, at which public, civic and athletic leaders have been invited. The Association of Commerce directors approved the conference today and instructed their president, Andrew M. Lockett, to issue the call for a discussion of the project.

Tulane athletic officials besieged with requests that they agree to postseason games for charity with Tennessee University, University of Texas or some other outstanding team, and also anticipating that they may be invited to play in the California Rose Bowl this season, have refused to take a definite stand on the issue, but will be represented at Tuesday's meeting.

It was pointed out today that while an invitation to the Rose Bowl would be a signal honor for Tulane, still the University of Southern California, which will represent the West in that classic, must meet Notre Dame and Georgia yet this season and if either of those two teams beat them, there would be little glory in Tulane's accomplishing the same feat.

Two efforts have been made to match Tulane and Notre Dame, one in Cleveland and one in New York Civic leaders here, however, believe it would be possible to arrange such a game in New Orleans, making it the main feature of a midwinter carnival of sports.

Officials of the Southern Athletic Conference have frowned on postseason games, but have made exceptions as far as the Rose Bowl is concerned.

DR. FREELAND TAKES BOWIE FEATURE BY STRETCH RUSH

Salmon Star Victor Over ConAmore

Comes From Behind to Win by Length and Half.

Bright Red Scores in Third Race, Paying $80.50 Mutuel.

By J. B. SNODGRASS,
Special to The Washington Post.

BOWIE RACE TRACK, Nov. 19.—Walter J. Salmon's Dr. Freeland, on a track to which he is unsuited, won the featured Glenburnie Purse by a length and a half. J. W. Y. Martin's filly, Con Amore, conceding weight to the field, was second, and the Wheatley Stable's Blenheim third. Like other races, only the fog was hanging lower in this, the horses could not be seen plainly after the first turn. The track was muddy and racing conditions the worst of the Maryland season.

Time for the Glenburnie, 1 1/16 miles, was 1:46 4-5. The winner paid $6.30. Dr. Freeland was held off the pace set by Blenheim and Con Amore until well down the stretch, when J. Long rushed him to the front. He was never farther away than third. Dr. Freeland alternated with Con Amore in favoritism and paid $6.30.

Dr. Freeland had the best of the weights, this not being a handicap. The field was scratched down to five horses from the original nine.

Royal Ruffin Scores In Sixth.

Braedalbane Stable's Royal Ruffin conquered the Glen Riddle Farm's Full Dress in the sixth, and Ryland New's Frumper was third. The callers for the charts could not make out the horses on the back stretch. It was as if the field were in a tunnel, but Mine Sweeper set the pace until they entered the fog bank. It appeared that Full Dress was leading as the horses entered the stretch. Royal Ruffin came to the front in the stretch to win by a length. The winner paid $14.50. The time was 1:48 1-5.

Mrs. Elmer Trueman's 2-year-old colt, Lord Tournament, won the first race and seemed at home in the mud, for she shot out in front from the gate into a long lead. Cary T. Grayson's Gay Party was second and Archibald Barklie's Jungle Boy third. Jack B., favorite, finished fourth. A. Arcady had the mount on the winner, which was coupled in the field with Blue Nile. Gay Party headed off Lord Tournament at the sixteenth, and it looked blue for the eventual winner, but under the whip he came again, scoring by one length. The field of twelve 2-year-olds presented a bespattered appearance after running. The time was 1:13 1-5. The winner paid $22.60, the same being paid on Blue Nile and Hot Scotch as the field.

The Heathen Wins for New Owners.

B. B. Stable, recently acquiring The Heathen, won with the horse at the first asking, in the second race. B. Creech's Portcodine was second and G. L. Stryker's Tewsenelda third. There was a long wait after the field was at the barrier. This followed a delay awaiting the arrival at the paddock of Dr. Fred Adams' Sun Lad, which he had forgotten was in the race. Sun Lad finished lame, and the rider dismounted. Portcodine led to the stretch, when E. Watters gave The Heathen his head and he won going away. He was odds-on favorite and paid $3.20. They ran 6 furlongs in 1:12 4-5.

E. K. Finch's Bright Red beat an ordinary field of platers in the third race, with Mainsheet second and Jimmy D. third. Meek was the favorite, but ran a poor race. Corporal II went out in front to the first turn, with Jimmy D. the contender. Algara also had early speed. Marinelli put Bright Red over in the stretch, and the return in the mutuels was $80.50 for $2. The time for a mile and three-sixteenths was 2:04.

W. R. Coe's Pompeius, fine-looking chestnut colt by Pompey, won the Montebello Purse, for 2-year-olds, under a good ride by T. Malley. Greentree Stable's Espinaca was unable to gain ground on the leader, and Pompeius won by two lengths. Seagram Stable's Hayfire was third.

Pompeius Takes Lead In Stretch.

Westivity and Marmion, both field horses, had much early speed. Pompeius was held in restraint for a half mile, took the lead in the stretch, and held the others safe. The time was 1:12 3-5. The winner paid $5.50.

Hold Hard, a field horse, backward in the early part of the race, took the track in the stretch to win the curtain race by two lengths.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LORD TOURNAMENT (field), $22.80, $13.10, $6.30; GAY PARTY, $9.40, $4.70; JUNGLE BOY, $5.60.

LORD TOURNAMENT, showing a high flight of speed, drew into a long early lead, came out into the firmer footing when straightened into the home stretch, but began tiring fast and was forced to a drive nearing the finish to stall off GAY PARTY. Latter, a keen factor from the start, saved a lot of ground and finished courageously. JUNGLE BOY worked his way up steadily, but could not reach the leaders. JACK B. broke with the leaders, was hard ridden, but did not appear to favor the going. FAST STORM closed a good rap. FAIR BOY was outrun. HEAVY SUGAR was done after the opening furlong. CHIEF'S TROJAN stopped badly.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—THE HEATHEN, $3.20, $2.70, $2.50; PORTCODINE, $3.60, $3.30; TEWSENELDA, $4.80.

THE HEATHEN, following close to PORTCODINE, was forced to race on the outside, closed gamely when the real test came and outgamed the pacemaker nearing the finish. PORTCODINE, sent into a brief lead, saved ground wherever possible, responded to punishment, but could not withstand the winner. TEWSENELDA, kept under pressure from the start, could not keep pace with the leaders in the final drive. RAIN OR SHINE was unable to improve his position. TRANSFORMATION and the others were outrun. SUN LAD broke down after the first furlong.

THIRD RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:20. Off at 2:23. Winner, E. K. *Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BRIGHT RED, $80.50, $25.60, $15.00; MAINSHEET, $5.00, $4.80; JIMMY D., $7.40.

BRIGHT RED improved her position stoutly in the final six furlongs, wore MAINSHEET down inside the closing furlong and was under severe urging to the finish. MAINSHEET, kept within striking distance of the leaders early, took command with a rush, but weakened fast during the stretch run. JIMMY D., prominent throughout, saved a lot of ground when entering the home stretch and finished determinedly. FAIR BETH, a slow beginner, passed tiring horses in the final half mile. RUBAN ROUGE, a distant trailer, closed a big gap in the late stages. MEEK was never a serious factor. EXPIATE and KAVANAUGH stopped.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,400; allowances. The Montebello. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:53. Off at 2:56. Winner, W. R. Coe's b. c. (2), by Pompey—Elvina. Trained by B. Creech. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:12 3-5.

*Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—POMPEIUS, $5.50, $3.10, $2.90; ESPINACA, $3.10, $2.60; HAYFIRE (field), $4.60.

POMPEIUS, at home in the going, was rushed hard to take command directly after the break, responded with good speed after shaking off MARMION and HAYFIRE, and held ESPINACA safe during the final furlong. ESPINACA, outrun early, improved her position on the outside, made a determined bid when midway of the home stretch, but was not good enough thereafter. HAYFIRE, rushed hard to reach the leaders while racing on the inside, held on well in the final drive. ZOSARA came willingly for the final drive. KLIP DRIFT went well. MARMION tired badly.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,600; allowances. The Glenburnie. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:20. Off at 3:23. Winner, W. J. Salmon's ch. h. (5), by Light Brigade—Toddle. Trained by P. F. Dwyer. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:40 3-5, 1:46 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DOCTOR FREELAND, $6.30, $3.50, $2.50; CON AMORE, $3.20, $2.40; BLENHEIM, $2.70.

DOCTOR FREELAND, rated forwardly and showing good ability in the going, responded when put to a drive, came through on the inside of the pacemakers when moving into the main stretch, took command inside the final furlong and was slowly drawing clear at the end. CON AMORE followed BLENHEIM closely while forcing a stiff pace, was carried wide into the home stretch, but continued stoutly after shaking off BLENHEIM. Latter, rushed hard to contest command, but yielded along until reaching the home stretch, swung wide and tired during the closing furlong. VALENCIENNES and HILLSBOROUGH were making up ground through the late stages.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:51. Off at 3:53. Winner, Braedalbane Stable's br. r. (3), by Coventry—Pleasing. Trained by M. Lowenstein. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ROYAL RUFFIN, $14.50, $5.50, $3.60; FULL DRESS, $4.40, $2.80; FRUMPER, $3.30.

ROYAL RUFFIN, shuffled back going to the first turn, went to the outside when reaching the back stretch, circled his field to take command when approaching the home stretch and was under pressure when reaching the finish. FULL DRESS raced MINE SWEEPER into defeat and held on willingly when placed to severe punishment in the final drive. FRUMPER closed with good courage while in tight quarters next the inner rail during the stretch run. EIL WEIR was held safe. MINE SWEEPER was done when approaching the far turn. ERIN QUEEN tired. The colors could not be distinguished as the field went into a heavy fog around the second turn.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gates. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:21. Off at 4:23 1/2. Winner, P. Two-dollar mutuels paid—HOLD HARD (field), $12.50, $6.00, $4.00; JUDGE CAVERLY, $5.20, $4.00; ISOSTASY, $3.90.

HOLD HARD finished stoutly in the middle of the track during the stretch run and, disrobing of JUDGE CAVERLY, came away steadily. JUDGE CAVERLY, in close attendance of HOLD at the first turn, saved a lot of ground when being straightened into the main stretch, but faltered fast approaching the finish. ISOSTASY was held safe during the stretch run. GLEE CLUB was unable to threaten the leaders. HILD quit. The colors could not be distinguished when the field entered the back stretch.

FIELD TRIALS DRAW 65 DOGS

Montgomery County Meet Opens; Races Tomorrow.

A LARGE number of riders followed the hounds in the first hunt of the second annual field trials of the Montgomery County Fox Hunters' Association held yesterday. Sixty-five dogs were cast, the hunt starting from N. R. Griffith's Barracks.

Two good chases resulted, one lasting twenty minutes. Tomorrow's hunt, originally scheduled to start from Elliott's Farm, will start from Muncaster's Mill on the road from Norbeck to Redland.

The bench show will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Rockville Fair Grounds. Flat races, followed by a sandwich supper for the huntsmen and their friends will feature the show. To qualify, all dogs entered must have started in the field trials. C. L. Gilpin, of Olney, has been appointed master of hounds by Everett Beall, president of the association.

The judges will be J. J. Hutton, of Brookeville; George Wilson, of Silver Spring; Samuel Beall, of Laurel; Paul Smith, of Pillsburg; Augustus Riggs and Lee Matthews, of Howard County; George Edwards, of Colesville, and J. R. Porter, of Brookeville.

Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington baseball team, and J. H. Smithwick, former State senator, are among those taking an active part in the hunt.

BOWIE NOTES

Special to The Washington Post.

BOWIE RACE TRACK, Nov. 19.—Jockey R. Leischman has accepted terms to ride for George D. Widener next year, and has departed for Miami, where he will ride for the Philadelphia sportsman.

Leischman was astride Shem, that proved to be a ringer when he won at Havre de Grace, but Leischman was unaware that there was anything unusual appertaining to the race. A year ago he had 41 winners, 40 seconds and 35 thirds, to garner $74,030 in purse money.

Jockey L. Knapp packed his tack today and departed for his home in California. Later in the winter he will join Bennet Creech's stable at Agua Caliente, Mexico.

Jockey A. Snider plans to leave for Miami Saturday.

Mrs. Blanche Watson is planning to ship her stable to Cuba for the winter's racing. Jockey Don Meade and Agent Pedone will accompany the stable.

Fairdale was sold last winter at St. John's Park, Fla., for $450 and since then has won thirteen races and more than $10,000 in purses.

Thomas Sullivan, who claimed Scot Free, has won five races since making the claim. After winning a race at Havre de Grace, Scot Free captured two at Laurel and his score yesterday was so easy that it looks as if he will continue to make it tough for the plater division.

They were two nice performances shown yesterday by W. Prior, the 100-pound apprentice, who is under contract to Frank J. Kearns. The lad registered with John F., $13.10 and then kicked Scot Free, $8.00, home. He will go to Cuba with the J. P. White stable.

There are thirty-five horses on the schooling list with the adding of Make Believe and Los Cruz.

Among the candidates for the $25,000 Southern Maryland Handicap, mile and one-eighth feature on Saturday, who worked this morning were: Theodore E. Muller's Pittsburgher, mile in 1:48; Le Mar Stock Farm's Morsel, three-eighth in 0:37 2-5; Max Hirsch's Repentance, five-eighths in 1:03; Wheatley Stable's Tote and Belair Stud's Ormesby, mile in 1:44; Cary T. Grayson's Happy Scot, mile in 1:46.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

DAME NATURE bestowed many of her curiosities upon Colorado, but there is none stranger nor one more interesting than Potato Rock. Nearly 50 feet in width, 100 feet in height, and weighing 12,000 tons, this immense boulder rests on a base only three feet across. It is located in Glade Park near Grand Junction.

• • • •

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS.... General Nagaoka, of Japan, President of the International Mustache Club, is accredited with having the longest mustache in the world, but there are several who can go him one better. Just to prove the point the mustache of Ivan Autunen measures 22 inches, while that of the general is only 20 inches. . . . 80,000 copies of the Bible, the world's best seller, are sold every day . . . . Homer's Odyssey was written in gold on a snake's skin. . . . . Just as the secret construction of the famous Stradivarius violins has never been revealed, the violin bows of Tourte are likewise unequaled. Tourte bows are the best known, and sell for $500 to $1,000 . . . . Finger prints were used for identification purposes in China over 12 centuries ago.

STARS' SUPERIORITY HARD TO EXPLAIN

tures have seem to explain it all, but, then, slow moving pictures of the Babe's swing compared with slow movies of some other man's swing would reveal what? That they both swung about alike and hit the ball very much alike, but when the Babe busted them they went out of the park. He has authorized his official version of the secret, but Mr. Ruth really knows only that when he hits one square the feel of the bat tells him he has hit a home run again.

Others Swing Like Bobby Jones.

Other golfers may swing in a style so close to the style of Bobby Jones that no inspection of the drawling movies could disclose the slightest difference. But nobody else hits the ball the same, and the crisis of the swing is the instant when the club-head meets the ball.

I would not wish to discourage discussion of these mysteries. The boys have made money for themselves and others trying to explain something that they do not fully understand themselves, and notwithstanding Mr. Kipling's pity for a nation engrossed in gain, this is no time to decry profits. The gross receipts from their combined essays, lectures and moving picture demonstrations have been prodigious, but the mere fact that a man lives does not constitute him an expert on the mystery of life. And when they are all through explaining, the question still arises, "Yes, but how and why?"

A conversation in this subject was interrupted recently by Mr. Raymond Hood, the architect, author of many distinguished American buildings and one of those engaged in the building of Radio City.

Cause and Effect Often Queer.

"I have heard and read many profound interpretations of cause and effect in such matters," Mr. Hood said, "and I think it is like trying to explain how a poet writes a poem. Babe Ruth stands up there at bat and watches the ball start toward him. He thinks he might swing on it, then he thinks no, he won't, and, finally, at the exact right instant he lets fly, and bang! He has hit a home run. The poet starts writing about a girl's eyes, switches to a day in spring, then gets an idea about a battle in a war and tears off his masterpiece about that.

"One day a man came up to me all excited about a certain newspaper building. 'It's a wonderful symbolism,' he said.

"'What is?' I asked.

"'The way you grouped the windows all the way up with the white bricks in between,' he said. 'I can see it perfectly; you depict the papers coming off the press. Isn't that right?'

"I thought it was a pretty good idea, at that," Mr. Hood said, "but the truth is I never thought of it. All I knew was that I had to get in so many windows in so much space."

GONZAGA IS FAVORITE OVER CENTRAL IN CLASH TODAY

Purple Plays 4th Series Eleven

Rivals Meeting for 3d Time in 7 Years; Viau Ailing.

IN one of the biggest games of the high school football year, Central and Gonzaga will hook up this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Central Stadium. Gonzaga rules a 7-to-5 favorite, the Central Team never having thoroughly recovered from the shock of losing nine men through scholastic failures. Gonzaga, its 1930 team intact, is smoother than Central and virtually as big.

It was learned last night that Gonzaga had offered Central the right to play its ineligibles, which would have inserted Koscis, full back; King, half back; Lamond, lineman and several lesser lights into the fray, but Central turned down the offer, despite the fact that these players are reported to have made up the "flunks" which set them out of public high school competition at the end of the first advisory.

Central is the fourth and last of the local public high schools to engage Gonzaga this year. The Purple beat Western, 33 to 0; Business, 6 to 0, and Eastern, 27 to 0. It has lost but one game this year and that to Swavely Prep, of Manassas, 13 to 0. The same team beat Tech, 20 to 7. Gonzaga trounced its traditional rival, St. John's, 38 to 2, this year.

Viau Unlikely to Start.

While slightly hurt by minor injuries, Gonzaga will put a bang-up line-up on the field today. Ernest Viau, the hardest hitting fullback in the local schoolboy ranks, will not start the game because of a wrenched foot, but will see service later. His place will be taken by Joe Keegin. The rest of the back field will be the Mills boys and Carr. In the line Mitchell will have Mulcare, Quigley and Lewis, on the left side, W. Mills, center, and James, Eppard and Dunan. James takes the place of Mayhew, injured guard.

Porter, a newcomer, will show up in Central's back field, along with such reliables as Cumberland, quarter back; Dunlop, half, and McKenzie, full. Myers is expected to relieve Porter during the game. The line will be the same, with Buscher, Boyle, Garrott, Fitzwater, Nickaloupus, Gibbins and Graham.

Gonzaga and Central have played twice in the last seven years. In 1925 Gonzaga won 7-3 on a long run by Johnnie Bozek, and last year Central's big backs battered out a 12-0 victory.

Last Game for Star Players.

It will be the scholastic swan song for Cumberland, McKenzie, Graham, Fitzwater, and Garrott, for Central, and James, Lewis, Mulcare, Dunan and Eppard for Gonzaga.

The big, capable Western High team winds up its season today at Washington-Lee High School field, Ballston, Va., and a victory appears to loom on the horizon for the locals. Not a few notable high school football players will be performing their swan song in this game, including Draper, Teehan, Payne, Lynham, Greve, Hilleary, and the Buschers.

St. Alban's winds up perhaps its most impressive football season in the history of the school today at Christ Church, Va., against Christ Church School. The Saints will have a job on their hands, but are being counted on to keep clean their season's record, which has been marred only by a 0-0 tie with Landon.

shoulder so outwardly that Anderson decided he was definitely out.

Brush Up on Defense.

Considerable attention was concentrated on defense during tonight's session against the Trojan offense, with satisfactory results. A few Southern California-style passes over the scrimmage wall were successful, however, and Anderson said that angle of defense would be stressed tomorrow.

Tickets for the battle disappeared rapidly tonight, more than 4,000 of them being sold. Only 8,000 were left and they were almost certain to be sold, to assure the first sell-out crowd in the Notre Dame's stadium's short life—55,000 spectators—if the pleasant weather keeps up. It was almost balmy today and the weather man was sure of a good day for football.

UNITED TYPOS IN FIELD.

United Typewriter Grays will organize for their sixth successive season under the leadership of "Wally" Wolowitz.

In five previous seasons, the Grays have tucked away a South Atlantic A. A. U. championship, two D. C. championships, one community center title and several minor titles.

This year's roster includes Bill Duryee, all-high last year; Paul Brown, former Tech High satellite; Curand, Scheele, Fuchs, Wiler, Timmons, H. Duryea and Hunt.

Hitting the Head Pin

THE National Pale Drys banged the maples around for a 2-1 victory over Lucky Strike in a National Capital League match at Lucky Strike last night. The winners compiled a set of 1,879, which was considerably better than their opponents' 1,780. The beverage manufacturers' games were 600, 647, and 632.

The luckless Luckies registered games of 582, 548, and 650. A double-header strike in the final box by Earl McPhilomy gave Bill Wood's men their lone game. McPhilomy's game of 166 was high for the evening. Brad Mandley had a set of 396, and Astor Clarke's average was a bit bruised by his fall downstairs to a 340 set.

Bergmann's and the Home Laundry teams were the only two able to sweep their sets in the Laundry league matches rolled at Recreation last night. The former took the Bergmann's Maryland Division over the jumps, and Home handed Manhattan No. 2 the same dose, although the Trinidad gang was hard pressed throughout. In the other matches Vogue trounced National, Washington took the measure of Manhattan No. 2, and Bergmann's Zoric won over Ambassador. Sahaachtman, of the latter team, rolled games of 117, 119, and 122 for a set of 358, or high for the night. Gray, of Bergmann's, captured game honors with a mark of 133.

Interstate climbed up into a tie with the leading Veteran's Administration in the Ladies Federal League by walloping Census for the odd game at Arcadia while the Veterans were winning one from Labor. And they were thankful to get that one. Labor's victory threw it into a three-way tie for third place with Treasury, and Marines. The latter swept its set with War while the keepers of the filtry lucre were gaining a 2-1 decision over G. P. O. In the other matches Commerce Juniors ran away with Agriculture, winning all three. Internal Revenue did the same to Commerce Comets, and Commerce odd-gamed its way to victory over Mines. Economics (of all teams) swept its match with G. A. O., which proves that if at first you don's succeed maybe you havn't had enough practice. Irene Scott took individual honors with her set of 320. Team honors were garnered by Treasury with its game of 539 and set of 1,494.

Temple scraped up enough pins, 1,705 in all, to take two of its three-game National Capital League match with Farman's Bowling Shoes at Lucky Strike. Magnus Wood put over Farman's win with a strike in his final box, his team winning by four pins. The games scores were Temple, 597, 569 and 539; Farnan's, 555, 549 and 543. Frank Mischou, of Farnan's, rang the bell with a total of 406 pins for the night. Chester Bild, of Temple, celebrated in honor of a new arrival in his family with a 354 set. Congratulations, Chester. Reds Megaw turned in a 352 score.

Maryland gained undisputed possession of the leadership in the Intercollegiate League with a clean sweep over Yale at Rendezvous last night. Michigan slipped into a tie with Princeton for the runner-up berth by dropping a pair to Cornell, while the Tigers were clawing V. M. I. for the odd one. Navy took all three from V. P. I., Lehigh found Harvard soft pickings and won three, and Dartmouth won an odd game victory over Brown. Skinny Stewart, of V. P. I., turned in a plump 136 game, and Norman Darmon, of Michigan, hooked the set honors with his score of 358.

The Fourettes team won all the marbles in the Public Debt Ladies League at Lucky Strike. It hung up a game of 478 and set of 1,378, to lead the other quints. Miss Payne's 295 set took individual honors, and the Misses Mulroe and Moore were deadlocked at 110 each for high game.

Pohanka pohanked Mott Motors for all three in the Automotive League at the same alleys last night. Packard also was credited with three wins, but these were gifts from the Lee D. Butler team, which forfeited. In the other matches, Steuart Motors took two from Skinker Bros., L. P. Steuart gained a 2-to-1 decision over Stanley Horner, and H. B. Leary socked Emerson & Orme for the odd one. Elker, of Steuart Motors, carried off high game laurels with an effort of 134. Kearney, of H. B. Leary, captured set honors with his 359. Steuart Motors bagged team honors with a game of 580 and set of 1,620.

Miss Songer, of the Friendly Five, was the star of the Public Health Service Ladies League matches at Lucky Strike. She rolled a game of 112 and set of 322. Her team chalked up 465 for high team game, and Glabt scored with a set of 1,329.

Just a little reminder for those desiring to enter the Greater Washington Handicap Sweepstakes. In order to qualify it is necessary to have rolled nine games in league competition. Entry blanks are obtainable at Arcadia, Columbia and Convention Hall.

Peoples Drug Store assumed command in the Commercial League with a clean sweep over Sterrett Operating Service at Convention Hall last night. The Druggists are two games in front of the field. Only one match was decided by the odd game in this loop, Carry's Ice Cream getting the decision over the Daily News, which was previously knotted with Peoples for the lead. In the other matches, Diamond Cab won from Woodward & Lothrop, Times-Herald put away the Evening Star, and Wonder Bread took the measure of Occidental Hotel.

The Nitwits (what a name!) showed their heels to a classy field in the Veterans Bureau Ladies League at Arcadia, with a high game of 458 and set of 1,313. Miss Walsh, of the same team, clipped off 102 pins for high individual game, and 297 for set honors.

The honors in the War Department League, which rolled at Arcadia, were well distributed. Driscoll, of the Frankies, turned in high individual game, 149; and Warman, of Construction, counted high set, 365. Fort Humphreys' 582 was good for team game, and Hydrographics took set honors with 1,620. The matches resulted in the Frankies 2-1 victory over Officers, Barbettes' clean sweep over Reproduction, and Adjutants' one game win over the Firing Squad.

The Firing Squad must know how it feels to stand before one after dropping all three to the Mine Planters in a A. G. O. Ladies League match at Columbia. Signal Battalion became confused and lost the odd one to Pack Train, while Butcher and Company was winning all three from Bombardment. (What names, what names!) Pursuit Squadron caught up with Military Police and escaped with the entire block.

The I. C. C. Examiners' loop matches were all decided by 2-1 margins at Columbia. Finance defeated Income, Value downed Cost, and Investment succumbed to Depreciation.

Plake, of Indian, stole the show in the Interior Department League at Columbia last night. He marked up a 372 set to lead the individual scoring. Land took all three from Disbursing and established a new team set record while so doing with a score of 1,823. The old record had withstood all assaults for the last year and a half. Secretary swept its set with Indian, and Survey dropped two to Pension. Engravers won two from G. H. I. in the nightcap.

BUSINESS MEN DRILL.

The Hyattsville Business Men's Association football team will drill tomorrow at 3 o'clock, in preparation for Sunday's important game with Congress Heights. All players are requested to report promptly.

DIXIE PIGS DRILL.

The Dixie Pigs will practice tomorrow night at 8 o'clock on the Seat Pleasant field in preparation for Sunday's game with the Griffith-Blue Coals in the Capital City League. All players are urged to be on hand promptly.

D. C. Golf Women Stage Field Day

53 Compete in Rain at Congressional Club for 18 Prizes Offered.

Despite the rain, 53 women golfers yesterday participated in field day at the Congressional Country Club, staged under the auspices of the team which recently won the team trophy after a series of contests with women's teams from the various local clubs. All the members of the competing teams were invited and the large response resulted in an enjoyable occasion.

Eighteen prizes were provided, donated by the members of the winning Congressional team, by Alexander Armour and Archie Clark, professional and assistant professional, and by Sidney W. Straus, James F. Meegan, Mrs. A. M. Hyler, Julius Garfinkle and E. C. Graham, members of the club.

The prize winners were as follows: First low gross—Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes, 43—43—86; second low gross, Mrs. Betty P. Meckley, 47—45—92; first low net, Mrs. Ralph Orr, 92—18—74; second low net, Mrs. M. K. Barroll, 96—16—80; lowest number of putts, Mrs. J. L. Fieser, 30; lowest number of putts on first nine holes, Mrs. J. M. Shock; lowest number of putts on second nine holes, Mrs. H. R. Quinter; lowest gross selected nine holes, Mrs. R. Lester Rose; lowest net selected nine holes, Mrs. J. F. Dowdall; largest number of one-putt greens, Mrs. S. F. Colladay; low gross first nine holes, Mrs. C. K. Osborne; lowest gross second nine holes, Mrs. J. O. Rhyne; low net first nine holes, Mrs. J. F. Gross; low net second nine holes, Mrs. B. R. Luscombe; largest number of pars, Miss Virginia Williams; largest number of birdies, Mrs. L. C. Pray; largest number of putts, Mrs. J. E. McCabe; highest medal, Mrs. Hugh R. Teitman.

17 Basket Ball Games For American Quintet

American University will play seventeen games of basket ball this winter, it was announced yesterday, as the schedule was released, showing a contest with Navy again as the high light of the Eagles' court slate. The Navy game will be played, as usual, in Annapolis on January 20.

Maryland State Normal will help open the Eagles' season in the Massachusetts Avenue Heights gymnasium on December 9. Two nights later Hampden-Sidney will furnish the opposition, after which the Eagles will take a recess until January 7, when they embark on a Virginia tour for three games.

Villanova College has been added to the schedule this year, Coach Walter Young's team being listed to meet the Wildcat tossers on the Villanova floor on February 20. Two dates remain to be filled.

Following is the schedule:

December 9, Maryland State Normal, at home; 11, Hampden-Sidney, at home. January 7, Randolph-Macon, at Ashland, Va.; 8, Virginia Medical College, at Richmond, Va.; 9, Hampden-Sidney, at Hampden Sidney, Va.; 12, Salem College, at home; 14, St. John's of Annapolis, at home; 20, Naval Academy, at Annapolis. February 2, Randolph-Macon, at home; 5, Elon College, at home; 8, St. John's of Annapolis, at Annapolis; 13, Gallaudet, at home; 19, Penn Military College, at Chester, Pa.; 20, Villanova College, at Villanova, Pa.; 26, Virginia Medical College, at home.

ST. MARY'S CHALLENGES.

St. Mary's Lyceum unlimited basket ball team of Alexandria, is seeking games with strong teams in its class. Saks, St. Martin's and the Boys' Club are particularly challenged. Teams interested should call Thomas Lucas at Alexandria 2783 during the day, and Alexandria 1851 between 7 and 8 p. m.

MOHAWK PREPS WIN.

The Mohawk Preps downed the Potomacs by a score of 13-0 in a hard-fought game on the Tidal Basin Field yesterday. The teams are in the 125-pound class. Sasnett, Dasher and Thorn, the latter two accounting for the scores, starred for the winners.

W.-L. THREAT TO OLD LINE HOPES

Generals Gaining in Momentum, Near Top Form Now.

WASHINGTON AND LEE will present a much changed football team in the game with Maryland at College Park tomorrow afternoon over the one that the Old Liners routed last fall. While the Terrapins hope to repeat for the edification of the old grads, who will be back for homecoming day, Maryland sees a real barrier in the capable combination that Coach Jimmy De Hart now has at his command.

There sometimes is as much difference in a football team in October and in November as there is in night and day, and that is just the case with Washington and Lee. De Hart, a disciple of Glenn Warner, came back to Washington and Lee this fall to take the place of Gene Oberst, a follower of the Notre Dame style of play.

Generals Going Strongly Now.

Naturally, De Hart, who had left Washington and Lee five years previous to go to Duke, had to start all over again, and as a result he had some rough going in his early games. However, his efforts finally began to tell, as recent victories over Virginia, Virginia Poly and Princeton will attest. He has developed a high brand of team play and has his men in fine fettle, having made only four substitutions in the last four tilts.

Maryland, too, is ready for the Generals. The Old Liners needed some rough work after a week's layoff and it has been given to them in heavy doses this week by Coach Curley Byrd. In fact, the team had three days of scrimmage, plenty of tackling and blocking and long sessions of running through plays. It did not appear as a hardship to the Terps as they enjoyed the scrimmages, some of the fellows whom Byrd wanted to "nurse along" requesting that they take their share of it.

There are just three men who were in the Washington and Lee starting line-up of last year who are slated to begin tomorrow's game with the Old Liners. They are Bailey, who played tackle last fall but who now holds down that position on defense and full back on offense; Tex Tilson, guard, who shifts to the back field on defense, and Pat Mitchell, who was at full back last November, but who now performs at center.

Several of the others were on the squad a year ago, but four of those who are down to start were members of last year's freshman outfit, the best the Generals have had in many moons.

Maryland probably will start 10 of the 11 men who began the game against Washington and Lee last season, the lone change being at one of the tackle jobs, where Keenan has supplanted Fisher, who was graduated.

The Old Liners had a fairly long, though not strenuous, session yesterday afternoon, getting in some good licks in the art of handling a wet ball.

Gallaudet Opposes Shepherd Tomorrow

A slightly revamped line-up has been prepared by Coach Teddy Hughes for Gallaudet College's final game of the season tomorrow at Kendall Green, when Shepherd College comes down from West Virginia to do battle with the luckless Blues. Play will commence at 2 p. m.

Coach Hughes has named the veteran, Yoder, to hold down the left end position. This will be Yoder's last game in a Gallaudet uniform, as he is slated to graduate in June. In the back field the Blues' mentor has placed Williams at quarter back instead of Hnatow, with Capt. Monaghan at left half back. Monaghan formerly played at left end.

In addition to Yoder, the game will mark the close of the careers of Williams, Hnatow and Monaghan. Gallaudet will be out to chalk up its first victory of a campaign that has witnessed the Blues go to defeat no less than six times.

G. U. Prep Midgets Beat Episcopal, 12-0

Training School Plays Devitt Prep Today

The National Training School football team will play Devitt Prep today at 3:30 p. m., on the former's field, and not tomorrow, as had been previously announced. Coach Ed Crandall's charges are in tip-top shape and expect to win today. With one of the greenest teams in the history of the school, Devitt's work has not been impressive this season. The team from Tilden street has shown marked improvement in the last two weeks, however, and may spring an upset today.

BURROUGHS LEAGUE.

McMillan Park will meet St. Stephen's at 1 p. m., and St. Paul's will clash with Mount Rainier at 3 p. m. at Taft Recreational Center Sunday in the Burroughs 125-pound league. The Colonials are leading the loop with consecutive victories, and the Burroughs team holds the runner-up position with one victory and a tie game to its credit.

CHAMPS IN WORKOUT.

The Centennials will practice tonight at 7:30 o'clock on the New York avenue playground. Manager Joe Khuen requests all players to report promptly in uniform.

COMPANY M BOOKING.

Company M, Fort Washington, basketball team would like to arrange a game with a strong unlimited team to be played in this city tonight, and also a contest to be staged at Fort Washington Sunday. Teams interested are requested to call Lieut. Hammond at Alexandria 1245 before noon today.

1932 Tech Eleven May Use Notre Dame System

THERE is a likely possibility that Tech High will install the Notre Dame system next season, it was intimated last night by Coach Hap Hardell, whose 1931 team brought Tech its fourth consecutive high school championship Tuesday. The final decision will rest on the stature and weight of the back field men next year.

Tech will have three lightweights in the back field next year in Edwards, Foley and Oehman. Gormley, full back for the last two years, will be back and is one of the hardest-driving boys in the history of Tech teams. Brinkman, another bigger than average boy, will be back, but may be shifted to end, Hardell stated.

At present Tech uses the double wing back system of play, leaning strongly in the direction of the Warner system, with plenty of power being needed behind the line. Under the Notre Dame system there would be less tear and wear on Tech's blocking backs, much of their punishment being absorbed by the Tech ends.

Salient characteristics of the Notre Dame line play is the comparatively upright position of the linemen and their general orders to bring down every ball runner. There is more slicing through the line and individual effort, on the defense, than in the Warner ranks.

George Sachs and Steve Hatos, two of Tech's noted driving backs, will matriculate at Maryland University if their present ambitions are completed. Jack Rhodes, stellar guard, may enter Georgetown Prep for a year, and then move on to Georgetown. Jack Baxter, all-high center, may go to St. John's, Annapolis.

The team will continue practicing until next Wednesday, it being an old Techian custom to taper off gradually.

PROVIDENCE TEAM IS HEFTY

SIX-FOOTERS and 200-pounders, thereabouts, likely will play a prominent part in Providence College's stand against Catholic University's football team at Brookland tomorrow. No fewer than 14 squad members, 7 of them ends, top the 72-inch mark, while the tackles and guards, as a unit, average better than 191 pounds.

Though powerfully built, the Providence huskies, who are to line up against "Dutch" Bergman's Cardinals at 2:30 o'clock, are said to be exceptionally alert and fast. Anything but topheavy, they combine driving power with agility and aggressiveness in bowling over opponents.

Burdge Providence Giant.

Towering above a collection of young giants, both in length and bulk, is "Hippo" Burdge, mammoth right tackle, who stands 6 feet 4 inches and scales 212 pounds.

Young Burdge, power-horse of the defense, is considered one of the outstanding linemen of New England, and has figured prominently in the six consecutive triumphs compiled by his eleven. Though a fine tackler, Burdge is best known for his success in driving holes through the right side of the forward wall and is said to have few equals in the use of his hands.

Though flanked by ten second men in Tony Barbarito, half back, and quarter back Johnny Brady, the latter a triple threat, Capt. "Mickey" Foster may be expected to match the ball running brilliance of Tom Whelan when the whistle sounds.

One of the high scoring artists of the East, Foster has been an All-New England selection during the past two seasons and in his capacity of left half back may be expected to turn loose some of his broken field specialties during the course of the game. Also, he is an outstanding punter, being good for from 50 to 60 yards on a majority of his kicks.

Big Soccer Program For District Sunday

Every team in the Capital City Soccer League will see action Sunday, and in one instance an eleven will be in a game of national significance. This is the tilt between British United and Newport News in the third round of the United States Football Association's elimination cup tournament. Ed Kruse will officiate.

Concord was originally scheduled to play here, but as the United game was scheduled for Monument field No. 2 the German kickers will play Marlboro at Marlboro, with Melly Carleton calling the fouls. Rockville will journey to Brandywine and meet the town team there. Harold Bennett will call the fouls. Rosedale, after a two weeks' suspension, has been reinstated and will meet Columbia Heights on the Rosedale grounds. Jack Caldwell will referee.

MERCURYS CHALLENGE.

The Mercury 125-pound football team challenges the Pirates, of Alexandria, for a game to be played Sunday. The wingfeet have won their last five starts, but the Pirates took a fall out of them in their first game and the Southwest team is anxious to get another chance at their conquerors.

SAKS VS. CASEYS.

Saks Clothiers and the Knights of Columbus basket ball teams will tangle tonight at 8 o'clock in the Business High School gymn. The following members of the Casey quint are requested to report at the clubhouse at 7 p. m.: Hickey, Casper, Procter, Ahern, Brennan, Starke, Anderson, Gubisch, Harrington and Smith.

NORTHERNS MEET.

The Northern Athletic Club will meet tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the home of Ted Otte, 5213 Georgia avenue northwest. It is important that all members attend, as urgent business will be discussed. New members are also invited to attend.

GRIFFS IN PRACTICE.

The Griffith-Blue Coal unlimited football team will drill tomorrow night at 7 o'clock on the Virginia Avenue Playground. All players are urged to report promptly, as new signals will be practiced.

COMPANY A IN FIELD.

Company A, Fort Humphreys, is angling for games with strong unlimited basketball teams to be played either at the fort or in Washington. John Dorsey is arranging the soldiers' schedule. He can be reached at Fort Humphreys 335.

FORT TEAMS SCHEDULE.

Company I, Fort Washington, is looking for basket ball games with strong teams. Call Company I, Twelfth Infantry, Fort Washington. Company M, of the same fort, is scheduling unlimited foes also. Call Lieut. Hammond, Alexandria 1245, before noon.

STOP FOUTS SLOGAN OF APACHES

Made Sandlot History With Run to Score on Kick-Off.

ASIDE from winning Sunday's game with the Mohawks, the chief objective of the Apaches will be to stop Leon Fouts. The Apaches, despite the decision of the South Atlantic League's board of arbitration that the Mohawks were within their rights in playing him against Irvington, still look upon the former George Washington University player as a "ringer." Hence they will be out to apply some special brakes to his ball carrying Sunday.

When Fouts ran back the opening kick-off of the second half to a touchdown in the Irvington game, it marked first time the trick has been turned in the "big time" Sunday football ranks, and probably will be remembered in independent gridiron history along with Sullivan's 55-yard placement kick for Mercury and Untz Brewer's 50-yard drop kick from the side of the field for the same club.

Despite the poor showing of the Apaches against the Celtics, there is every reason to believe that Sunday's game will be a typical Apache-Mohawk battle. In their previous meeting, with virtually the same players, these rivals battled to a 7-to-7 tie. The Apaches have always been at their best against the Mohawks, their three victories in recent years coming in games in which they were rated the underdogs.

G. U. ROBBED OF NEEDED PRACTICE

Rain Prevents Drill for Contest With Villanova.

OLD BOY HARD LUCK, who has been rubbing shoulders, or what have you, with Georgetown's football players all season, was right on deck again yesterday simultaneous with the rain, the net result being that Georgetown was deprived of a day of practice almost on the eve of one of its important games. Instead of putting in a hard drill for the Villanova contest, as contemplated, the Hilltoppers were forced to idle, with their own field inundated and the Griffith Stadium little less playable.

A final practice will be held today, barring more ill fortune, and Coach Tommy Mills will lead his men on the invasion of Villanova, Pa., tonight. Because of the nearness to game-time, the Hoyas can not do much today other than practice on signals, punting and passing, the usual eleventh-hour routine when injuries can not be risked.

Georgetown must win tomorrow's clash in order to retain its chance of finishing the season with better than a .500 winning percentage. Thus far the Hilltop record has suffered four defeats and one tie in eight games. A win over Villanova and another at the expense of Detroit, which appears here in the season's finale on November 28, will give the Millsmen a slightly better record than they compiled last year, when they lost five and won five.

NAVAL TEAM BOOKING.

The Naval Hospital Basket Ball Team is scheduling for the impending season and would like to hear from good unlimited squads. Call West 0627 and inquire for Manager Dudley.

STOCK PRICES DROP AFTER EARLY GAINS

Market Is Dull as Sales Decline in Volume; Rails Record Advances.

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—A rise in grain and silver and hopes of a satisfactory outcome to the conference of railroad executives and labor leaders kept stocks on the upgrade during most of today's session, although late selling brought irregularly lower final prices.

Gains of 1 to nearly 2 cents in wheat and corn helped pull the market out of a morning slump which had seen several carrier stocks, including Pennsylvania, Atlantic Coast Line and the Chicago Northwestern, at new lows.

Rails, however, piloted the advance, for shorts did not care to be caught napping in case an important announcement should come from the conference, but net gains of 1 to 3 points were either reduced or canceled in the last fifteen minutes. The general average lost two-tenths of a point; it has closed lower in eight of the last nine trading days.

The market was quiet on the declines, and also on the rally, sales amounting to only 1,511,036 shares.

Dividends Affect Stocks.

Two railroads, Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville & Nashville—the latter is controlled by the former—reduced their dividends, Coast Line stock breaking 7 points on the news, although the general market, hardened to railway adversity, ignored it. Wall street believes the present situation of the carriers has been discounted and prefers to look toward those measures which are being taken to correct it. Filing of the roads' amendment to the Interstate Commerce Commission's rate-pooling proposal was, of course, a move in that direction.

The last-minute back-up in stocks brought fractional net losses to a number of pivotal utility and industrial shares. U. S. Steel, which had been more than a point higher, closed one-half off, while American Telephone closed unchanged. Briggs Mfg. closed a point higher.

American Can, Allied Chemical, Chrysler, General Electric, International Nickel, Kennecott, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Case were off a quarter to slightly more than a point. National Biscuit, Union Carbide, Loew's, United Corporation, Bethlehem Steel, Borden and A. M. Myers, among others, held up more successfully and ended the day higher. There were also small net advances in many rails. Woolworth was conspicuously heavy, off approximately 2 points.

Currency News Hailed.

The pleasant news that currency circulation had decreased $46,000,000 in the week ended November 18 was received thankfully in banking circles, which believe that the psychology of fear which dictated domestic hoarding is on the wane. Although other factors contributed to the circulation decrease witnessed this autumn, it is felt that these unfavorable influences have lost their worst aspects.

The Federal Reserve statements again reflected the much easier position which has followed the stoppage of gold shipments and the halt in circulation expansion. Total outstanding credit dropped $92,000,000. Nevertheless it is still nearly $1,000,000,000 above last year. In some respects the most interesting item was the decline of $150,000,000 in loans "for the account of others," which were automatically reduced by the decision of clearing house banks to handle no more funds of this sort. The remaining $12,000,000 represented unexpired time loans for "others" which are to be allowed to mature.

Dry weather in Kansas and a bullish Argentine weather forecast boosted wheat 1⅞ to 1¾ cents net, while corn was up a cent on a good cash demand and unfavorable weather. Cotton sagged 2 to 5 points.

Foreign exchanges were rather easy, the feature being a drop of 1 cent in the Canadian dollar. The yen and the reichsmark were firm, but sterling and French francs eased.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Cotton was rather irregular today within a narrow range. An early decline was followed by partial recoveries, but bulges were not fully maintained. January contracts, after selling off to 6.25 during the earlier trading, rallied to 6.32 and closed at 6.28, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 2 to 5 points.

The opening was barely steady, 2 to 6 points lower in response to the easier showing of the Liverpool and Alexandria markets, while there may also have been a little selling on the lower opening of the stock market. Offerings were absorbed by covering and trade buying at the decline, but buyers showed very little disposition to follow up bulges, and active positions sold about 7 to 8 points net lower before the end of the morning, with December declining to 6.15 and May to 6.55.

Reports of a steadier turn in the stock market and firmness in the grain brought in a little buying earlier in the afternoon and prices stiffened up a few points.

Rallies in silver were probably a contributing factor, but the buying failed to broaden, and after selling at 6.20 for December, 6.66 for May, the market eased off as if influenced by the irregularity of the late stock market. Closing quotations were 4 or 5 points up from the lowest on most positions.

There was some Southern selling here during the day, but it was in no great volume, and there were reports during the afternoon of a firm spot basis in the South. Brokers thought to be acting for the cooperative interests, were again sellers of March and May during the day, and there was further December liquidation partly in the way of exchanges from December to later months without much change in the differences. Some of the buying on the early afternoon rallies was attributed to covering or local buying for a rally and an idea that the market's technical position had been improved by recent liquidation and trade buying.

Liverpool cables reported hedging and general liquidation, influenced by the weakness in Alexandria, but said there were fair sales of cotton cloths to South America and Africa. Egyptian futures in the Alexandria market were 41 to 100 points lower. Exports today, 36,401, making 2,444,038 so far this season. Port receipts, 40,177. United States port stocks, 4,654,282.

BONDS CLOSE LOWER ON MODERATE SALES

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—The bond market closed generally lower today as trading continued of moderate proportions. Sales on the Stock Exchange totaled $9,424,000.

Some basis for optimism appeared in a late rallying tendency among a number of the more active issues. The movement was not broad enough, however, to cancel any large number of the losses.

Chesapeake & Ohio general 4s, St. Paul 5s of 1975 and of 2000, Chicago & Northwestern 4¾s of 1949, Delaware & Hudson 4s of 1943, Delaware Power & Light 4½s, Erie 5s of 2013, Pennsylvania debenture 4½s of 1970, Shell Pipe Line 5s, and St. Louis-San Francisco 4½s of 1978 benefited from this late rising movement.

The predominance of carrier issues in this group was a reflection of the advance in railroad shares.

The market as a whole, including many of the less active rail loans, declined from fractions to 2 points. A few issues scored wider losses. The average closing price of 60 corporate issues, composed of equal numbers of rail, utility, and industrial loans, was 82.6, a net decline of .4 point.

Liberty and United States Treasury obligations scored varying losses up to ¼ point on aggregate sales of about $500,000.

Strength in German issues featured the foreign group, although trading in many of them was quiet. Such activity as developed in the foreign obligations was concentrated in a very few issues.

Sharp losses in Western Union issues recurred, and they experienced a larger turnover than most other utility loans. Armour 4½s and 5½s closed 4 and 2⅞ points higher, respectively, after a steady demand.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C., Thursday—8 p. m.

Forecast for the District of Columbia—Cloudy, with occasional showers Friday; Saturday rain; continued mild temperature; gentle easterly winds, becoming southeast or south and increasing by Saturday.

The southwestern disturbance has moved slowly eastward, and it now extends from eastern Nebraska southward to the western Gulf of Mexico, Oklahoma City, Okla., 29.62 inches, while the northwestern disturbance has moved east-southeastward over British Columbia to Montana and the adjacent Canadian provinces with increased intensity, Medicine Hat, Alberta, 29.38 inches. These disturbances have caused general rains in the North Pacific States and the northern plateau region, and from Kansas, Missouri and the lower Ohio Valley southward to the Gulf coast. Showers have occurred in portions of the Atlantic States. An area of high pressure of great magnitude is advancing slowly eastward over eastern Canada and the Atlantic States, Anticosti Island, Que., 30.70 inches, and pressure is high and rising from northern Alaska southeastward over Yukon and the District of Mackenzie, Dawson, Yukon, 30.54 inches. The temperature has fallen in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States, the southern Rocky Mountain region and in portions of the plains States, and it has risen in the lake region, the great central valleys, Montana and the Canadian provinces to the northward. The weather continues unseasonably warm over the eastern half of the United States. Augusta, Ga., reporting a maximum temperature of 82 degrees, the highest of record at that place so late in the season.

General forecast for the Atlantic States, the lower lake region, the Ohio Valley and Tennessee—The Southwestern disturbance will move northeastward and it will be attended by general rains, except in southern Florida, during the next two days. Continued mild temperature Friday and in the Atlantic States and the Appalachian region Saturday will be followed by colder weather Saturday afternoon and night in Tennessee, the Ohio Valley and the lower lake region, and the temperature will likely fall during Sunday in the Atlantic States.

River Bulletin.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Three men representing the Film Securities Corporation, a holding company formed to take over from Fox Films Corporation its controlling interest in Loew's, Inc., today were elected to the board of directors of Loew's. The new directors are John E. Searle, Eugene W. Leake and J. R. Hazel. They succeed Leopold Friedman, Daniel E. Pomeroy and H. M. Rice.

Lessing J. Rosenwald, vice chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co., said today that recent published reports that negotiations have been resumed between Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward & Co., looking toward a merger, are without foundation.

The first important offering of railroad securities in some time, a $12,000,000 issue of Cincinnati Union Terminal 5 per cent bonds, was oversubscribed today. The selling price was 97½.

C. W. Davis, president of Borg Warner Corporation, commenting on the final quarter outlook for the company, said "some pickup is taking place as a result of new models being brought out by various automobile companies." He added that present indications are that both November and December will be better months than October, "which, from the point of view of automobile production, hit a low point for some time."

Hungary's Loan Extended.

New York, Nov. 19 (A.P.).—Speyer & Co. and the National City Co. announced today they had arranged for the extension of $5,000,000 in secured treasury bills of the Hungarian government, which would have matured soon. Advices from London said N. M. Rothschild & Sons had granted a three months' extension on their similar accommodation of £1,600,000 to the government of Hungary.

Pershem, Charles O. Cornell, John H. Waters and Frank S. Cahn, as the Reorganization Committee constituted under the Plan and Agreement dated February 11, 1931, for the Reorganization of National Radiator Corporation, Complainants, against National Radiator Corporation, Defendant," in Equity No. 2558, and similar orders entered by courts of other districts wherein are pending causes similarly entitled and ancillary to said cause in the United States District Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania, all creditors of National Radiator Corporation, the defendant in said causes, are hereby required to file duly sworn written statements of their respective claims against said Corporation with the undersigned Receivers appointed by said United States District Court, at their office in Johnstown, Pa., on or before December 31, 1931. Such statements of claims, among other things, shall set forth the nature of the claim, the amount thereof, the amount and nature of any security or lien held by the claimant or to which the claimant is or claims to be entitled, and also any claim to preference or priority in payment to any other creditors of said Corporation. Pursuant to the further provisions of said order, all persons, firms, associations and corporations who shall fail so to file their statements or demands against the defendant corporation with the Receivers, on or before said date, shall be forever barred and foreclosed from making or asserting any claim against National Radiator Corporation and from participating in the assets or property of said Corporation or the proceeds thereof, except upon the further order of the Court herein granted and entered for due cause shown, upon proper application.

Dated: Johnstown, Pa., November 4, 1931.

ROBERT S. WATERS,
WILLIAM G. HEINER,
Receivers

IN THE MUNICIPAL COURT OF THE District of Columbia. Frank R. Jelleff, Incorporated (a body corporate), plaintiff, vs. Jeanette Stenberg, formerly Jeanette Eddy, defendant. No. A. 8155. Order of publication. The object of this suit is to recover the sum of eight hundred thirty dollars and sixty cents ($830.60), with interest from the 5th day of June, 1931, for merchandise sold and delivered by the plaintiff to the defendant, and to have judgment and condemnation of certain property and credits of the defendant levied on under an attachment issued in this suit to satisfy the plaintiff's claim. It is therefore, this 10th day of October, 1931, ordered that the defendant appear in this court on or before the fortieth day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, after the day of the first publication of this order, to defend this suit and show cause why said condemnation should not be had; otherwise the suit will be proceeded with as in case of default. A copy of this order to be published at least once a week for three successive weeks in The Washington Post and the Washington Law Reporter. ROBERT F. MATTINGLY, Justice. A true copy test. (Seal.) IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE District of Columbia. Louis Edward Tierney, plaintiff vs. Viola Sarah Tierney and Charles Ford also known as Bud Ford, and also known as John T. Smith, defendants. No. 53498, Equity Docket. The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for absolute divorce from the defendant, Viola Sarah Tierney because of the alleged adultery between the said defendant, Viola Sarah Tierney and Charles Ford, also known as Bud Ford and also known as John T. Smith, which occurred on, to wit, August 15, 1930, and on, to wit, the 10th day of May, 1931. On motion of the plaintiff, it is this 6th day of November, 1931, ordered that the defendants, Viola Sarah Tierney and Charles Ford also known as Bud Ford and also known as John T. Smith cause their appearance to be entered herein on or before the FORTIETH DAY, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, occurring after the day of the first publication of this order; otherwise the cause will be proceeded with as in case of default. Provided, a copy of this order be published once a week for three successive weeks in the Washington Law Reporter, and The Washington Post before said day. ALFRED A. WHEAT, Justice. A true copy. TRIO ON TRIAL FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER OF TAXICAB DRIVER

Jury Composed of 11 Men, 1 Woman, Deliberated but Two Hours.

TRIAL JUSTICE LETTS CALLED FROM HOME

Sentence of Death Is Mandatory Under Laws of District.

Leonard A. Layton, Charles E Washington and William C. Robinson, all colored, were found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in Criminal Court No 2 last night. They were charged with having shot and killed Mannie Solomon, taxicab driver, while attempting to rob him last July.

The jury was out two hours before the members, 11 men and one woman, could agree upon a vardict. When they finally reached a decision it was necessary to notify Justice Dickinson Letts, trial justice, who had gone to his home.

Polled the Jury.

Justice Letts instructed his court clerk, M. Lee Ashford, to poll the jury as to the degree of guilt found by the jurors. The finding was capable of three constructions, murder in the first degree, manslaughter and not guilty, and the accuracy of the recording of the verdict had an important bearing.

The three defendants were required to stand for 15 minutes as the twelve jurors were polled on the two counts in the indictment. Previous to the case being submitted to the jury, the Government had elected to stand on the first and fifth counts in the indictment.

The first count charged the trio with shooting Solomon and with killing him; the fifth count charged that Robinson had shot Solomon while the three were committing an offense for which a sentence in the penitentiary was possible.

Sentence Automatic.

The death sentence is automatic under the decision of the jury. Four clear court days must elapse before the three can be technically sentenced to electrocution by the judge. In the meantime, attorneys for the men have announced that they would file motions for a new trial.

Solomon was shot and killed at the corner of Union and O streets southwest. His body was found slumped over the wheel of his automobile a few minutes after the time of the affair, and fingerprints found on the right rear door of the car led to the detection of the culprits.

The prosecution, conducted by John J. Sirica, for the Government, showed to the jury pictures taken by police photographers of Solomon's body before he was removed from the cab. Defense attorneys fought vigorously to keep these exhibits from the jury, contending they would have a tendency to incite prejudice. Justice Letts ruled that they were admissable.

The Government charged that the colored men shot Solomon when he resisted their attempts to rob him. Witnesses showed that the cab had been hired at Ninth street and New York avenue northwest, and the driver had been instructed to drive to a place in the southwest.

Capital Inventor Sued for $550,000

Radio Corporation Asks Sum of C. F. Jenkins, Television Expert.

A suit for $550,000 damages was filed in the District Supreme Court against Charles Francis Jenkins, noted inventor of radio and television appliances, of 5502 Sixteenth street northwest, yesterday by the Radio Service Corporation of New York City.

Jenkins, and the company he formed to hold his radio and television patents, the Jenkins Laboratories, Inc., were charged in the suit with having failed to fully comply with an agreement made with the corporation to market Jenkins' inventions.

Through this arrangement Jenkins was put in touch with Arthur D. Lord, a New York attorney, who in turn introduced Jenkins to a group of New York capitalists, James W. Garside, Wiley H. Reynolds and Dr. Lee Deforrest, who formed a company and took over the patents, the bill sets forth.

This new company was known as the Jenkins Television Corporation. The Radio Service Corporation claims that it was entitled to a 20 per cent commission on an estimated sale price of $2,275,000. Attorneys Robert H. McNeill and Mae Helm filed the complaint for the service corporation.

Boys Club Contributes To Rockne Memorial

Only Charles A. Lindbergh outranked the late Knute Rockne in popularity with local boys, according to Charles M. Fyfe, director of the Boys Club of Washington.

So they are all contributing a cent each to the Knute Rockne Memorial Fund. Members of the Georgetown Boys Club, Noel House Boys Club and the Merrick Boys Club have joined with them. When enough pennies have been contributed, a Rockne Memorial Field House will be erected on the campus of Notre Dame University. The memorial campaign for funds is Nation-wide.

Training School Head Will Talk on Problem

Col. Claude D. Jones, superintendent of the National Training School for Boys, will give an address on "The Problem Parent and the Problem Child," tonight at the Macfarland Community Center, Iowa avenue and Webster street northwest, at 7:30 o'clock.

The subject was selected for community consideration because of the interest occasioned by the Edith Riley case.

Child Sobs Over Phone; Operator Calls Police

The lamp cap under the "jack" for 5250 on the Georgia exchange signaled steadily last night. The operator plugged in repeatedly but could only hear a high childish treble which broke in racking sobs.

Disturbed, she traced the address, 7007 Ninth street northwest, through the telephone number and then called the Thirteenth Precinct, advising immediate action.

Private G. W. Browning scurried to the rescue. As he turned into the walk he met Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schulman about to do the same thing. He explained his mission. The three ran into the house to find little Beverly Schulman, 4 years old, in tears. She explained that she became very lonesome when her mother and father went to mail some letters and lay in a supply of groceries, so she decided to call her "Daddy" at the store as she often did during the daytime. With the return of "Momma" and "Daddy" the tears quickly dried.

GLASSFORD PLANS STRICTER POLICY ON MOTOR VIOLATIONS

New Police Chief Believes Pink-Ticket System Is Being Abused.

A much stricter policy with regard to traffic violations will soon go into force, Brig. Gen. Glassford, chief of police, indicated yesterday as the first major move of his new office.

The disposition of many normally law-abiding citizens to disregard the pink tickets given for most infractions of traffic rules will be the first objective of the city's new police head. Probable elimination of the pink ticket system and substitution therefor of more rigid and comprehensive means of enforcing the regulations was indicated.

In his four days of holding office, Gen. Glassford has been engaged in a busy round of conferences and tours of inspection with various officials of the department. A number of conferences have been with officials of the Traffic Bureau, including Director William A. Van Duzer and Inspector E. W. Brown, and from them have arisen a number of plans believed capable of putting the new policy through.

Believes Much Time Lost.

Much valuable time is wasted now by policemen in obtaining and serving warrants on delinquent pink ticket recipients and still more time is lost in court, the general believes. Large numbers of ticket recipients never reach the prosecution stage purely because of their number and a prime offensive of the new policy will be to cut the number down.

The triplicate ticket system once before announced but never put into effect is expected by Gen. Glassford to be adopted. This will cut out the practice of "tearing up" tickets, he believes, and will engender greater respect for traffic regulations, thus furnishing more time for policemen to engage in enforcement of other regulations and laws.

With regard to the other important branches of the Police Department, Gen. Glassford has formed no plans.

Will War on Panhandlers.

"I believe the Detective Bureau is one of the most important branches of the department. It might be called the backbone of the department," he said, "and I have conferred at length with Inspector Burke, its chief, who has given me many valuable pointers. I am sure we will be able to work together smoothly."

A prospect that many persons of the criminal type will be attracted to the city during the bicentennial celebration next year has been seriously considered by the new chief of police and he said yesterday that this outlook has formed the subject of several conferences with police officials.

Police cooperation in eliminating panhandlers from Washington streets was promised yesterday to a committee representing the Salvation Army, the Gospel Mission and the Central Union Mission. An official of the department will be designated to confer with the welfare workers and map out a plan to rid the city of professional beggars, Gen. Glassford said.

Representative's Desk Is Looted of Jewelry

Theft of $250 worth of jewelry from the drawer of a desk in the office of Representative Seiberling, of Ohio, was reported to police yesterday, by Rose Anna Delameter, secretary to the Ohio member.

The robbery occurred some time during the day while she was out of the office, the secretary said, and the jewelry was all her personal property.

Santa Claus Lane Committee Named.

A program committee for the Santa Claus lane celebration on Fourteenth street northwest was appointed yesterday by the Central Business Men's Association at its weekly luncheon at the Logan Hotel. The committee will plan a series of prize contests.

Skyviews of Washington, No. 20

Fairchild Aerial Surveys, Inc.

WHERE old Georgetown merges with modern Burleith, in one of the most rapidly developing Northwest communities.

In the lower foreground is Western High School, dressed up with its new addition, extending west off Reservoir road to Thirty-sixth street northwest. Here Dr. Elmer S. Newton, principal of Western, has spared the rod without spoiling the child for over sixteen years.

The white strip of ground in the upper right-hand corner is the athletic field located two blocks from the school, where Western's grid squad is in training for its final game of the season today with Washington-Lee High School at Ballston, Va.

Reservoir road runs at right angles across the picture. The lawn in the foreground below it is part of the recreation grounds of the Georgetown Visitation Convent. The five-story brick structure on the hill above Western, where Thirty-sixth street intersects Reservoir road, is the House of the Good Shepherd. Burleith extends to the north of the school.

CONTRACTOR HELD IN DEATH OF BABY

Coroner's Jury Blames Poor Gas Fittings for Asphyxiation of Child.

A coroner's jury yesterday ordered held for grand jury action a plumbing contractor, Charles Broome, of 614 F street northeast, in connection with the death of a baby believed to have been caused by fumes from a gas water heater. The baby, Frances Daniels, daughter of Harold and Eva Daniels, 1016 Seventeenth place northeast, died Monday.

A singular coincidence was faced by the jury in that another case coming befcre it was the death of Daniel J. Curtin, 27 years old, who was found to have accidentally fractured his skull in a fall to the sidewalk Sunday afternoon as he alighted from an automobile. Curtin, an employe of Broome, the contractor held, installed the heater at the Daniels home.

Inspector Gives Testimony.

Testimony of Samuel Tapp, District plumbing inspector, is believed to have caused the jury to hold Broome. Tapp said that the heater at the Daniels home had not been connected in such a way as to provide an outlet for monoxide gas created by it. He said that a small pipe is usually rigged to such a heater leading to an outlet. The one at the Daniels home was fitted with a small pipe which led to a terra cotta chimney lining, Tapp said, which formed no outlet.

The plumbing at the Daniels home was examined, Tapp said, after completion of the installation, but the only way the lack of a monoxide gas outlet could have been ascertained would have been to actually remove all the pipes.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniels said that the baby had been taken sick on recurring Mondays for some time back. As Monday was "wash day" in the Daniels household, the fact of the baby's frequent illness on this day was noted, but not connected with the gas heater on which Mrs. Daniels prepared hot water for her laundry work. On last Monday the child became ill and finally lapsed into unconsciousness. It was taken to Sibley Hospital, where a staff physician pronounced the child dead.

Fracture Laid to Fall.

In the Curtin case witnesses convinced the jury that the fractured skull from which he died was sustained when he either tripped or in some other way fell when he was getting out of an automobile Sunday afternoon on Seventh street southwest near F street after returning from a football game at Griffith Stadium.

Previously several accounts had come to official ears of the manner of Curtin's injury and this had led Coroner Rogers to call an inquest in the case. Curtain died Tuesday at Casualty Hospital. He was first treated Sunday evening, but left the hospital and became ill again Monday night while at the apartment of Miss Annie O'Connor, 635 K street northeast, whence he was conveyed to the hospital in the institution's ambulance.

The jury also handed in a verdict of accidental death in the case of James Sheely, 22-year-old steel worker, who plunged four stories and was fatally injured while working on the extension building of the Agriculture Department at Linworth and C streets southwest on Tuesday. Sheely died in Emergency Hcspital less than an hour after the accident, which was witnessed by several fellow workers, who told of the man losing his balance as he worked in the rigging on the roof of the building.

Uncle Sam Takes $1,800 From Dead Letter Auction

600 Bargain Hunters Bid for Heterogeneous Assortment of Articles in Misdirected Parcels; Humorous Aspects of Unusual Sale on Radio.

Uncle Sam turned auctioneer yesterday long enough to knock down $1,800 worth of hairpins, oil cans, nut crackers and hair tonic, not to speak of kitchen ranges, garters, wrist watches and fraternity pins, to the highest bidder, for what they would bring.

The occasion was the Postoffice Department's semiannual dead letter office sale. More than 600 bargain hunters, mostly women, filled every chair in the Boys' Club gymnasium, while Charles Kracke and Christopher Zepp, of the Postoffice Department, wielded the auctioneer's hammer.

Pointing a moral to careless mailers, the ballyhoo of the auctioneers and the bids of the public were broadcast over the Columbia System from 12:15 to 12:30.

Alternating on every 100 lots, Auctioneers Kracke and Zepp rang up a record of two bargains a minute, knocking down goods lots at the rate of one every 33 seconds.

"One dime."

"Fifteen cents."

"Two bits."

"Sold, for 27 cents, to the lady with the green hat."

Laughter frequently rippled through the hallway as the auctioneers interspersed humor with business. And there were many humorous incidents. For five times in succession a man was high bidder on lots of infant wear, although women far outnumbered those of the opposite sex.

Most unusual among the goods auctioned off probably was a set of three Graf Zeppelin stamps, issued by the Postoffice Department for use on Zeppelin mail, but actually used on ordinary letters, which were returned to the dead letter office when the New England woman to whom they were addressed could not be located.

Other items included neckties, masquerade suits, graphophone records, artificial flowers, automobile tires, hair removers, books on many subjects, hair wavers, leaf tobacco, wrist watches, damaged cigars, beads and coins.

The sales usually net about $2,000. Dead letter receipts for this year, however, have dropped about 29 per cent, due, the department believes, to a campaign of instruction to mailers on how to wrap parcels, and a similar campaign among postal employes on how to handle them after they are wrapped.

Boy Injured as Scooter Runs Into Mail Truck

The boy scooted from an alley on Thirty-eighth street northwest between W and Beecher streets and crashed into the side of the truck, proceeding south on Thirty-eighth street. The truck was operated by Emanuel Lubman, 24 years old, of 1023 Sixth street southwest.

Wife Finds Cab Driver Dead From Gas Fumes

The body of Hillary E. Carey, 28 years old, a taxi driver, was found by his wife yesterday morning in a gas-filled room at their home, 1672 West Virginia avenue northeast. She found the body when she returned to the house after a visit with relatives.

Police said the man closed all the windows and doors, opened every jet on a gas stove and then seated himself to await death. The wife, Mrs Lillian Carey, told police the man had been despondent because of ill health. A certificate of death by suicide was issued in the case.

COMMISSION GETS PARKING BAN BUCK

District Heads Cite Lack of Immediate Solution to Problem.

The District Commissioners passed the parking problem back to the Fine Arts Commission and the George Washington Bicentennial Commission in a letter sent yesterday to William Tyler Page, executive secretary of the latter body. The communication was an answer to the criticism by the arts group of local parking conditions.

Explaining frankly that they did not see any immediate solution to the problem, the Commissioners said they would be glad to consider any specific suggestions for making more room on the streets for the tourists who are expected to flood Washington in 1932.

The letter also pointed out that the Commissioners are without jurisdiction in much of the teritory specified by the arts commission. Lieut. Col. U. S Grant 3d, director of public buildings and public parks, has already started clearing the public parks for the visitors.

Cites Lack of Garages.

"There are aproximately 100,000 motor vehicles in the District of Columbia, and it is practically certain that there have not been sufficient garages provided to take care of these automobiles either during business hours or during the time of day when many of them are parked on the public highways," the letter stated.

"The problem is a vexing one and at the present time the Commissioners can not suggest any proper solution to it. There is no doubt that the appearance of the city during the bicentennial year would be improved if the streets were kept clear for moving traffic and not used for the storage of automobiles.

Prohibitive Clause.

The practical consideration is that to prohibit the use of the highways for parking cars would result in the prohibition of the use of these cars for business and pleasure purposes to a large extent.

"If your committee has any suggestion as to the regulation of parking of automobiles on public highways under the jurisdiction of the Commissioners during the bicentennial year, the Commissioners will be pleased to have you designate any specific locality which your commission would desire to be kept clear of automobiles, and consideration will be given to any suggestion along this line."

Lower Pay Scale Paid, Say Painters

Affidavits have been filed with the Treasury Department by painters who claim that the Alliance Construction Co., of New York City, failed to pay the "prevailing wage" scale, as required by a decision of the Secretary of Labor.

The company, which recently completed the painting job on the Internal Revenue Building filed a claim for an additional $8,000, claiming it was required to pay $11 a day to painters, and that they had not considered the higher wage in the bid.

Five painters filed affidavits to the effect that they had been paid sums, ranging from $6.50 to $9 a day during their work on the building.

Business Men's Federation Asks Flat Zone Taxi Rate

A flat zone rate for taxicabs instead of the meter system was advocated in a resolution adopted last night by the Federation of District Business Men's Associations for the reason that reestablishment of meters would increase unemployment and have a detrimental effect on business.

The federation took this action after Leon Brill, of the Bell Cab Co., asserted that if the meters are introduced again more than 3,000 persons will be put out of work. He predicted that the meter rate will eliminate 50 per cent of the present taxicab riding public. Rates recommended by the federation were 25, 50 and 75 cents.

Mr. Brill denied that drivers working for cab companies are not able to make a living. Public utilities have every right to make money, he said, but should not be allowed to do so at the expense of other interests. A constitution and by-laws was adopted by the federation. The organization is made up of representatives of twelve associations. The meeting was held at the Logan Hotel.

Hains Point Light Test Will Be Made Tonight

A beam of light, of 300,000,000 candlepower, will be used at Hains Point at 8 o'clock tonight by the committee selecting the memorial light to Thomas Edison. The tests will be attended by the District of Columbia Edison National Memorial Committee.

If weather conditions permit, the searchlight used tonight in the tests will be visible within a radius of 75 miles of the District. Although the beam used tonight will be swung through several positions for technical reasons, the Edison Memorial Beam will point eternally to the heavens.

Further tests will be made in December with searchlights, varying from 1,000,000 to 800,000,000 candlepower in intensity. If weather halts the tests tonight, they will be conducted tomorrow night.

EDUCATION BOARD TO AID WELFARES IN FEEDING NEEDY

Superintendent Ballou Asks for List of Children Who Need Help.

Public schools will cooperate with the Washington Council of Social Agencies in a concerted effort to render aid this winter to all needy pupils and their families.

First steps toward reaching the impoverished children and families were taken yesterday by Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou when he sent a request to all administrative officers in the school system to obtain the names of all pupils who need assistance.

This information will be transmitted to the Washington Council of Social Agencies. The council is establishing a program to meet the needs of both children and adults in the families.

New Cooperative Plan.

This new plan of cooperation between the schools and the council will take the place of the central fund which was operated by the school system last year. However, Parent-Teacher Associations will continue to supply milk and cracker lunches in the separate schools.

School officials decided upon this plan to aid the victims of unemployment and financial distress after a series of conferences with the Washington Council of Social Agencies. The conclusion was reached that a more constructive piece of work could be performed by the schools through bringing to the attention of relief organizations the cases of need in the homes.

Praises Organization.

High praise is given by Dr. Ballou to "the very effective piece of work" conducted last year by teachers and the parent-teacher organizations. The superintendent reminds the school officers that relief work now being carried on must not be discontinued until the appropriate agency has taken over the cases. "During the transition period, full cooperation and mutual understanding are necessary," the superintendent said.

Information to be sought from needy pupils by the teachers embraces: The full name of the parents; correct address of the parents; indication of the race of the pupil and religion of the family.

Information on religion is necessary so that the cases may be referred to the proper agency, Dr. Ballou pointed out.

Slater-Langston School Hears Health Program

Dr. Roscoe C. Brown, of the United States Public Health Service, addressed a meeting of parents and teachers last night at the Slater-Langston School on expansion of the public health program as set forth under auspices of the committee in charge of the annual National Negro Health Week.

Reports on social service work and juvenile delinquency were made by Mrs. N. E. Early and Mrs. Nellie Walker. Other speakers were Miss Laura G. Arnold, principal, and Mrs. Julia West Hamilton, president of the association. An instrumental solo was rendered by Miss Jeannette Williamson.

Woman, 50, Is Injured When Struck by Truck

Mrs. Emma Faunce, 50 years old, of 813 F street southwest, was injured yesterday morning when knocked down by a truck at F and Seventh streets southwest.

Mrs. Faunce suffered possible fractures of the wrist, ankle and ribs. Police said the truck was driven by Raymond Tyler, 21 years old, colored, of 1407 Third street northwest.

Firemen Sustain Sprained Ankle.

Leaping from his truck, preparatory to laying a hose, Stewart Ritnour, 24 years old, District fireman, suffered a sprained ankle last night. He was treated at Emergency Hospital. The blaze was a trash fire in the rear of 1030 Seventeenth street northwest and the damage was slight.

PARK COMMISSION APPROVES BILL ON HANDLING STREETS

BODY PASSES PLANS FOR ANALOSTAN ISLAND

Proposed legislation to be presented in the coming session of Congress to permit the National Capital Park and Planning Commission to order the closing of streets in Washington on its own authority was approved by the commission yesterday.

At present it is necessary for Congress to pass individual acts relating to specific streets whenever it is felt desirable to remove any thoroughfare from traffic service, and the proposed bill would eliminate the red tape and facilitate the functioning of the planning commission.

Another proposed measure that would widen the powers of the commission, which also met with approval yesterday, is one to permit various governmental departments to transfer property among each other without the necessity for specific acts of Congress in each instance, as now is required. This measure the commission decided to pass on to the District Commissioners for their approval.

Analostan Island Bill.

A bill which would permit informal treatment of Analostan Island in development of the proposed Roosevelt Memorial, and permitting also the construction of suitable means of public access to the island as recommended by the commission, also was approved.

This is in sequel to the recent deal whereby the Roosevelt Memorial Association recently acquired the island by purchase from the Washington Gas Light Co. to be used as a site for a memorial to the late President. Thus far the association has developed no definite plans regarding the form its memorial is to take, but whatever memorial is constructed must be in conformity with the ideas of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, and the proposed measure would give the commission power to put its ideas into practice after a design is approved.

After consideraton of the proposed bill providing for cleaning up the city's alleys, the commission decided to pass the measure on to the District coordinating committee for further study before making any definite recommendations for its passage.

Harvard Street Plan.

Another measure providing for straightening of Harvard street northwest was referred to the District Commissioners for study regarding the expense of taking the kinks out of the thoroughfare where it crosses Fourteenth street and at other points.

When the question of approval of the Lee boulevard bill, providing for completion of that thoroughfare was brought up for consideration, the commission took the stand that although the boulevard properly is included in the commission's regional development plan, that particular project is essentially a matter for the concern of the State of Virginia and the Virginia Highways Commission, and the National Capital Park and Planning Commission therefore cannot assume the responsibility for indorsing the measure before Congress.

Complete indorsement was expressed of plans which were outlined to the commission by representatives of the Virginia Highway Commission for completion of the Mount Vernon-Woodlawn highway to connect with the Jefferson Davis highway, and the planners expressed earnest hopes that the project may be carried forward without delay.

Road Move Spiked.

An attempt by the War Department to rid itself of responsibility for the military road from Rosslyn to the Army reservation and from Rosslyn on the east side of Arlington National Cemetery to connect with the Alexandria highway, at Highway Bridge, was spiked when the commission took the stand that the War Department should continue to maintain and police the road. The body agreed to give the matter further study however.

Opposition to proposed wings to augment the new National Museum was expressed when it was found that present plans call for additions which would project out over the building line.

The commission also held that the central heating plant to be located on D street near the Agriculture Department should be set back 45 feet from the location shown on present plans which would bring the building out to the street line. It was also held that the present proposed height of 135 feet planned for the building would conflict with present zoning restrictions for that area which limit building heights to 90 feet.

Driver Held After Car Strikes Boy

Samuel Gordon, 10, Is in Critical Condition in Hospital.

A boy was seriously injured and the driver of the automobile which struck him was arrested last night in a traffic accident on Minnesota avenue northeast near Hunt place.

Samuel Gordon, 10 years old, of 4001 Gault place northeast, was taken to Casualty Hospital with a fractured skull. His condition was said to be critical at an early hour this morning.

The accident happened as the boy was running across Minnesota avenue about 100 yards north of the Hunt place intersection. He was struck by an automobile driven by Robert Waller, 27 years old, colored, of 1115 Forty-ninth street northeast. The child was removed to the hospital by George Segal, of 3701 Thirteenth street northwest. Waller was booked at the Eleventh Precinct on a charge of driving with bad brakes and was held on a charge of investigation pending the outcome of the boy's injuries.

Driver Taken 100 Miles Away In Capital Hammer Assault

After driving a ponderous three-ton truck over the entire 100-mile stretch between here and Richmond, Va., without interference, despite a police lookout for the vehicle and its driver, Arthur Manley, 45 years old, was arrested in the Virginia capital yesterday for Washington police action, in connection with an assault on a fellow employe of the Allen Transfer Co. here with a machinist's hammer.

John F. Parker, 44 years old, 514 E street northwest, was said to be improving at Emergency Hospital, despite a fractured skull caused by the blow struck him. Manley was said, in advices from Richmond, to have admitted dealing the blow.

The assault took place at the site of the excavation for the new Department of Justice Building on Wednesday. Witnesses said that Manley came up from behind and brought the hammer down with crushing force on Parker's head. Parker was able to tell police little about the affair, beyond saying that he did not know Manley well. Manley is said to have come from Richmond.
